Fear Of Disaster In Garden Grove Area Results In Flood Project War

Bone of Contention In Flood Protection Dispute

SEE LACK OF PROTECTION

Fear of ravishing flood disaster that is centered in the Garden Grove area, today had precipitated one of the hottest controversies over flood protection since the start of the county's $500,000 Santa Ana river levee project.

The grave differences, which at any time threaten to break into heated arguments, lie between Orange county officials and officials of the Garden Grove protection district. And the reason is, according to the latter, that their request to the state and county flood control engineers for additional protection for their area has been rejected.

"Banks Imperiled"

"All the west-bank levees of the Santa Ana river are imperiled in the event of the flood, and all the $500,000 being expended by the state and county for protection work will be lost through neglect of a small but vital strip in the Garden Grove group; they are as the Garden Grove officials.

"There are no funds available for the work that is asked by the Garden Grove group; ;they are as well protected with their own levees as the areas in which the new levees are placed," contend some county officials.

"Weakest Link"

"The once strongest link in the chain of protecting dikes will become the weakest at one of the most hazardous points in the river's course through the county," counter the Garden Grove men.

According to Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson "the Garden Grove district between the Olive bridge and the Southern Pacific tracks is as well protected as any other portion of the river levees. If we have been unable to do the work they requested it was not through any desire to slight the area but simply a matter of lack of funds."

Sees Great Danger

Said Byron Curry and Lawrence W. (Cy) Eaton, ranchers in the protection district: "It seems the height of folly to spend $500,000 for flood protection and leave one of the most dangerous points in the dikes in worse condition than the dikes on either side of it."

Recently the officials of the protection district requested of the board of supervisors to take a tour of inspection of the river levee and at that time Supervisors Harry Riley and Willis Warner told the assembled group that the additional fencing requested by the district would be placed as soon as money was available.

Tells of Program

In presenting his side of the situation Thompson said: "The state law definitely states that all work done on this contract must be replacing of protective measures that were washed out in the 1938 flood. In determining where the fencing protection should be placed, the county and state flood control engineers covered both sides of the river and determined where the work should be done and what could be done with the money that was available. In no instance did we replace or do extra work on those portions of the levee that held up during the flood.

"We have built our protection to withstand a flood of 17,000 second feet of water. The March flood brought 100,000 second feet and if it is duplicated again neither the Garden Grove protection district or any of the work we have done will stop the water."

Hits at "Penalty"

Speaking for the protection district Eaton said: Because we have been willing to bear the expense of protecting the river for the past 30 years and some of our protective measures withstood the flood, we are being penalized. The fact that we thought long ago about the area on the west side of the river below the Olive bridge and constructed special protective works is evidence of the menace that threatens the locality. Now, both above and below and in the middle of the section, the engineers have left the protection up to us and as taxpayers of the county, we feel that we are entitled to whatever protection is afforded any other section of the levees."

Plan Construction Of Carbon Reservoir

Not only is the entire Orange County Flood Control project going ahead as planned, but a revisal of contract cost figures has opened the way toward addition of one or more reservoir projects stricken from the original plans, The Register learned today.

Carbon Canyon flood control basin is one of the deleted projects which may be included in the final $13,000,000 job, the United States Engineer office said.

The Carbon Canyon unit had been stricken from the project when preliminary estimates for the eight flood control basins in the general plan exceeded the funds authorized by congress for construction of reservoirs and related flood control works, Capt. G. K. Withers of the Engineers' corps explained.

Await Action

Final plans and construction of the items other than Prado dam and basin are awaiting appropriations by congress, Capt. Withers said.

The Brea canyon, together with Prado, Fullerton and San Juan works, have been approved as parts of the adopted project in accordance with provisions of the flood controy act of 1936.

"The Carbon project," Capt. Withers said, "was not included in the adopted project. Preliminary estimates for the eight flood control basins in the general plans of the Orange County Flood Control District exceeded the $13,000,000 authorized by congress for construction of reservoirs and related flood control works for the protection of metropolitan areas in Orange County, California.

Costs Lower

"For this reason several of the reservoirs, among them Carbon, were not included in the definite project.

"It now appears that the contract costs will be lower than the preliminary estimates, which may make it possible to add other items to the adopted project after the final costs are known."

No technical difficulties or complications with the county have arisen which might cause the abandonment of any of the projects, Capt. Withers said.

County Flood Control Engineer N. M. Thompson supported Capt. Withers' statement with the declaration that the "entire project is going through as planned; there has been no reason for abandonment of any part of the works."

Labor War Closes Mill

WESTWOOD, Cal., Feb. 9. —(UP)—Westwood's labor war between AFL and CIO employes of the huge Red River Lumber Company became a siege today as the two factions indefinitely continued their truce in a dispute over calling of a preference election.

The mill, one of the west's biggest lumber plants and the heart of the town's income, was empty, but no pickets patrolled the gates.

Mercury Falls

The streets were deserted as the town slept late and stayed in during the bitter cold of sub-zero weather. It was 15 below last night, and four below today.

The two factions lined themselves on opposite sides of the National Labor Relations Board's offer to call an election within 60 days to determine the collective bargaining agent for the mill.

The CIO agreed to an election any time after 60 days, but the AFL workers voted to "hang 'er tough" and stop work until an "immediate" election is called.

"Finish Fight"

"Hang 'er tough" in lumber parlance means a fight to the finish —in this instance over whether the AFL or the Congress of Industrial Organizations shall represent workers in a company-owned

SOLON RAPS FDR "PURGE"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP) —Sen. Carter Glass, D., Va., today charged President Roosevelt with projecting the "purge" of conservative Democrats into the 1940 election campaign.

With that public accusation th rapidly developing battle for control of the Democratic party and power to designate the 1940 Presidential candidate became acutely alarming to some highly placed party men. The uproar may reach the Senate when it meets at noon. Pending also was critical discussion of Roosevelt foreign policy.

Blames Purge

Glass shot at the White House a statement that Virginia senators' recommendations for judicial appointment "have been rejected by the appointive power merely through a desire to 'purge' the junior senator next year and the senior senator of Virginia later should he live longer than the intriguers hope."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., with whom Glass consulted before issuing his statement, comes up for re-election in 1940. Glass' term expires in 1943. He is 81 years old, a fiery veteran of the political and journalistic wars.

"I do not give a tinkers dam about patronage," Glass said.

But the dispute is shot with politics on both sides and Washington is excitedly aware of it. Byrd was expected to make his own statement today.

Public Protest

An an indication of the party rift, it was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt invited Glass to be secretary of the treasury in his first administration; and long before he was nominated favored Byrd to succeed John J. Raskob as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Glass protested publicly against Mr. Roosevelt's nomination to a federal district court in Virginia of Floyd H. Roberts who was rejected this week by a Senate vote of 72 to 9. Coincident with Glass' statement another Presidential nominee, Thomas R. Amlie, former Progressive congressman from Wisconsin, was excused by a Senate sub-committee which will judge his fitness to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BRITISH FREIGHTER LOST; FEAR 38 DEAD

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Rescue ships cruised back and forth over the last known position of the British freighter Maria de Larrinaga today without finding a trace of the vessel which radioed yesterday afternoon that it was sinking in the stormy Atlantic, 1100 miles east of Boston.

It was feared that the 4988 ton freighter, bound from Houston, Tex., to Cobh, Ireland, had gone to the bottom with Capt. T. G. Coghlan of Liverpool and his crew of 37 British seamen.

Nazi Ship Sinks

Shortly after the Holland-American Liner Veendam and the S. S. Scanmail of the American Scantic line messaged they had reached the Larrinaga's position, the British coast guard reported that another ship, the German Steamer Gluechkhauf, had gone down. Its crew was rescued by a Norwegian steamer.

The Glueckhauf sank off the mouth of the Humber river, near the English coast, after hitting the submerged wreck of the Greek steamer Katani Bulgari. The Katani Bulgari sank after colliding with the American Freighter Meanticut, out of New Orleans, which rescued the crew.

The last SOS message from the Larrinaga, reported by Radiomarine, was sent at 9:25 p. m. yesterday, nad it was feared that the freighter, its seams burst by the pounding sea, had gone down.

CHARGES INSURANCE CO. BALLOTS FORGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP) —Earl Steele, a Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. agent, told the federal monopoly investigating committee today that ballots in the company's directorate elections were forged "practically under the assistant manager's nose."

Steele testified in the committee's inquiry into the $110,000,000,000 insurance business. He was called specifically to aid determination of the extent to which mutuality is preserved in the $4,972,000,000 Metropolitan company's elections and managerial policies. His testimony followed assertions by two other Metropolitan agents yesterday that names of policyholders were forged to ballots in the company's biennial elections.

Didn't Care to Vote

Steele said that when he was instructed to obtain signatures on ballots he sought large policyholders, feeling that they would be more interested than minor policyholders in the elections.

He said he was wrong in that assumption, adding that "most of the people I approached didn't know the men who were running" as directors and didn't want to vote for someone they didn't know.

At the suggestion of John Lord O'Brian, counsel for Metropolitan, Acting Committee Chairman Hatton W. Sumners, D., Texas, asked Steele if he could name the assistant managers who were aware that names of policy holders were being forged. Steele replied that he felt that all the assistant managers knew what was going on because all once had been agents.

Will Deny Charge

O'Brien said that he was ready to produce Edward Cherman, an assistant manager who a witness testified yesterday knew of the forgeries, to deny the charge. Sumners said he would be heard later.

Steele said that the agents considered distribution of the ballots to policyholders as "something to do and get it out of the way.

"They didn't see any harm in it," he said of the asserted forgeries, adding they were a "time saver."

ENTIRE NATION IN GRIP OF ICY BLAST

By United Press

A cold wage accompanied by temperatures ranging from near freezing to as low as 30 degrees below zero extended from the Pacific coast to flood stricken areas in the lower Ohio Valley today and was advancing steadily toward Atlantic states.

The cold was accompanied by a storm of considerable intensity over western plateau states. Shifting winds backtracked from the storm into California and zigzagged over the Great Lakes and south as far as Alabama.

Snow fell at Los Angeles and Hollywood for the first time in seven years; rain fell from the southern Rockies to Northern Florida; a line of sub-zero temperatures cut an icy swath from Montana southeastward into the middlewest; and heavy snows blanketed Northern California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The cold virtually ended possibilities of serious floods at present in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. The Ohio river was leveling off above Louisville, Ky., and was expected to begin receding throughout the entire valley next weekend. Red Cross officials said the cold would bring no additional hardship to flood refugees. They said that of an estimated 40,000 homeless, all had shelter of some kind, the majority with relatives or friends.

Forecaster H. A. Downs at Chicago said the cold extended into northern Texas and that it would move eastward over the deep south. He predicted additional snow for the north central and western states Friday and colder weather, possibly rain, in eastern states tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures in the New York metropolitan area hovered slightly above the freezing mark today.

In North Dakota, Garrison, Devils Lake and Lemmon reported readings of 28 degrees below zero. Sub-zero temperatures extended as far south as Ellis, Kan.

LOYALIST LEADER RETURNS TO SPAIN; PLANS TO CONTINUE WAR

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Premier Juan Negrin of Republican Spain left Le Perthus today for Fort Bou, apparently headed for Valencia to continue the civil war in Central Spain.

His departure was preceded by a morning-long study of army reports and maps with Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez Del Vayo and Gen. Vicente Rojo, Catalonian chief of staff. He also telephoned to Paris, where President Manuel Azana was in conference with Republican chiefs.

Heads For Spain

Negrin left by automobile. He was accompanied only by a few secretaries and an army truck loaded with trunks containing the government records and his personal belongings.

It was expected that Negrin would fly to Valencia from Port Bou if the French permit him. Otherwise he would go by boat. Del Vayo remained behind to supervise the final evacuation of army refugees from Catalonia into France.

Negrin's departure seemed to indicate that the Republican leaders on the Catalonian frontier and in Central Spain had decided to defy Gen. Francisco Franco's demand for unconditional surrender and to hold out in Madrid and Central Spain with the army of more than 300,000 commanded by Gen. Jose Miaja.

Although Negrin conferred by telephone with Paris, it was not known whether President Azana and the leaders there agreed with his step. Azana so far has insisted that he wants peace.

Negrin's final conferences were held at the "capital," house No. 22 on the highway which runs through Le Perthus. It is actually on Spanish soil, but on a tiny "peninsula" projecting into French territory.

Coincident with Negrin's departure, the last few corps of the army still in Catalonia began retreating to France, barely six miles away.

NEW FARM-CIO WAR LOOMS IN AREA FOLLOWING LEWIS VISIT

Rumblings of warfare between the C.I.O. and the agricultural interests of Orange county, particularly the Associated Farmers of Orange County, seemed certain to break into open hostilities when it was authoritatively learned today that John L. Lewis, leader of the labor group, had been a visitor in the county last week.

That Orange county, one of the strongholds of the Associated Farmers of California, would be used as a testing ground for the strength of the two opposing factions was evidenced at a recent meeting of CIO leaders and other union officials of the county together with more than 100 agricultural workers in Belvedere Gardens, it was learned.

While the visit of Lewis with county labor organizers was not announced publicly and was not a part of the Belvedere Gardens meeting it was reported from a number of sources that the Congress of Industrial Organization was prepared to finance a campaign of organization in Orange county among agricultural workers.

Termed "Invasion"

Included among the groups to be organized are the citrus pickers, packing house workers, field crop workers and dairy workers, it is reported.

In commenting on the proposed "invasion of the county" by CIO organizers, George Graham, secretary of the Associated Farmers of Orange county, deplored the fact that "the farmers and growers of the county will have another difficulty placed on their already burdened shoulders.

Losing Fight

"All through the past year the growers of the county have waged a losing fight to come out even on their crops. Statistics show that the average citrus worker made more in dollars and cents

REPORT JURY PROBE IN MENTON AFFAIRS

Grand jurors and county supervisors today were believed to have discussed asserted budget overdrafts and fund expenditures of former Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton, in a session behind closed doors of the grand jury chamber in the courthouse.

Grapevine rumors at the courthouse intimated that the Menton case was the subject of inquiry as the grand jury summoned all members of the board of supervisors, except Chairman Willard Smith. Supervisors Steele Finley, of Santa Ana; Willis Warner, of Huntington Beach; Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim; and N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, were observed entering the grand jury room at about 11 a. m. under escort of Secretary A. R. Benson, of the grand jury.

Urge Inquiry

Assistant District Attorney Joel Ogle also sat in on the hearing.

The board of supervisors had not only instructed the present district attorney, George Holden, to investigate Menton's expenditures, but also requested the grand jury to probe the situation.

Holden was understood to have reported his findings to the grand jury last week.

Action began after Auditor W. T. Lambert held up approval of more than $800 in demands upon the district attorney's necessary-expenses fund, which already had been overdrawn almost $800, the sum of $2000 having been budgeted; and District Attorney Holden notified the board that the secret fund of $5000 also was depleted.

Before leaving office, Menton had requested the board for additional appropriations to both funds, stating they had been exhausted by special investigations connected principally with the "Fools Rush In" pamphlet case.

Pope Reported Weaker; Order 3 Days of Prayer

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 9.—(UP) A "general weakening" of the Pope's condition occurred this afternoon, a semi-official Vatican source announced at 5 p. m.

The announcement specifically denied a report that bronchial pneumonia had set in.

Deep anxiety over the Pope's condition was manifest. Three days of prayer for his health were ordered in all Rome churches, the semi-official news agency announced.

The semi-official announcement said that the Pope's grippe had become worse, with a rising fever and general weakening which worried Vatican circles.

NUDE WEDDINGS LEGAL

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 9.—(UP) —It's perfectly legal to get married naked on a mountain-top, the sovereign state of Colorado ruled today.

The ruling was by Attorney General Byron Rogers in answer to a letter from the Rev. H. P. Feree of the Church of Common, Inc.

Rev. Feree inquired whether he might "marry an unclothed couple on a secluded mountain-top somewhere west of Denver on Easter morning."

He said such a ceremony would "be the only way these two can wash their sins away."

Ranchers Light Orchard Heaters

Once again the orchard heaters of citrus growers of the county were fired as temperatures in groves throughout the county dropped several points below the freezing point.

One ranch in the Tustin area reported a temperature of 27 degrees for several hours early this morning and similiar temperatures were reported in other localities. A strong south-west wind that brought 50-foot waves to Santa Monica beaches swept over the Orange county coast line but did no damage.

Meanwhile the official weather forecast warned citrus growers to be ready for more cold early morning hours tomorrow.

ENGLAND BUYS PLANES

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 9.—(UP)—United Aircraft Corp., today announced receipt of an order from the British government for 200 airplane engines and constant speed propellers to equip a similar number of planes being obtained from the North American Aviation, Inc., of Inglewood, Cal.

Estate of Local Woman $51,941

The late Mrs. Tennessee Phillips, of Santa Ana, left an estate worth $51,941.06, according to an inventory and appraisement just filed in superior court by Howard Irwin, state inheritance tax appraiser.

Cash amounting to $8414.81, and Santa Ana real estate vaiued at $6500 were included in the inventory, the rest consisting of stocks and notes. Approximately $28,500 was willed in specific bequests, including $5000 to Earlham College, Indiana; $2000 to Whittier College; $2000 to the First Baptist church of Santa Ana; $5000 to Keller E. Watson, an Orange cousin, and $3000 to Assemblyman Clyde Watson, his brother.

These two share equally with four or more other first cousins in the balance of the estate, since the will mentioned no residuary heirs.

"Roaring" Days Of West Revived

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Feb. 9. —(UP)—The early "roaring" days of western mining were recalled today in the reopening of the Tombstone extension mine for development work and production.

Closed for more than a year, the mine was opened by James McKinnis, superintendent, to allow digging 150 feet lower in the main shaft. The mine now produces both lead and silver and is one of the largest in the Tombstone district.

"Minor Errors" Block Project

REDDING, Calif., Feb. 9. —(UP)—Bewildered Shasta county supervisors found construction on their proposed new county jail had bogged down. Investigation showed the following oversights:

Sewer connections from the jail led to a "non-existent" manhole.

There was no fund provided for building inspection fees.

There was no written order to the contractors to begin work.

Press Time Bulletins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The House today voted $100,000 to continue for one year the Dies investigation of unamerican activities.

By voice vote the house adopted a resolution brought in by Chairman Lindsay Warren, D., N. C., of the house accounts committee. Not a single voice was raised in dissent.

400 Growers Attend Villa Park Packing Association Conference

Approximately 400 growers ere seated at a dinner at the illa Park Packing association ant this noon with an annual eeting and election of directors heduled for this afternoon pre-ding a number of talks given f officials of the California ruit Growers exchange and a port by the secretary and anager of the organization, H. . Nichols.

In his report Nichols stated at during the past year 637,771 ld boxes of oranges were pick- the crop being converted in- 397,093 packed boxes or 860 rloads of 463 boxes each. The erage per packed box was 84 nts or 52.3 cents per field x for all boxes delivered at e plant, said the manager.

Averages Exceeded

"The crop exceeded the aver-es of the preceding five years 52 per cent and was 15 per nt larger than the crop of 29, the largest year previous-

This is the lowest return ce the association was organ-d in 1913 and in most cases is s than the cost of production en leaving out the cost of liv- and interest on investments. "Refunds mailed December 31 taled $122,783.07, refunds are ld up to within four years of e present time and were a sub-antial part of returns. Most the items of cost in packing d marketing were reduced ex-pt railroad freight and taxes ich were increased. Our taxes for the year including Social Security amounted to $6,135.23 not including sales tax paid on various supplies purchased. This is nearly six times the average yearly tax of $1,089.86 which is our average for the five years prior to 1937. In addition to this each grower has his annual tax costs.

"With the low national buying power and increasing production we can expect correspondingly low returns unless by artificial means or otherwise enough elimination can be taken which would result in an increase in the dollars per acre return to the grower.

"It now seems quite likely that the low temperatures of November 10 and 11, and again on Feb. 1 and 2, may reduce somewhat the volume of shipments for 1939. If all growers through their respective shipping organizations could work more closely together we could have the necessary elimination and regulation of shipments which would result in more adequate returns to the people who produce and should control their crops."

Speakers were LeRoy Lyons, representative of the Orange County Fruit exchange board for the California Fruit Growers exchange, Milton Chapman, sales manager of the Exchange, Orange Products company, C. E. Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit Growers exchange and Joseph Adams of the California Fruit exchange field department.

DEDICATION OF BUILDINGS SET

Flag presentation ceremonies will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the new California State Forestry buildings in Orange by Santa Ana parlor No. 265, Native Sons of the Golden West. Supervisor Willard Smith, of Orange, will preside.

Public Invited

The public is invited to attend the event, which will mark completion of the new buildings. A bronze plaque will be installed to commemorate the event, telling the date and nature of the ceremony.

Eldred L. Meyer, of Santa Monica, past grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will be speaker of the day.

The Orange High school band will open the program with an overture. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Orange. Supervisor Smith then will introduce guests. The address of welcome will be given by A. Haven Smith, principal of the Orange Union high school.

Band To Play

Mayor A. C. Boice of Orange will extend the greetings of that city. The high school band will play a second number, to be followed by presentation of the state flag by Past Grand President Meyer. Acceptance of the flag will be made by State Forest Ranger Joe Scherman. The final number will be music by the high school band.

Following the program the new buildings will be open for inspection by the public.

Mystery Marks School Assembly

The weekly high school assembly featured Philip Foxwell, master of illusions, and his sleight of hand tricks. Foxwell is called a successor to Houdini and has gained much recognition by winning many awards in competition with other well known magicians. He has appeared before the International Congress of World Magicians and won 12 prizes.

During the course of the program, he executed, with the help of various students, several mystifying tricks, and explained how some of them were done.

FOUST NAMED AREA SPEAKER

Jack Foust, Santa Ana high school student, will represent Orange county at the Fifth Area speaking contest sponsored by the American Legion posts of Southern California, it was announced here today by C. M. Featherly, chairman of the youth activity committee for the 21st District.

Featherly's announcement was made at a Tri-County meet held last night at the American Legion clubhouse in Riverside with speakers from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties participating.

Winners in last night's contest were Marlyn Moses, San Bernardino, first; Jack Graettinger, Ontario, second; and Elaine Joy, Riverside, third. Foust and Mary Sowden, of Anaheim, represented the county in the contest.

Judges in the contest were Kenneth E. Morrison, Santa Ana; Dr. Benjamin Scott, Pomona College; and Attorney John G. Gabbert, Riverside. Among county residents present at the contest were: Keith Davis, chairman of the Santa Ana post Americanization committee; Featherly, Gaylord Fanning, of Laguna Beach, commander of the county council; and E. S. Allen, of Huntington Beach.

Speakers for the Fifth Area contest, to be held in Riverside on Feb. 23 will be: Jack Foust, Elaine Joy, Marlyn Moses, Jack Graettinger and two speakers from San Diego county.

SMEDLEY PRESENTS CHARTER TO CLUB

The Riverside Toastmasters club was presented with its charter last night by Ralph C. Smedley, of Santa Ana, founder of the organization and secretary of Toastmesters International. The club is the 130th formed.

Three other clubs are due to get their charters soon. The Angel City club of Los Angeles will receive its charter Saturday night the Watsonville club on February 21 and the Corona group on Fegruary 2.2

Dana E. Keech, a former resident of Santa Ana, was toastmaster at the Riverside meeting. The president is William O. Mackey,, city attorney of Riverside.

Smedley was accompanied to Riverside by Lester Jones.

Arrives In S. A.

With living models appearing in person as demonstrators, Miss Olga Thomas, popular corset stylist and adviser to women on problems of correct corsetry, will appear tomorrow at the J. C. Penney store, Fourth and Bush streets, and will speak at 2:30 p. m. on modern corsetry and fitting problems. She will emphasize the fact that modern figur control achieves not only the fashionable silhouette but healthful posture and maximum comfort. All women and girls are cordially invited.

POLICE CHIEF HOWARD FIRST TO FILE IN LOCAL ELECTION

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today dissolved all rumors that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the office of chief of police when he became the first office seeker to have nominating papers taken out at the city clerk's office.

First To File

Police Chief Floyd Howard

C. F. (Skinny" Skirvin will circulate the papers which require 10 signatures of Santa Ana citizens.

"Good Department"

The chief's official announcement follows:

"In making my official announcement on seeking the office of chief of police of Santa Ana for another four years, I do so with the complete knowledge that the people of Santa Ana are not primarily interested in the man as an individual, but I firmly believe that they are interested in a good police department and the ways and means of having a department that is modern, efficient and courteous.

"That is the reason that, at this time, I want to point to a number of things which have taken place in our modern police department since I have been chief of police, things which many in Santa Ana do not know, for it has never been my policy or that of the department to seek publicly for ourselves. Our plan has been to go ahead, day by day, creating a better department, and I can proudly say that there is no police department in the state holding as many efficiency records as the Santa Ana police department.

Tells of Safety

"For instance, Santa Ana was the first city to institute crossing guards at all city schools. This was our idea, an idea that has been followed by virtually every city in California today. It has been such a success that not a single child has been killed or injured at one of the crossings in eight years.

"The Santa Ana department was the first department in California whose every member became a radio operator, licensed by the government. The Santa Ana department was the first California police department whose police officers qualified 100 per cent as first aid instructors.

"Today the department is made up of many young, alert men, keenly trained and enthused over their work, men who do not consider their work as jobs but as their careers.

"Therefore, I point to the record of the Santa Ana police department as it is today when I ask the voters to return me to the head of the department. If elected I promise to continue to modernize the department at every opportunity, so that the best of protection can be given every single person living in the confines of Santa Ana."

Last Rites For George R. Hippard Set For Friday

Funeral services for George R. Hippard, father of C. William Hippard, 637 Van Bibber street, Orange, will be held tomorrow in Los Angeles, with burial to follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Hippard, a newspaperman for nearly a half century, was a member of the editorial staff of the Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express and "died in the harness" Tuesday night.

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. Hippard was graduated from Oberlin college and at the age of 22 became a member of the Columbus Dispatch. He came to the Pacific coast in the fall of 1907 and joined the editorial staff of the San Francisco Examiner. About 11 years ago he came to the staff of the Herald-Express.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Hibbard, Los Angeles; two sons, C. W. Hippard, Orange, and George R. Hippard jr., Los Angeles; a grand-daughter, Pamela Hippard, and one brother, C. W. Hippard, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral services wil be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Armstrong chapel, with fellow-newspapermen as ballbearers.

TOWNSEND NEWS

Election of officers of the Townsend Club No. 6 council was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Herring Monday evening. The following officers were selected: A. M. Mapes, president; I. R. Hendrie, first vice president; C. C. Dunbar, second vice president, and Miss Jane E. McKee, secretary-treasurer. President Mapes appointed the following committee chairmen; E. M. Fuller, membership; Mrs. Pearl Phillips, social; Mrs. Bertha Blocker, women's auxiliary; G. C. Law, youth activity; J. C. Hoge, finance; A. J. Smiley, program; Mrs. C. C. Dunbar, public relations; and Mrs. Mary Herring, extension.

The Townsend Hall board of control will sponsor a mass meeting at the hall, 509 West Fourth street at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, Mary Herring, chairman of the extension commitee. John Weir will be the speaker of the evening and the Hurd-Lentz orchestra will supply musical entertainment. The Santa Ana Funeral Home quartette will present a special program of vocal selections.

PARK TRIP ENDS IN MAN'S ARREST

C. Gibson Childre, former Santa Ana man, who assertedly sought to live on "borrow money and borrowed time," was arrested yesterday on a grand theft charge while on a pleasure trip in Yosemite National park.

Check on Texas Bank

Childre assertedly wrote a check for $554 on a Texas bank, failed to have sufficient funds to cover the amount, used the check in buying a car at the B. J. MacMullen company of Santa Ana, then went north on a vacation.

Childre, who had been seriously ill here, was traced to Modesto where he assertedly invited friends to go to Yosemite with him after first asking them to cash a check for him. The friends refused both to make the trip and cash the check.

Nabbed By Ranger

On a chance that Childre went to Yosemite anyhow, Sheriff Jesse L. Elliott contacted Chief Ranger Townsley of Yosemite National park. Covering the park area thoroughly, Townsley located Childre and arrested him, according to his report to Sheriff Elliott. The sheriff sent Deputy James Ragan and Constable Charles Mitchell to Yosemite to return Childre to Orange county for prosecution. James Willard McCain of the MacMullen firm accompanied the officers to bring the car back.

It is estimated that the new car registration including trucks and buses during 1939 will not exceed 2,150,000 units.

The American Plan

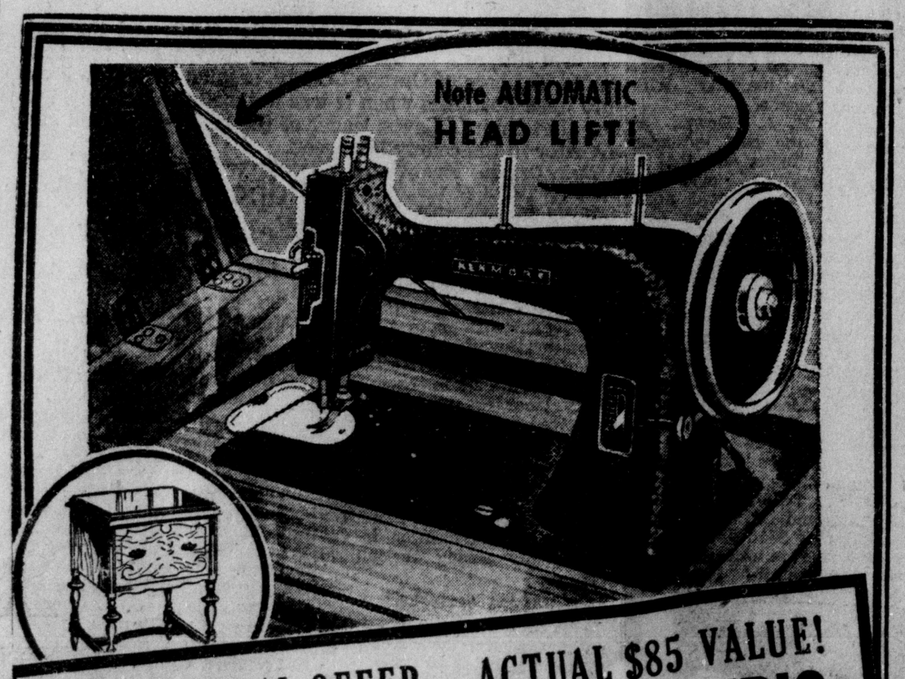

The story of Abraham Lincoln's rise from log cabin to White House illustrates the great American Plan of living and government where men are "created equal" and have equal opportunity; where government "of the people, by the people, and for the people" has not perished. Our country is a greater country today because of Abraham Lincoln.

February 12 is the birthday anniversary of this great man. Let us observe it by being thankful we are Americans living in America. In tribute to Abraham Lincoln this bank will transact no business on Monday.

2 HURT WHEN TRUCK BLAZES

Two men were slightly hurt when a truck caught fire in a crash with a coupe at the intersection of Alta Vista and Linda Vista streets, Atwood, at 5 p. m. yesterday, Phil Ton, of Yorba Linda, and F. Killingsworth, of Long Beach, suffering injury.

A truck loaded with pipe was being driven by J. H. Christensen, 301 East Fifth street, Long Beach, along Linda Vista street, headed south. Phil Ton was driving his coupe east on Alta Vista, and started to make a left turn at Linda Vista, reports said.

Truck Swerves

The truck swerved but failed to avoid the collision, which turned the truck upside down and mashed the front end of the coupe.

A blaze started in the truck. Christensen and Killingsworth, who had been riding with him, broke the windows of the cab, scrambled through and put out the fire. Christensen was unhurt and Killingsworth escaped with minor scratches. Ton, slightly hurt, was taken to Dr. R. C. Cochran at Yorba Linda for treatment.

Hurt In S. A. Mishap

Harvey E. Leibert, 24, of 652 Sycamore street, Norwalk, was given a ticket for failing to make a boulevard stop following a crash driven by Aileen Heitmiller, 29, of between his machine and one 219 Homewood avenue, Buena Park, yesterday. Neither driver was injured.

Alex Freeman, 44, 712 Highland, and Charles Adkins, 18, of bruised yesterday when cars bruised yesterday wehn cars driven by Freeman and Jess Arlibruin, 45, 2007 South Van Ness, collided at Highland and Ross streets. None was injured at 18th and Main streets yesterday when cars driven by Alma Jecenke, Orange, and Julian Fowler, Corona, collided.

FARM LEADERS DISCUSS BILLS

Members of the legislative committee of the Orange County Farm bureau and Assemblymen Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuchel and Senator Harry Westover discussed measures before the state legislature at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Hearings Planned

Approximately 40 bills affecting agriculture which have been submitted were discussed by the group. Announcement was made of hearings in Sacramento in several measures of interest to agriculturalists.

Hearings on prorate measures will be held next Monday and Tuesday, on milk marketing Wednesday and Thursday and on bovine tuberculosis eradication Friday and Saturday.

S. W. Stanley is chairman of the bureau's legislation committee.

Marvin Tomblin Answers Call

ANAHEIM, Feb. 9.—Marvin B. Tomblin, 48, a resident of Anaheim for the past 26 years, and a charter member of the Anaheim Elks lodge, died yesterday at his home, 409 Elm street, after a long illness.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Tomblin; his mother, Mrs. Laura Tomblin of Denver, Colo.; three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Martin, Mrs. Lola Maupien and Mrs. Lois Williams, all of Denver, and an uncle, A. L. Tomblin, of Orange.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 o'clock from the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary, with the Anaheim B. P. O. Elks in charge of graveside services.

'ADAMS FOR PRESIDENT' CRY WINS POST FOR "DAN" ADAMS

"Adams for President." In the early history of the United States, that motto resounded in political circles twice, for John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

But last night the motto resounded in other circles when Daniel D. "Dan" Adams, member of the California highway patrol here, was elected president of the Orange County Peace Officers association for 1939.

Adams succeeds Hunter Leach, detective sergeant of the Santa Ana police department, who was leader of the organization in 1938. R. I. Morris, Newport Beach police officer, was elected vice president; Nellie Fitzpatrick, of the California highway patrol, secretary-treasurer, and W. R. Sylvester, deputy sheriff, sergeant-at-arms. Capt. Herman Zabel, head of the sheriff's office identification bureau and B. F. Lutz, sergeant in the Santa Ana police department, were elected trustees for 1939. The nominating committee was composed of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard, Santa Ana; R. R. Hodgkinson, Newport Beach, and James S. Bouldin, Anaheim.

West Guest Speaker

Superior Court Judge Franklin G. West was guest speaker on the subject, "Notes From a Lawyer's Scrapbook," telling numerous interesting stories of law cases in California from early history down to the present.

Herbert Bergen, jr., prominent Fullerton Boy Scout, entertained with accordion music. Bergen's father also was a guest of the organization. The meeting, a dinner affair, was held at the Orange American Legion hall with Police Chief G. W. Coltrane of Orange, and his men as hosts. The American Legion auxiliary served the dinner.

City council will give final consideration to an ordinance prohibiting all parking on Seventh street between Main and Sycamore streets, at its next meeting, February 20 at 7:30 p. m. The street area in question, so narrow most persons have considered it to be an alley, has been a traffic problem for years.

Second of a series of "free feeds" to members of the American Legion post of Santa Ana will be staged at 6:30 p. m. today at the Legion hall. Details of the meeting have been cloaked in mystery for the past week as George Kellogg and "Sully" Sullivan furtively arranged for the food and entertainment for the occasion. The only information available was that the 500 expected guests and members "will be given a treat they haven't had for 20 years."

Affiliation of Miss Virginia Lea Peterson, of Anaheim, with the Gaylord Studio of Santa Ana as dramatic art instructor was announced today by Miss Peterson's friends. The young woman, it was said, has a rich background of experience, having studied for 12 years with Daphne Goss Hellerman of Los Angeles and Hollywood, and she now also is with Mrs. Esther Litchfield of Fullerton, specializing on the technique of acting. Miss Peterson also is a student at the Fullerton junior college.

The Rev. Mr. Dillavou was accompanied by his wife and son and a friend. Young Dillavou is an artist at the pipe organ and will assist his father at different times, playing the organ.

The evangelist brought a large banner which was placed on the church building this morning announcing the meetings.

SOUTH AFRICA TOLL UP

CAPETOWN, (UP)—Three persons are killed daily on South African roads. There are 50,000 accidents a year involving more than 1,000 deaths, statistics reveal.

Even though the cost a mile is $10,000, asphalt highways are cutting the costs of heavy duty roads by more than 50 per cent.

INDICTMENTS PROMISED IN THE MEGLADDERY PARDON SCANDAL

OAKLAND, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Alameda county's grand jury investigation into the activities of Mark Lee MeGladdery and subsequent delvings into other matters neared a close today with District Attorney Ralph Hoyt promising indictments.

Hoyt said he believed the testimony given the jury so far in connection with several pardon cases was sufficient to warrant indictments. He said he would ask the jury to consider them immediately after taking of testimony ends, possibly late today or tomorrow.

Withholds Names

The prosecutor refused to reveal the names of any individuals against whom indictments would be sought or to reveal what felonies would be charged in the true bills.

With a corps of assistants and secretaries he was reported working long hours during the night to get the indictments drawn up. Great interest was attached to the question of whom it was planned to indict and just when the names would be released.

Edwin Geary, former member of the state athletic commission, whose name was linked with Megladdery's in the Clarence A. Leddy pardon scandal which set of the inquiry, was one of the final witnesses to be recalled.

Answer Freely

He was before the jury most of yesterday, telling his connections with Megladdery when the latter was private secretary to former Governor Frank F. Merriam.

Hoyt and Geary answered questions freely, drawing the line only within the limits of the legal code forbidding revelation of confidences between attorneys and clients.

Geary, it was revealed, disagreed with Merriam regarding the former governor's assertion that he had instructed his secretaries and their appointees never to appear in an official capacity before any other state body.

New Farm-CIO War Feared

"He has battled nature and the elements—the frosts, blights, floods and dry spells—and now has this impending warfare with his labor. The rancher has striven to bring economic stability to Orange county in the face of low prices for his product and it must be remembered that $7 out of every $10 spent in Orange county comes from the citrus industry.

Ready For Fight

"There can be no lasting prosperity in Orange county unless agriculture is making a profit on its merchandise.

"There are 4000 farmers organized under the Associated Farmers of Orange county who are prepared to stand for what they believe to be their rights as far as agricultural labor is concerned and they are not in favor of CIO disrupting the agricultural activity in the county," Graham concluded.

Group To Study Liquor Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—George R. Reilly, member of the state board of equalization, said today that an alcoholic beverage advisory council of 130 San Franciscans would meet Feb. 14 to help formulate policies governing administration of liquor laws.

The council, comprising representatives of temperance groups, the liquor industry, labor, clubwomen, business and civic groups, will discuss the projected extension of closing hours for liquor sales in night clubs and similar establishments, he said.

Reilly said he intended to form similar groups in San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties, which are included in the first district of the state board.

FDR Sees Scouts As Asset to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, in a brief radio message commemorating the 29th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, said last night that Scouts are a national asset and therefore should be regarded as a national trust.

"Ours is the duty to inculcate in the Scout mind those simple but fundamental principles which embrace strength of body, alertness of mind, and above these and growing out of them that sense of moral responsibility upon which all sound character rests," he said.

JUDGE DODGES SCRIBES

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Feb. 9.—(UP)—Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas of Connecticut, sought as a witness before the federal grand jury investigating the federal judiciary in New York, retired to his stateroom on his arrival here today and refused to talk to reporters. Reporters waylaid him as he left the dining room shortly after the liner Santa Barbara docked, but he said "no comment, no comment" and hurried to his cabin.

URGES CHANGES IN WAGNER ACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Sen. Edward R. Burke, D., Neb., opponent of the New Deal and a bitter critic of the National Labor Relations Board, introduced in the Senate today a series of amendments "to make the present one-sided Wagner labor relations act fair to all citizens."

He proposed to curtail drastically the powers of the board and would recreate the board with one representative each of employees, employer and the public.

Charges Abuse

He charged that the board has "abused its judicial powers" and that all three present members "are organized labor partisans."

In addition to change in the board membership, Burke's amendments would:

1.—Permit any respondent cited by the board as a violator of the law to petition for removal of his hearing directly to the United States district court.

2.—Permit either employes or employers to petition for an election to determine the collective bargaining representative; a secret ballot within 20 days after receipt of the petition would be mandatory.

Bargaining Rights

3.—Grant to employes the right to bargain collectively "free from threat, intimidation, restraint or coercion from any source." The present act prohibits employers from engaging in such unfair labor practices.

4.—Define as "unfair labor practice" any act of a labor organization, or any officer, agent or employe of the organization, to threaten or intimidate workers to violate a civil or criminal law in the course of a dispute, to strike without an affirmative vote of a majority of employes in an appropriate unit, to interfere with the orderly conduct of an employer's business, or to strike in violation of a valid contract or agreement.

5.—Require labor organizations to file information regarding their groups, including names of all officers with a certification that each is an American citizen.

6.—Grant employers the right "to counsel or advise his employes orally or in writing" about the Wagner act.

JUDGESHIP NOMINEE SUBMITTED BY FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP) President Roosevelt today nominated U. S. District Judge Robert P. Patterson of New York to take the seat on the second U. S. circuit court of appeals vacated by resignation of Judge Martin Manton.

The nomination was one of several sent to the senate by Mr. Roosevelt.

The president named Francis Biddle of Philadelphia, one time head of the National Labor Board which preceded the present National Labor Relations board, to be a judge of the 3rd U. S. circuit court.

Opposition Looms

He named Herschel W. Arant, dean of the Ohio State University law school, to be judge of the 6th U. S. circuit court.

Reports circulated that Sen. Joseph Guffey, D., Pa., favored another candidate and might oppose the Biddle nomination in the senate. His fight would be similar to that of Virginia senators to the president's nomination of Judge Floyd Roberts to the Virginia federal bench.

Mr. Roosevelt renominated William E. Lee of Idaho, a present member of the Interstate Commerce commission. He also named J. Haden Alldredge, of Alabama, a transportation economist of the Tennessee Valley Authority to the I. C. C.

$100,000 Fire Razes Factories

SAN MATEO, Calif., Feb. 9.—(UP)—Flames which razed the properties of the Trollman Manufacturing and Mission Zuilding Supply companies in nearby Millbrae, were estimated today to have caused approximately $100,000 damage.

The spectacular blaze attracted hundreds of spectators and tied up traffic on San Francisco peninsula highways for several hours. Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited was held for half an hour.

Speed Action On Defense Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The House rules committee today gave right of way to House consideration of the emergency national defense bill under a rule calling for six hours of general debate starting Monday.

The rules committee approved the request of the House leadership that the measure, authorizing $376,000,000 of emergency defense projects including expansion of the army air corps to 5500 planes, be brought to the House floor for swift action.

The bill, bearing the name of Chairman Andrew J. May, D., Ky., of the House military affairs committee, provides for maintenance of what is known as an "initial protective force" in the army of 190,000 men, supplemented by 210,000 in the National guard.

WORKERS REMOVE TREE

Wind blew down a tree in the 600-block of East Bishop last night, according to reports of Santa Ana police. Employes of the street department were called upon to remove the traffic hazard.

CIO-AFL War Closes Plant

town where the CIO men and their families were "purged" last summer.

Their vote came after collapse of attempts by Lassen county officials to arrange an immediate election at conference in the state capital during a 48-hour truce which ended today.

The NLRB, through Mrs. Alice Rosseter, regional director, offered to hold an election within 60 days "if a fair atmosphere can be shown."

Raps Sheriff

"You can't get a fair situation when he (Sheriff Johnson) has deputies parading with a badge and an AFL button side by side," she said.

"Instead of pouring oil on troubled waters," Johnson retorted, "Mrs. Rosseter is pouring oil on the fire."

He later joined with other county officials in a statement which said that the problem had been brought squarely before the government and that "Therefore it is our opinion that if violence does occur that responsibility for such acts should be placed squarely where it belongs, and tht on the officials of the NLRB."

Charge Lack Of Flood Protection

Cost of fencing with single line fence the sections of the Garden Grove area that have not been taken care of would be approximately $5000, Thompson said. A double line for the same sections would be about $15,000 and for special transverse reinforcements, $30,000.

There is no money in the county treasury that is available for the extra construction and a bond issue for the money was the only solution to the situation offered by Thompson.

Meanwhile, the levee work is rapidly drawing to a close, the snow is piling up in the mountains and the controversy rages. Final result and outcome of the situation is largely in the hands of Dame Nature and the Weatherman, it was agreed.

Anxious Father Awaits Stork

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 9.—(UP)—Milo C. McDonnell resumed his pacing outside the maternity ward of research hospital today. It was his fifth day and doctors told him to save his strength for perhaps nine more days of walking before the second McDonnell twin arrived.

Mrs. McDonnell and James Charles, who arrived early Sunday, were doing nicely. McDonnell took over the worrying. His employer, sympathetic, told him to devote his full time to waiting and to forget the office. One other prospective father fell into step with McDonnell, but only for a few hours before his baby arrived.

Name Santa Anan To State Office

Richard E. Collins, chairman of the board of equalization, today announced in Sacramento, the appointment of three men in the new division of assessment standards.

Chosen from civil service lists were R. C. Patton, Santa Ana, associate building appraiser; Louis H. Evans, Los Angeles, senior petroleum appraisal engineer and Clive B. Kelly, who resigned as Sutter county assessor, senior rural land appraiser.

John H. Keith heads the new division. He said the new staff "will be able to furnish an advisory service which never before has been available to local assessors."

FACES PROSECUTION

Fred Thomas, 46, Placentia, was a disturber of the Placentia peace late last night, according to Placentia police who jailed him here. Thomas faces prosecution on a charge of disturbing the peace.

A Bourbon Prince Takes a Bride

Royal newlyweds. The smiling bride: Princess Maria of Savoy, 24, youngest daughter of Italy's king and queen. The happy bridegroom, right: Prince Louis of Bourbon Parma, 40-year-old son of the late Duke Robert. The ceremony took place in the Quirinal Palace, Rome.

ONE KNOWN DEAD, 3 MISSING AS SNOW SLIDE HITS CABIN

BINGHAM, Utah, Feb. 9.—(UP)—One woman was known dead and authorities were searching for bodies of three others today in the wake of a snow slide which sheared the tops off two residences near here last night.

The body of Mrs. Stana Thomas was recovered early today. Two of her children, Helen Thomas, 11, and Duchie Thomas, 19, and a roomer at the Thomas house, Sam Narich, were believed dead in the mass of snow which cut a 100-foot path down a mountainside near Highland boys' school.

Four Escape

Four other Thomas children, also in the home when the slide occurred, were removed from the drift but two were in a critical condition.

George Gerner, 53, caught in the drift for more than half an hour, said it occurred suddenly as he was passing the Thomas home. Authorities estimated the wall of snow which thundered down the mountainside must have been more than 30 feet high.

Occupants of the second residence crushed by the avalanche were pushed out of the house but either freed themselves or were dug out by rescuers. Three men in the downstairs room of the Thomas home escaped injury when the slide passed over them, carrying the top story of the building with its sleeping occupants away.

Pair Jailed As Bandit Suspects

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Joseph Moyle and John Orloff, both 24, were held under $50,000 bail each after indictment on charges of armed postoffice robbery and forging money orders. On the combined counts they face maximum jail sentences of 95 years.

Moyle and Orloff also were identified as the men who attacked Miss Mary Gray, 21, Berkeley nurse, after robbing and binding and gagging her escort, Louis Enclader, 23.

Enclader, who was forced to lie helpless while the attack occurred, rushed at the pair in the city jail yesterday. Five policemen pulled him away as he shouted "I'll kill them both."

Mooney Defense League Bankrupt

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The Mooney Molders' defense Committee issued a letter under Tom Mooney's signature today saying it was bankrupt and $15,000 in debt.

It appealed to Mooney's friends and supporters for contributions to "carry on the fight to free Warren Billings."

THIEVES ARE SOUGHT

Sheriff's officers today sought thieves who stole farm equipment from the W. S. Babb place, Baker and Old Santa Ana roads, Route 4, Santa Ana, recently. Babb lost a farrow wheel, tiller wheel, swivel wheel and railroad iron valued at $20. A neighbor reported seeing two men loading the equipment into a car bearing license 4-Y-3360. The license number, a checkup revealed, is registered in the name of Louise Sandling, 12-150 Louise avenue, Lynwood.

SCOUTS PRESENT KIWANIS PROGRAM

Life-saving and legerdemain were the chief attractions at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club yesterday afternoon at the Masonic Temple.

The life-saving demonstration was put on by members of the Kiwanis Boy Scout troop 23 under the supervision of Scoutmaster Earl Hoisington. The troop went through a model scout meeting and the demonstration was a part of the meeting.

William McFee, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McFee, 1415 West Washington street, was commentator for the scout demonstration. Richard Brown, the youngest scout in the troop and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brown, 617 Myrtle street, was the "victim" in the demonstration.

Climax of the meeting was an exhibition of sleight-of-hand and magic by Phillip Foxwell of the National School Assemblies of Los Angeles. W. D. Ranney, chairman of the scout committe, was in charge of the meeting.

BETLACH CLEARED IN JEWELRY MIXUP

Frederick Betlach, 53-year-old jeweler, of 120 East Walnut, Santa Ana, today was a free man, completely exonerated from blame in connection with the taking of 40 or 50 pieces of jewelry and silverware belonging to Minneapolis, Minn., citizens.

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard received telegrams from C. P. Forestal, superintendent of Minneapolis police, asking that Betlach, held on a grand larceny warrant, following his arrest by a Burns Detective agency officer and Santa Ana police, be releaesd. The release was with approval of the complaining witness, William Tschida of Minneapolis, and Judge Fred B. Wright of the same city. Atty. James L. Davis of Santa Ana and Atty. E. Buckley, Minneapolis, represented Betlach. The jewelry and silverware which led to the arrest had been brought to California by Betlach when he sold his jewelry store in Minneapolis, it was pointed out, and Betlach later sent all of the material to its owners.

ATTEND DINNER MEETING

Assistant Police Chief Harry Fink, Mrs. Fink and Police Matron Bertha Anderson last night attended a dinner meeting of the Women Peace Officers' association at the Barton Home in Los Angeles. The dining room was decorated in the St. Valentine's day motif and many favors were distributed among the guests.

ORANGE MAN JAILED

Studio Students Entertain Club

Members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club were entertained today at the Main cafeteria by students of the Visel studio with Hunter Leach as program chairman in the absence of C. I. McDonald, who prepared the program.

Military and soft shoe tap dances were presented by Teletha Dahl, Earolyn Wells and Lorle Buell, Helen H. Runnells accompanying at the piano. Song solos were presented by Marjorie Ball, accompanied by Margaret Davies, and by Eddie Marble. It was announced that Chuck Barrett would be in charge of program arrangements for next Thursday.

STOLEN FROM AUTO

Fifty cents worth of package merchandise was stolen from a parked car belonging to George E. Miles, 1931 West Washington, between 7 and 9 p. m. yesterday, according to his report to Santa Ana police. The car was parked at the curb in front of 1025 West Chestnut at the time.

MOTHER ACCUSED OF 'SYMPATHY RACKET'

Mrs. Lola Rhodes, 25-year-old Arkansas mother, who assertedly used her three children in connection with a "sympathy racket" to obtain funds for her family group, including her husband, Hezzie, 44, and brother-in-law, Richard, 25, was ordered to leave Santa Ana at once yesterday.

Police were informed the woman assertedly obtained $1.50 from several places in one downtown block within a few minutes. Taken to police headquarters, the family group was questioned at length. The officers learned the three adults, three children and two dogs all had been traveling about the country in a small coupe. Hezzie told officers "we were kicked off of the relief rolls at Gerber, Calif. and are trying to raise money to get back to Crossett, Ark."

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

Small Blaze Is Extinguished

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Fire under the steps of the commercial building of the Orange high school was put out by local firemen Wednesday, causing more than $100 damage to the building.

The cause of the fire was overheated furnace pipes, it was announced. The call was received at 12:44 p. m. and the fire was out at 1:32 p. m. Class room fire drills were used effectively as pupils left the buildings when the fire alarm was sounded and all students assembled on the grounds a few minutes afterward.

A portion of the cost of building and experimenting with the Douglas DC-4, reported to be the largest landplane in the world, has been borne by five of the major airlines of the United States. The reported cost is $2,000,000.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rx For that Head Cold take Rinex

● Why suffer with that miserable, sickening Head Cold for even another day, without trying this new formula—Dr. Platt's RINEX Prescription — to quickly relieve every distressing symptom to your guaranteed satisfaction, or your money refunded.

RINEX is a special all-round formula designed to combat not just one, but every single harassing symptom of the common cold. As a result thousands have found that they felt ever so much better in a few minutes after the first dose, and in a short time all the sniffling, sneezing, stuffiness, headache and fever had vanished.

Phone your druggist for RINEX right now. See if you don't feel a lot better after the very first dose.

TALBERT SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Funeral services for Lindley H. Talbert, who lacked a few days of reaching the age of 91, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the C. W. Coffey funeral parlors.

Services were conducted by Dr. Robert B. McAulay, assisted by Mrs. R. S. Erbe, Costa Mesa, soloist. She sang "The Holy Hour," "The Old Rugged Cross," and "Abide With Me"; accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Ockels. Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

Pall bearers were R. M. Stade, Henry Kehlenbrink and W. J. Rice of Orange; Thomas P. Douglas, A. J. Blanchard and J. R. Bruff of Santa Ana. Mrs. Talbert passed away early Monday at his home, 150 North Cambridge street. He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Grace Snure, Orange, two sons, Bull Talbert, Orange, and Willard Talbert, Casper, Wyoming, eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Reports Presented At Council Meet

ORANGE, Feb. 9. — Reports given at a meeting of the Orange city council last night revealed that during the month of January $192 was collected in fines by City Judge F. E. Hallman. Speeding charges brought $45 and drunk driving $46.50. A report from the city librarian showed a balance of $707.79 in the library fund and disbursments $1177.12. Franke Dale reported that $121.45 had been collected in the building department.

C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer, reported that 668 feet of the Tustin street storm drain have been completed. G. W. Coltrane, chief of police reported that 23 arrests were made and 12 traffic citations given out. Taxes collected totaled $2,219.11, business licenses $1745.46 and whell taxes $12.

An application for a position in the city park was made by Ray Hill, 404 South Pixley street. The application was filed. Sheldon Swenson, Y.M.C.A. secretary asked for use of the city park two nights weekly during summer months for city softball teams. The request was filed for further consideration.

A request for the establishment of a pool hall at the corner of Sycamore avenue and North Cypress street was denied. A report on the outfall sewer was given by Councilman Henry Bandick.

Church Board To Be Entertained

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bivens and the Rev. and Mrs. Myron C. Cole will entertain the members of the official board of the First Christian church with an informal dinner and program. Bivens heads the church board and the Rev. Mr. Cole is pastor. Mrs. George H. Peterson will arrange for decorations and place cards and Mrs. Cora Adams will prepare the dinner.

The speaker of the evening will be Dr. George O. Marsh, new pastor of the Central Christian church of Glendale, recently of Minneapolis, Minn. Dr. Marsh replaces the father of the Orange pastor, Dr. Clifford A. Cole, in the Glendale church as the latter has been appointed secretary of Christian churches of Southern California. Dr. Cole also will be present bringing greetings from Southern California churches.

Don Krueger, baritone, will sing and John Stout, violinist, will play. Both are to be accompanied by Miss Vivian Stanley. Board members are to be presented with folders suitable for keeping church records.

"Brazil" Is Topic For Club Session

ORANGE, Feb. 8. — Alfred Leech was speaker at a luncheon meeting of the First Economics section of the Orange Woman's club held at the clubhouse yesterday when the topic for the doy was "Brazil" and Mr. Leech told of 30 days spent in that country recently. He stated that he visited a banana plantation and saw bananas picked and placed on boats which go through the groves on canals. Valuable hardwood is used as firewood, said the speaker, who had with him many articles made of the brilliant butterflies found in South America.

The colors of the flog of Brazil were used in decorations for the table centered with a miniature ox-cart filled with Brazil nuts. Blue, yellow and green candles lighted the table and bright "Charm strings" of pods and berries were other decorations. Hostesses were Mesdames Alfred Leech, N. J. Whitney, C. E. Smiley, J. P. Boring and J. F. Lewis. Mrs. Sheman Gillogly presided.

Present were Mesdames Lillian Bishop, Laura Bowan, C. F. Talmadge, L. W. Hemphill, Claudia Boyer, Sherman Gillogly, C. J. Hibben, W. H. Lowry, Henry Meier, W. H. Rohrs, Gearge W. How 25 Women Lost Ugly FAT In Special N. Y. Test

Ask Your Doctor If It Isn't Good Way. Read EVERY Word

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a test by a prominent N. Y. Physician and nationally known newspaper woman—25 women lost a total of 286 lbs. in 40 days. YOU, too, can follow this SAME, SENSIBLE plan right at home and here it is:

First of all go light on fatty meats and sweets. Eat plentifully of lean meats, fish, fowl, fresh fruits and vegetables. And for proper functioning by removal of accumulated wastes take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in hot water every morning. DON'T MISS A MORNING. Kruschen is made right here in U. S. A. from famous English formula.

And this is IMPORTANT: Kruschen is NOT harmful. It is not just one salt as some people ignorantly believe. Rather, it's a blend of 6 active minerals, which when dissolved in water make a healthful mineral drink similar to effective Spa waters where wealthy women have gone for years. A jar of Kruschen costs only a few cents and lasts 6 weeks.

So fat ladies—get some gumption! MAKE UP YOUR MIND YOU'LL STICK to the above Plan for 28 days and just see if you don't lose fat and feel healthier and younger. You can get Kruschen at druggists everywhere.

NAME MASTERS IN WATER SUIT

Appointment of three masters to make a study of Santa Ana river conditions and report to the court was revealed at the meeting of the Orange County Water district directors yesterday afternoon.

Those appointed by Federal Judge Paul McCormick are Paul Bailey of Santa Ana, R. D. Schelly of Riverside and George Swendsen, all well known engineers.

Intervene in Suit

Appointment of the masters is in connection with the suit brought several years ago by the Irvine company to prevent certain spreading operations in the upper area of the Santa Ana river, defendants being the Water Conservation association and several cities, including Redlands and Upland. The Orange County Water district intervened in the suit two years ago in a move to protect Orange county water interests.

Word of the appointment was given the water board by Attorney Robert Mize, acting for the board's regular attorney, A. W. Rutan, who has been ill.

New Board Members

Two newly elected members of the water board, Dian Gardner of Orange and J. J. Denni of Cypress, "sat in" at the meeting. They will take office at the first regular meeting in March. Gardner will take the place of C. A. Palmer, who was not a candidate for re-election, while Denni will replace William Schumacher, who did not seek re-election.

The directors will meet next Monday to canvass the returns of Tuesday's election and to transact other business.

Urged to Organize Disaster Division

Dr. J. P. Davis acted as toastmaster of the Wednesday meeting of Smedley Chapter No. 1 of the Toastmasters club, with Horace O. Ensign as general critic. Dr. Mark A. Dalton gave an illustrated talk on the "Birth Canal", Orville K. Brown discussed the origin of the Imperial Valley and the Salton Sea and Jim Wright told of some of his experiences in a hospital.

T. E. McLeod favored the formation of a major disaster committee in each community as a matter of preparedness, W. N. Cummings used blackboard diagrams in telling of his work in Illinois coal mines and Willis Cadwallader extolled the virtue of faithfulness in his address on the subject, "Which Road Shall I Take?"

"Do young people want a sugar coated education" was discussed by George W. Minor who contended that most of them really want hard problems to solve and difficult subjects to master.

Wishing to increase the loveliness of their hair, 16th century Italian women often slept during the day and spent much of the time during moonlight nights wandering under the soft beams of the moon's rays, which were supposed to "thread the hair with beauty."

Corns Driving You Crazy?

DO THIS

Get a bottle of Noxacorn and put on a tiny drop. Pain relieves almost immediately—and after a short treatment you can pick off the corn! Noxacorn is a new, safe liquid, also good for callus and warts. Noxacorn's quick action is due to its 6 ingredients, including pure castor oil, iodine and a substance related to aspirin. Easy to use—and safe . . . tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. Noxacorn is guaranteed to do the job or druggist hands back your money. 60 applications. Noxacorn costs only 35¢.

Astrologer Coming To Walker's

Dorothy Lamour, film and radio star, above, is seen as Norvell, famous astrologer to the movie stars, reads her future. Norvell will appear in person on the stage at Walker's Thursday and Friday, February 16 and 17, to answer questions asked by those attending the show.

Jaysee Engineers Plan Journey

Members of the Association of American Engineers, Santa Ana junior college organization, will journey to San Bernardino and vicinity Wednesday, February 15, where they will inspect the San Jacinto aqueduct and Santa Fe railroad shops, Ted Rischard, club president, revealed at last night's meeting. Previous expeditions have taken the group to Parker dam and the Metropolitan aqueduct.

Guest of the evening was John Ramirez, former jaysee student, who is now attending at the University of Southern California. Ramirez addressed the club on the subject "Engineering Life at the University."

New officers-elect are Ted Rischard, president; Warren Hall, vice president; John Henderson, recording secretary; Harold Richards, business secretary; Thompson McNeal, treasurer, and Robert Horseman, publicity manager.

Three 'n Twenty Club Celebrates

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 9.—The 17th birthday annivehsary of the Three 'n Twenty club was celebrated on Tuesday evening with the husbands as special guests at a chicken dinner in the Rossmore Hotel in Santa Ana. Valentine motif was carried out in the centerpiece of red and white runnuculus and sweet peas and tall tapers. Nut cups and place cards were also in the Valentine theme.

The dinner committee consisted of Mrs. W. W. Perkins, who acted as mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. C. G. Crosby. An original poem which had been written by Mrs. Crosby describing each member was read by Mrs. Perkins. Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, president of the club, gave the address of welcome and introduced her officers for the year. F. A. Monroe responded for the husbands. A feature of the entertainment was a recording record of a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Holt telling of the members 20 years hence.

After games of Chinese checkers prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, M. R. Sprinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lamb.

Astrologer For Movie Stars Coming to S. A.

"There's a possibility of separation from your husband." Such is the news predicted for Dorothy Lamour, screen and radio star, by Norvell, famous as an astrologer to movie stars, who will appear on Walker's stage soon.

"Owing to conflictions in Miss Lamour's chart, there is evidence to show that a separation is likely within the next six months," said Norvell who, according to reports, has gained a reputation for being 90 per cent correct in his predictions about movie stars. "Miss Lamour's chart reveals another marriage on the horizon of her future. It will be to some one connected with the picture industry and will last and be a great success. Miss Lamour will continue successfully in pictures."

Norvell, it was reported, predicted Thelma Todd's mysterious death, Will Rogers' airplane accident and death, Mary Pickford's divorce and re-marriage, the 1933 earthquake here and the present war disturbances in Europe. Norvell will appear in person on Walker's stage Thursday and Friday, February 16 and 17 at both matinee and evening performances, and at all appearances will answer questions for those attending.

Kiwanians Hear Peace Officer

BUENA PARK, Feb. 9.—Twenty-three members and guests enjoyed dinner at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club House. Thomas R. McGoff of the Whittier police department was the guest speaker presented by Rolland Upton, program chairman. His subject was, "The Crime Situation in the U. S." He told of his experiences during his 19 years of service, explaining how he had made this work a hobby as well as a job. He displayed a number of interesting pictures he had taken in connection with his work.

An invitation wa sextended by Anaheim visiting Kiwanis to Buena Park Kiwanis and wives for February 20, a Kiwanis division meeting, at which time governor Harry Lane of San Gabriel will be a guest.

Announcement was made of new song books, arranged by songleader Karl Brenner and pianist N. Duden.

Order Survey Of Water System

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 9.—The water department purchase committee of the city council will start immediately on a survey of the condition of the Southern California Water company's system as a step toward the purchase of the system by the city.

A committee consisting of Councilman Lee Chamness, T. B. Talbert and A. L. Henrickson were appointed by Mayor M. M. McCallen to make a survey. The committee will select an engineer to make an investigation of the system.

It is proposed to use the $25,000 received from the Southwest Expolation company for the purchase should the city decide to buy the water system.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

GALAXY OF STARS TO ATTEND MEET

The greatest galaxy of film stars ever assembled will swell the crowd at Santa Anita Monday when a special card of eight races will be run for the benefit of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation and the American Red Cross, according to a canvass of the studios.

Joe E. Brown, Alice Faye, Bing Crosby, Loretta Young, Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Charlie McCarthy, Warner Baxter, William Powell, Richard Greene, and other film greats will expert each race and their selections will be available to fans who care to follow their favorite screen stars' hunches. Scores of other stars will be present.

Garland of Flowers

Annabella, French-American luminary of screen and stage, will decorate the winner of the "Red Cross" handicap with a garland of flowers.

A "March of Dimes" sweepstake will also be featured. Among the other races scheduled is a "Santa Ana" special.

A large delegation of local enthusiasts is expected to attend the Charity Day, all the proceeds of which will go to alleviate human suffering and to restore full use of limbs to infantile paralysis victims.

Another Play To Be Selected

Unable to cast a feminine lead for George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," Ernest Crozier Phillips, jaysee drama department head, today announced that another play will be selected for the 12th annual Santa Ana junior college fiesta.

Following a week of try-outs and informal rehearsals in an attempt to find a suitable group of players, Phillips despaired today, having searched the student body for a young woman capable of properly handling the delicate stellar role. Choice of a different production now faces the drama department, to be followed by more try-outs.

Phillips' play, when finally presented, will conclude the day's activities when high school students from Santa Ana and neighboring communities visit the local college for the yearly May Spanish celebration.

LASH-STEWART CO., 506 No. Broadway. Lash-Stewart Co. is presenting in their store continuous from Tuesday, Feb. 14 to Friday, Feb. 17, Alice Richey, the noted astrologer and author, with Kazi the magician and Butler, the radio wizard. You will be given a free character analysis and any important question you have will be answered.

—B-A—

LA GRACE SHOP, 413 North Sycamore street. The time is almost here again, when we all take off for the beach at the faintest sign of warm weather. Of course, we gals want to look our best even in the sand. We like the up and coming slacks at the LaGrace Shop. They really "pack a lot of charm" in their tailored folds.

—B-A—

OLD FASHIONED Dances, American Legion Hall, Birch street between Third and Fourth. Everyone is looking forward to the opening of real, real old time dances, Tuesday, February 14, in the American Legion Hall. These dances which will be held every Tuesday from this date on, are sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Laub. Gardenia corsages will be given every lady on the opening night.

—B-A—

ATLAS CLEANERS, Third and Sycamore streets. It is our belief that the sooner you have your clothes cleaned for spring, the more springy you'll feel. We know that sounds like a bad pun, but it is true that the sooner you begin thinking about spring, the sooner it arrives. With spring vacation not far in the offing, it is wise to have your clothes cleaned now at the Atlas.

—B-A—

McGIMPSEY'S, Sycamore entrance to the Grand Central market. Just for the good of your tummy, treat yourself to some of the delicious pickled figs at McGimpsey's. They are home made by Mrs. McGimpsey and sell in pints or quarts. The pints are priced at 40c while the quarts sell for 75c. Us, we just love them.

ARCADE Remnant Shop, 515 North Broadway. Dress up for the afternoons. Oh, we don't mean an expensive silk frock, but a gay little print in wash material. You really must go in and see the many bright spring colors in washables that the Arcade Remnant Shop is showing now. We liked them very, very much.

—B-A—

HART'S, 306 North Sycamore street. Gracious sakes, we just know we are going to take up sewing, when we can get such beautiful materials as there are at Hart's. The taffeta's for formals are a treat to any eye. They come in colors, turquoise blue, dusty rose, light copper, white and red. Shades magenta, chartreuse, gold and French purple are in transit.

—B-A—

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP, 316 West Fourth street. Spring shopping is wearing on shoes. We know! Shoes need to be doctored the same as people do. At the Electric Shoe Shop you can get wonderful results in half soles, heel caps, cleaning and just anything in the shoe repair line. All work is guaranteed.

—B-A—

STEIN'S, 307 West Fourth street. The cleverest Valentines ever. Yes, the other day we went into Stein's to look over their Valentine array and we thought we would never get over our fascination. They have cards for this holiday that suits most any person. We advise you to go in today so you will be sure and get a good selection.

-B-A—

SCOTTIE'S, 2209 North Main street. A special treat is in store for you at Scottie's. To celebrate St. Valentine's day this malt shop has prepared a special Valentine sundae. It is made with strawberry ice cream, topped with hot fudge, which has as decoration tiny peppermint hearts all over the top. It is priced at 15c. Try it.

—B-A—

RUTHERFORD'S, 515 East First street. Hear! Hear! Rutherford's are again giving to the public a super corset sale. This time this shop is having a reduction of 10 per cent off on all Gossard garments in their shop. Now isn't that grand! Those of you who missed out on their last corset sale, must hurry down now to take advantage of this new offer. Gossard garments include corsets, corselettes, girdles and Miss Simplicity's. A Gossard garment not only cancels figure faults but corrects them. Let a Gossard improve your figure.

DAN DEE Factory Shoe Repair Shop, 422 North Sycamore street. Colors change for spring. If you had a brown pair of shoes for winter have them dyed blue for the coming summer season. Shoes are dyed any color at the Dan Dee for 75c. If you want your shoes dyed black, this is done for 50c. Ladies shoes changed from suede to leather, 50c. Remember the address, 422 North Sycamore street.

—B-A—

SWANSON'S DRIVE INN, 1807 North Main street. You know, Swanson's really is an ideal place to take the family. The children will love the bright and cheerful atmosphere of this drive inn. By the way, did you know that this restaurant will fix you really personality luncheon for that party. This consists of all the special little trimmings that makes a meal so complete. We are so fond of their chicken dinners it is hard to write about anything else. They do have all kinds of luncheons from 35c and up. All the food at Swanson's is really outstanding. We say try it today.

—B-A—

CALIFORNIA PATIO POTTERY SHOP, 414 West Fourth street. Always and always we have believed there is no gift like pottery. The Coralitos pottery at this shop is exquisite. The 32-piece set is priced at $10.95. This comes in the lovely shades of dubonnet, coral, cielieto blue, verdugo green, dorado yellow and mission ivory.

—B-A—

WASHINGTON CLEANERS AND DYERS, 1109 North Main street. Phone 4944. It's formal cleaning time. We say to you gals—get out your party frock and take it, hurry up quick, to the Washington, 'cause you never can tell just when you might need it. All the cleaning at this establishment is absolutely guaranteed. The Washington gives your dress personal attention. Do not experiment with home cleaning. Take it to cleaners that through years of study are familiar with cleaning problems.

—B-A—

EDDIE'S, 409 North Broadway. We just can't resist it. What? Well lunching at Eddie's, of course. Honestly, they have the most scrumptious luncheons you have ever tasted. Mmm, their cream pies are delicious. When we are down town we make Eddie's our headquarters. You see we meet our friends there and at the same time pick up a delicious snack of food.

—B-A—

TREASURE ISLE GIFT SHOP, 506 North Main street. Did you know that you can buy really clever Valentines with envelopes for a penny? Well, you can at the Treasure Isle. Mechanical Valentines are 2 for 5c while others are priced at 5c, 10c, 15c and 25c. This shop has Valentines for the whole family.

KATHERINE'S, 422 North Broadway. We were astonished, no less. Do you know what, Katherine's is conducting a extra super sale for one week only, and including spring merchandise in it. Many of the chic new dresses and suits I have described in previous columns will be on sale. Dobb's hats are included in this store wide reduction. Some prices are less than half. Hurry!

—B-A—

STAN McPHERRIN, Men's Wear, 515 North Main street. The news Santa Ana has been waiting for. The new fabrics for spring have just arrived at Stan's. The materials are so nice. They have that quality look. We say to you men, go in and order your suit or sports coat now. You will be more than satisfied with the results if you have your clothes made at Stan McPherrin's.

—B-A—

RANKIN'S, Fourth and Sycamore streets. For gifts or prizes we suggest you investigate the new chinese articles shown at Rankin's gift counter. They have ash trays, candelabrums, figurines, vases and various other decorative accessories. Any of these articles give color to a room and break up uninteresting expanses of space.

—B-A—

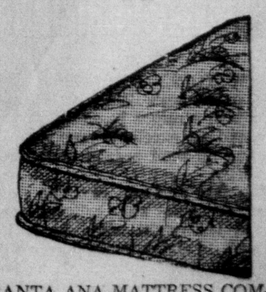

WOMEN'S Exchange Shop, 120 North Sycamore street. Always a customer for something really novel in the picture line, we are afraid our wishes were bigger than our pocketbook when we saw the clever pictures displayed at this store. We bought not one, but several. Anyhoo, we know our room is really going to look swanky. Oh yes, they have the prettiest table linens here, too.

—B-A—

WIESSEMAN'S, 420 North Main street. Vollrath Kook King enamelware is selling now at Wiesseman's for one-third off. Now is certainly the time to stock up on cooking utensils. This ware you may still obtain on sale in this famous brand of enamelware are covered saucepans, covered sauce pots, casseroles and tea kettles. They come in colors, green, red and ivory.

—B-A—

SANTA ANA MATTRESS COMPANY, 411 East Fourth street. Phone 948. A gift for the missus. We believe we have gift suggestions that every man will thank us for, and every woman receiving one will rejoice. Yes, we mean a mattress. The kind of mattress you can really snuggle up on, like the custom built innerspring mattresses at the Santa Ana Mattress Co. This is a practical, and yet well received Valentine gift. You can have your old mattress rebuilt with innersprings at this same concern. Phone them today.

THE PERSONAL COLUMN

Wedding bells are ringing for Darwin (Scottie) Scott, the North Main street drive-in restaurateur. He's the Elk baseball man. The lady is Aurea Bisson, 25, of Orange. . . . Fountain Grove, which raced in the interest of the Macaroo stable of Huntington Beach, has been shipped to the farm of C. M. Rudd, the oil man . . .

They're even taking baseball seriously up at jaysee now. Ray Ortiz, star catcher from San Diego hi, enrolled at mid-year and may bring along his kid brother, an ace pitcher. . . . Another February joiner-upper was Lyndle Gheen, all-Orange league tackle at Brea-Olinda in '37. Gheen tied for first in the pole vault at 11:9 in the all-conference track meet. . . .

Lanky Doug Wheeler, Fullerton's latest gift to baseball, leaves soon for Bartow, Fla. to work out with Indianapolis of the American association. Wheeler hit .359 at Mayodan, an Indianapolis farm, last summer. A pitcher in his scholastic days, Wheeler is now a southpaw first baseman. . . Santa Anita must crack a daily "nut" of $60,000 to operate. The track has about 2000 employes. . . .

Bart Cox, captain of the famed '21 Saint football squad, will fly the first of American Airlines' new type sleeper ships from Fort Worth, Tex., to Los Angeles. The new planes come in March 15. Cox flies every five days on that run. . . . Basketball sharps are saying that Fullerton's Tom Keesey and Chaffey's Bob Doll are the classiest forwards ever to operate in the Eastern Jaysee conference. Keesey will be seen here against the Dons Feb. 24 . . . Al Schulz of Anaheim won the all-events from about 500 bowlers in a divisional tournament just completed at Torrance and Compton. The veteran aggregated more than 2000 for his nine games, including his handicap. . . .

"Louie Neva, nee Novikoff, who is better known as a lightning-like softball pitcher than a slugging outfielder, will play right field (for Los Angeles) this season, his third in organized baseball." writes Bob Hunter in the Examiner. "In his first year in 1937 Neva was second among the league hitters while at Ponca City, breaking an ankle in mid season to cut down his year's average. Last year Neva advanced to Moline in the Three-I league and led the circuit in everything but attendance.

"The slugging 190-pounder is taking a long jump from Class B to Class AA, but Hannah is confident the kid has the stuff and is counting on him for right field. Neva is a splendid thrower and fairly fast. The fact that Lou is being counted on to shove Johnny Moore back to the bench shows how highly he is regarded."

Promoter Harry Lowis expects to feature "Hard-Boiled" Haggerty at the Orange County Athletic club next Monday. Haggerty has never wrestled here. . . . The fifth race at Santa Anita yesterday was to have been the Fullerton Handicap. The race was scratched; too wet. . . . Either our Dons are getting good or the Broadway Clowns are over-rated. The colored boys were lucky to take the Dons last night. But for some sloppy passing in the fourth quarter the jaysee would have won handily. And to think the Clowns just beat Santa Barbara State! . . . Broken football relations between Santa Ana and Long Beach jaysees are about to be patched up. Coach Bill Cook of the Dons has tentatively given the Vikings a game in the Bowl Nov. 10.

PORTER'S MITE GIVEN 126 FOR 'SAN VICENTE'

BY TOM GWYNNE
(Register Track Correspondent)

Porter's Mite outranks Santa Anita's crack array of 3-year-olds from six to 26 pounds, according to the weights released today by Racing Secretary Webb Everett for Saturday's seven-furlong $10,000 added San Vicente Handicap. Of course, this estimate, whether or not correct, is based upon sprint form, and the big event of the winter—the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby—is at a mile and an eighth.

Everett gave the W. E. Boeing star 126 pounds, or 11 pounds more than the scale. Xalapa Clown was second in the adjustments with 120; then comes Our Mat 118, Time Alone 117, Yale o' Nine 114, Black Bun 112, Impound 112, Sweet Nancy 112, Sabariel 110, Roman Hero 110, Hysterical 108, Touch and Go 108, Atavistic 107, Morning Breeze 107, Bubbling Boy 107, Hy Camp 106, Teddy Kerry 105, Matchup 104, Race Riot 102, First Port 102, and Grey Nurse 100.

Porter's Mite, a powerfully made son of The Porter, has proved a good weight packer to date, having captured the six-furlong Santa Maria Stakes—his only start here—under 123 pounds. That effort failed to tax him appreciably, as he simply breezed around his field, winning going away.

The only important contender in Saturday's "Derby review," who is not a Derby candidate, is William Ziegler's Our Mat. A workmate for El Chico last summer, his prowess was overshadowed by his flashy stablemate.

Provided the track is fast Saturday, and the weather expert is predicting clear skies for several days, virtually all of the top-ranking colts are expected to accept the issue in the San Vicente.

* * *

Santa Anita's faithful were treated to winter scenes yesterday as snow fell in the mountains close at hand, and a momentary gusty shower brought a touch of hail to the course. The heavy rain the night before caused the cancellaton of the Seabiscuit-Marica-War Minstrel race.

Seabiscuit, in lieu of the race, worked a mile with his stablemate, Kayak II. They stepped along head and head in the mud to the eighth pole, then Kayak drew out, winding up a length in front at the finish in 1:41 3/5.

* * *

Jacola, 3-year-old champion filly of last year, and the crack Thanksgiving, arrived today from Columbia, S. C. Both stars will be pointed for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

The whereabouts of Cravat, supposedly en route here from Florida, was not known by track attaches. He, too, was expected today, but there seems to have been a slight slip-up in the shipping schedule.

* * *

HERE AND THERE: Tom Taggart, owner of Marica, Yale o' Nine and War Magic, is expected to arrive here shortly to watch his stars perform. Yale o' Nine, incidentally, has completely recovered from the cough which retarded his early training . . . Jungo, a favorite yesterday, could not trot, pace nor gallop, as they say . . . George Woolf still remains first choice with Trainer Tom Smith for Seabiscuit in the big race, but it looks as if the Louis B. Mayer stable will send Main Man after the $100,000, and thus Woolf will have to ride him . . . Adventurer, the full brother of Discovery who cost Alfred Vanderbilt $20,000 as a yearling, probably won't get to the races this winter. His debut has been postponed half a doze.i times because of one slight set-back or another.

TODAY'S SELECTIONS

1—Repsac, Kiloise, Wedding Call.

2—Sky Breeze, Bon Amour, Dolicia Boy.

3—King Cotton, Play Pence, Teddy's Girl.

6—Naseberry, Galley Slave, Count Eleven.

8—Silver Sarah, Yarn Sox, Au Man.

APOSTOLI 7-5 OVER CONN IN NEW YORK

BY HENRY SUPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The same two men will be in the same ring belaboring each other under the same white lights of Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, but because the distance is 15 rounds instead of 10, Fred Apostoli is the favorite today to beat young Billy Conn, who took the decision over the shorter route last month.

The odds-makers are laying 7-5 on Frisco Fred because Conn, gangling Irishman from Pittsburgh, looked pretty well exhausted after 10 heats in their previous encounter.

Apostoli's record in return scraps also might have something to do with this feeling because the ex-bellhop from the West Coast appears invincible the second time out.

As he rested today, Apostoli, recognized as middleweight champion of the world in New York state, said "Conn fooled me with that left but he didn't hurt me, and I think it is going to be a different story over 15 rounds. I was just geeting warmed up when the other fight ended."

Conn sees no more reason for Apostoli to win this fight than the first one, explaining "they claim I was tired at the end of 10 rounds. Well, don't forget I was in there for 10 rounds against a good man, and I rated myself accordingly. This fight is for 15 rounds. I've trained for that distance, and I'm in shape to go at top speed all the way."

This is expected to be Conn's last fight before he begins campaigning in the light-heavyweight division. He already weighs 168. His manager already is angling for a bout with Melio Bettina, who is recognized in this state as 175-pound titleholder by virtue of his kayo of Tiger Jack Fox.

EXPECT LOUIS AND ROPER TO DRAW HEAVILY

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—Cecil Byron Hammond, a middle-aged gent who works at the boxing trade in these parts under the name of Jack Roper, will be the next innocent to bite the canvas under the sledge-hammer blows of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

The bout between Hammond (or Roper) and Louis (or Barrow) has been arranged for this city April 24, and will be held either in Wrigley field or the Coliseum, depending on which has the quickest seating arrangement. No customer can afford to be late for this one unless he be an ambulance chaser and all he wants to do is follow Roper to the hospital.

Gallery Is Local Rickard

Negotiations for the fight (hear! hear!) were handled by Tom Gallery, a local Tex Rickard, and Mike Jacobs of New York, the bwana of bop who holds the leash on Louis. Roper was notified that he had been tapped for tapping by the champion while at the Universal movie studio where he is an electrician and extra player. He recently completed a part in a picture starring Irene Dunne, and it is said that it was his familiarity with stars that prompted Gallery and Jacobs to assign him to supporting role with Louis.

Roper, a brother of that fine fighter of another day, Capt. Bob Roper, has been fighting, off and on, since 1928. He has retired more often than John McCormack. Whenever the fistic pickings got lean he would resume his career as an electrician and actor. Since 1936, however, when he flattened Art Lasky in a round, he has been going to the wars steadily and has been such fellows as Patsy Perroni, Jorge Brescia, Eddie Simms and Bob Nestell. His next appearance will be against the Oklahoma Indian, Junior Munsell, at the Hollywood Legion stadium tomorrow night. After hearing the news that he was to fight Louis, Roper said he would knock out Munsell in three rounds, which isn't exactly a mad promise, being as three rounds is only about one under par for the Munsell course.

Depends On Louis

Given his share of the breaks, Roper should last well into the second minute of the first round with Louis. He might even last until the third minute if Louis happens to be brushed with sympathy at the sight of the game, battle-scarred old warhorse coming out in the fact of insurmountable odds. Like Tony Galento, all Roper has is a terrific left hand punch. Jack Really can belt with his left fist. He hit Nestell with it in the first round a few weeks ago and Bob toppled for keeps. Roper is a fairly cagey boxer but when a man reaches the age where, when he blows out the candles on his birthday cake they throw off enough smoke to smudge an orange grove during a cold spell, he doesn't figure to have sufficient speed or strength to elude the swift, sure Louis.

The fight will make money, though. The rejuvenated Roper is the most popular boxer in Southern California and the customers will come out to watch the veteran try to land a 1000 to 1 shot punch. Louis will be a tremendout drawing card in these parts. He has shown here but once, and that was in 1935 before he gained the heavyweight title. He knocked out Lee Ramage

HAWKEYE

Perhaps a horse knows heartache, too,
Each time he changes hands—
Man only knows he still stays true,
To racing's high command!

"Just as a gallant thoroughbred takes everything in stride," chuckeled the noted maestro of the turf, "so does the great Hawkeye," he concluded modestly. A "killing" was frustrated yesterday when his astute play, Open Door, was scratched.

The astute play for today: $2 straight on Star Shadow in the seventh.

GIANTS-DODGER FEUD ON LEVEL

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK—Sparks from the Hot Stove League:

There's a real feud between Larry MacPhail, guiding light of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Bill Terry, noble leader of the New York Giants . . . When Terry cracked that he'd like to have Van Mungo, the Dodgers' temperamental pitcher who is balking at the 66 per cent cut the club gave him, MasPhail accused Terry of trying to make his player tougher to sign . . . Then MacPhail came right back by saying he'd take Harry Danning in a deal for Mungo and pay the Giants' receiver double what Terry paid him . . .

MacPhail says Mungo will never be a successful pitcher until he changes his attitude toward baseball and the Brooklyn club in particular . . . Laughing Larry says Mungo received $100 last year for every inning he pitched and $2000 for every game he won. And adds that Mungo has collected $27,600 in salary in two years and hasn't finished a season with the Dodgers in three years.

Phils Get Colorful Rookie

The Phillies have one of the year's most colorful rookies coming up in Jinx Poindexter, a wild and woolly Texan . . . Poindexter had a brief trial with the Red Sox but Joe Cronin sent him back to the Southern association when he chased a steward off a dining car with a butcher knife . . . "Doc" Prothro, Phils' new boss, had Poindexter under him in the Southern association and says he knows he can pitch if he'll just behave . . . "He weighs only 165 pounds but he can really fire that apple in there," says Prothro. . . .

Leo Durocher, Dodgers' pilot, says 90 games will win the National league flag . . . Brooklyn officials are hailing Whit Wyatt, who won 23 and lost 7 for Milwaukee, as the greatest pitcher coming up from the minors and another Dazzy Vance . . . But others call Wyatt just a minor league star who can't win in the majors . . "He'll be back in Milwaukee in July," says Al Horwits, the Philadelphia scribe noted for his snappy toggery * * * The five players on the Phillies the contenders are trying to buy are Pitchers Hugh Mulchay, Claude Passeau, Al Hollingsworth, and Max Butcher and Outfielder Hershel Martin . . .

Watch Craft of Reds

Harry Craft, Cincinnati center fielder, is being touted as the player most likely to reach stardom this season. Several bets have been made by the experts that he'll add 30 points to his batting average. He had more putouts than any other National league outfielder last season and is considered one of the classiest center fielders since Ed Roush's day . . . Ethan Allen, former big leaguer, is one of the few who thinks Bill Terry got the better of the Frank Demaree-Hank Leiber angle for the Cubs-Giants three-for-three deal.

A popular bet these days among the baseball writers is that you can't pick the clubs which will occupy the first five places in the National league race and you don't have to pick the order of finish . . . George Myatt, Giants' rookie third baseman, is being touted as the fastest man to come up in years and likely to steal 35 bases. He stole 10 last year in 43 games.

MONOPOLY ALMOST

Northwestern's water polo team nine times out of the last 13 years has won or tied for the Big Ten championship.

JAYSEE SQUAD AT CITRUS FOR LEAGUE GAME

New York's Broadway Clowns had no time to clown last night because Santa Ana jaysee's Dons forced the issue all the way before dropping a thrilling 40-39 double overtime game in Tustin gym.

Jumping into an early lead, the collegians probably played their best basketball of the season. They led the highly touted Negroes 8-0 at the quarter, 15-7 at the half and 24-23 at the three-quarter mark. At the end of the regulation time the teams were tied at 30-30. The first overtime period ended 35-35, making another session necessary.

S. A. Favored at Citrus

Coach Bill Cook's Dons travel to Citrus tonight for their fourth Eastern conference start. Heavily favored over the Owls, the Santa Anans are not expected to take any chances after their tough struggle with the Clowns. The same team that started last night will get the call at Citrus, Cook said.

Played before a capacity crowd of 700 which paid $150, the Don-Clown struggle probably set a "home game" attendance record for basketball.

With the start of the first overtime period, free throws made the score 31-31. Hall dumped in a long one to give the Dons a temporary edge but Pullins dropped one in from mid-court for the Negroes to tie it up at 33-33. Russ Deardon came up with a sensational overhand shot from the foul circle to send the Dons out in front 35-33, but Guard Brown was fouled under the basket and made good on both shots.

Set-Ups Sew Up Contest

The second overtime started with Brime making good on a foul shot to send the Clowns out in front 36-35. Hall's goal gave the Dons a temporary 37-36 lead. Two rapid fire shots, both setups under the basket by Pullins and Mathews, sewed up the ball game for the Clowns. A last minute field goal by Bob Schildmeyer for Santa Ana brought the score to 39-40.

Santa Ana (39)		(40) Broadway Clowns
Hall (11)	F	(10) Pullins
Deardon (12)	F	(4) Mathews
Schildmeyer (7)	C	(2) Morrison
Heinisch (2)	G	(10) Brime
Monroy (2)	G	(10) Brime

Score by Periods

Santa Ana	8	7	9	6	5	4	—39
Broadway Clowns	0	7	16	7	5	5	—40

Substitutions: Santa Ana— Pascal, Flitten (2), Reid, Holan, Stafford (2), Tway (1), Borden. Broadway Clowns—Parker (4).

S. C.-TULANE GRID SERIES IS RUMORED

NEW ORLEANS. — Tulane, which played U. S. C. in the 1932 Rose Bowl game, is angling for a home-and-home football series with the Trojans, it was reported here today.

Pretty Deadly

Marjorie Bates, of the University of Oregon, led a team of 14 coed marksmen to victory over a squad of men at a recent university shoot. Her score was 196x200.

GALENTO-FARR BOUT BREWING

NEW YORK—(UP)—The Tony Galento-Tommy Farr bout abrewing today looks like the builder-upper for a Galento-Louis heavyweight title match about the time the World's Fair crowds begin rolling here in June.

Except that Tonypandy Tommy is the only available opponent in a bad crop of heavies, there is but one thing that recommends him as a medium for boosting Galento's titular hopes. The Welshman is a crowd pleaser. He gives the customers a run for their money. He never has won a fight in this country, but he never has been knocked out and he is always throwing a lot of punches when the final bell rings. He usually gets the winner's share of the cheers.

Promoter Herman (Muggsy) Taylor, of Philadelphia, who has Galento's services tied up for five years, has offered to release him for a match against Farr, Max Baer or Lou Nova under Mike Jacob's promotion.

Baer and Nova fight here May 25 so they are out.

For two weeks Farr has had passage booked to England on a boat sailing tomorrow, and his manager, Joe Gould, insists that Tommy will be abroad because of law suits pending against him at home. Taylor told Jacobs that even if Farr chose to make the trip he could be back in time for a March 31 meeting.

Jacobs is "thinking it over" as far as the public is concerned, but sources close to the fight game believe the match is made and that Promoter Mike is waiting until after the Billy Conn-Fred Apostoli bout in the Garden Friday night to make the announcement. He apparently is willing to match them if he can get Farr to remain in this country or return immediately.

NO REDUCTION PROPOSED FOR 1939 SCHEDULE

SACRAMENTO—(UP)— Claude Parker, newly-appointed member of the state horse racing board, said today that he believed the number of days of racing permitted at California tracks should be reduced.

Parker and Edward R. Young, both of Los Angeles, were sworn in as members of the board by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, in a brief ceremony at the governor's offfice. They were appointed by Gov. Culbert Olson several days ago.

"In my personal opinion it would be better for breeders and better for the people generally if the number of dates were reduced," Parker said. He added, however, that he understood dates for 1939 have already been assigned and licenses issued, so any adjustment of racing schedules at the various tracks would not be possible until next year.

Parker said he and Young would meet with Henry Potter Russell, holdover member of the board, in the near future

Jo-Jo White To Retire From Baseball, Claim

DETROIT.—Joyner (Jo-Jo) White, former Detroit Tiger outfielder, said today he had decided to quit baseball and devote all of his time to a job in a Detroit automobile plant.

He is the property of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, having been traded by the Tigers several months ago in the transaction that brought Fred Hutchinson, young Seattle pitching sensation, into the Detroit fold.

LACY'S 30 POINTS WRECK 'GAS HOUSE'

Dropping 30 counters to defeat the Southern Counties Gas company single-handed, Tom Lacy brought the league-leading Neal's Sporting Goods five to a 72-29 victory last night at the Y.M.C.A.

In the first game of the evening the Eltiste International Truckmen trounced the Barr Lumber company 35-23.

ITALY WOULD BID FOR 1940 OLYMPICS

ROME—(UP) — The Italian Olympic committee counsel met today to discuss bidding for the 1944 games.

Italy wanted the 1940 games, but in the last minute voting swung to Japan with the understanding Japanese delegates would reciprocate with their ballots in 1944.

LONG ISLAND FIVE HUMBLES DUQUESNE

NEW YORK—(UP)—Long Island university's Blackbirds had their 14th straight basketball victory and an excellent prospect of winding up their season undefeated today.

The last serious obstacle on their schedule was believed removed last night when L. I. U. outmanned and outclassed an overrated Duquesne five, 48-31, before 14,995 in Madison Square Garden.

During October, 1938, new passenger car registrations in 43 states totaled 94,533.

Trades, New Rules Open Pro Grid Meet

CHICAGO — (UP)—Football's ivory mart opens today as officials of National Professional Football league clubs begin four days of rules discussions which may wind up in the briskest trading session in years.

All the rule changes scheduled to come up could be settled in a half hour, leaving nearly four full days to bicker over prices and trading material.

Every club in the league reportedly has a player deal in mind.

Of the veterans, Cleveland's John Drake may be the most sought after. Drake for two years has been the hardest running back in the league. For two years Cleveland has turned down offer after offer but "Dutch" Clark is in charge now and may use Drake to get more new players for rebuilding purposes.

Pittsburgh also was said to be after three former Pitt stars, now the property of the Chicago Cardinals. Marshall Goldberg and Bill Daddio came to the Cards in the draft and Frank Patrick, former Pitt fullback, made good last year.

The two new collegiate rules involving ineligible pass receivers likely will be adopted, but the prs have an even more important problem of their own to iron out.

Stalling hit a new high last year and became so bad in one game the man who first tried it became disgusted. George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, admitted he first had his players claim fake injuries in final minutes of a game two years ago so officials would grant him extra time out periods after his own allotted number had expired.

"We tried it in a few games last year and once we almost beat Cleveland in those extra seconds. But that sort of football should be legislated against. Either we can increase the number of legal time out periods or put teeth in the present rule which allows the referee to determine whether a player is able to continue."

Halas is chairman of the rules committee.

One other proposal was advanced by "Dutch" Clark, new coach of the Cleveland Rams, who suggested the team scored upon be given the third option of changing goals.

Joe F. Carr, veteran president of the league, called the first meeting to order at noon. Only routine business was scheduled in the opening meeting, although officials of the Los Angeles Bulldogs may present an application for membership.

Westminster Votes On School Bond Issue Tomorrow

LISTER RITES ARE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Henry M. Lister, 71-year-old Santa Ana real estate operator, who was a victim of monoxide poisoning at his home, 1003 North Flower street, Saturday morning, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Smith and Tuthill funeral chapel.

The Rev. Perry Schrock of the First Congregational church officiated and interment followed at Westminster Memorial park.

Born In Canada

Mr. Lister was born in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, in 1867, became a gold prospector in British Columbia after graduation from Victoria college. Tiring of the bacon and beans diet of a prospector, he returned east and, in search of new adventures and a milder climate, shipped on a tramp steamer to Jamaica, later going to England, France and southern Germany. In Germany, he met and married Gretschen Schmidt.

On St. Paul Dispatch

The newlyweds made their home in Montreal for several years before moving to St. Paul, Minn. where Mr. Lister was on the editorial staff of the St. Paul Dispatch for 14 years. In 1921, the family moved to Costa Mesa where Mr. Lister dealt in real estate. In his leisure time, his hobby was chess. Many of his Orange county friends enjoyed his dry wit and ability to extract humor from almost any situation. He moved to Santa Ana following the death of his wife in 1934. Among survivors are on daughter, Mrs. V. A. Tripp, Newport Beach, and two sons, H. M. Lister jr., Sacramento, and J. E. Lister, of Santa Ana.

Gypsies Read "Fortune," Also Take Fortune!

Two soft-spoken Gypsy women, one wearing her hair in Madonna style, read the "fortune" of Mrs. Benita Sanchez, resident of the Santa Fe section house, Tuesday and took her fortune, too, according to her report to Santa Ana police yesterday.

During the reading and while she was blind-folded as a part of the "ceremony", the callers took $300 cash from a hiding place at the Sanchez home.

Gain Confidence

The pair first asked Mrs. Sanchez where "Maria" lived, gained her confidence, asked to read her fortune for 10 cents. She knew of no "Maria" but agreed to help the "poor women." During the "ceremony," the pair asked Mrs. Sanchez to get an egg and glass of water. While she was blind-folded and was being blessed by the Gypsies, and after they rubbed her eyes with the egg, they showed her a bug which had been extracted from her body and would relieve her of her illness. Yesterday she also found they had relieved her of 30 $10 bills.

One woman was described as 30 years old, having dark eyes and complexion, and wearing long grey coat, the other as about 20, also dark. The younger woman had large, innocent-looking eyes and long, beautiful eyelashes, Mrs. Sanchez said. Both were tall and slender.

Project Workers In Labor Row

REDDING, Cal., Feb. 9.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations board today was investigating a CIO-AFL jurisdictional dispute here among workers on the Pacific highway relocation project near Delta, Cal., while both unions maintained large numbers of pickets.

Earl Neal of San Francisco, representing the labor board, was called in after 20 or 24 employes of the United Concrete company voted CIO affiliation despite a contract previously signed with the AFL. Construction was halted until the election and names a bargaining agency.

DAMAGE SUIT TRIED

A suit brought by Earl Hall, asking $7944 damages against C. E. Walker and Walker's State theater in Santa Ana, for injuries Hall claims to have received last July 27 when he stumbled and fell in the aisle of the theater, was being heard today before Superior Judge Franklin G. West. Attorney N. D. Meyer is counsel for Hall, Attorneys Fred Forgy and Clarence Sprague appearing for the defense.

Plays Lead

Feminine lead in the benefit play Midway City Woman's club Thursday, February 16, will be taken by Mrs. Vida Pryor, shown here, a past president of the club. The vehicle in which Mrs. Pryor is starring is entitled "Gone Modern" and is a three-act comedy farce which is being directed by Mrs. Mayme Schuth.

BEACH PLAYGROUND PLANS ADVANCED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 9.—Establishment of a state park on 10,000 feet of beach frontage east of this city may be accomplished through the purchase of the site by the state providing the City of Huntington Beach and the County of Orange can provide police and life guard protection and take care of the upkeep.

Councilman Lee Chamness and T. B. Talbert were appointed by Mayor M. M. McCallen to confer with Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel regarding the matter. This action was taken after a letter was received from John Covington, secretary of the State Division of Lands, which asked for an expression from the city council. A like request will be made from the Orange county board of supervisors, it was reported.

Purchase of the 10,000 feet of Beach frontage by the city would make one of the largest beach playgrounds in the Southland since the site is a continuation of the municipal beach playgrounds near the pier.

Kimmell Heads Humane Society

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 9.—Leslie F. Kimmell continues as president of the Laguna Beach Humane society, following re-election Monday afternoon. C. A. van Loenen is vice-president; Councilman Randolph Bainbridge, treasurer, and Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, secretary. Matters of interest to the four-legged section of Laguna's heterogeneous population were discussed, and plans for the forthcoming year of activity were outlined. Much of the grief incidental to the constant request for the good offices of the Humane Society while the "Hotel de Pooch" was within city limits, has been obviated by the banishment of captured curs and kitties to "Yoch Dude Ranch," two miles up Laguna Canyon, present site of the Laguna branch of the County Pound.

Croquet Courts For Seal Beach

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 9.—Horseshoe pitchers and croquet fans are due to be provided with courts and all necessary equipment here, as soon as the city council can make up its mind to accept the offer of rent free use of ground, and donations of equipment. The courts will be located on the north east corner of Eighth street and Central avenue, directly east of the city hall.

Launched as a WPA recreational project, efforts of Miss Maxine Whisnant of Santa Ana have produced offers of rent free use of a block of ground 87½ feet by 120 feet. The lots are the property of Mrs. J. P. Transue and of J. W. Howard of Los Angeles. Necessary labor to prepare the courts would be provided by the WPA. Equipment for horseshoe pitching has been offered to the city by the Lion's club. Croquet equipment has not yet been offered, but if favorable action is taken by the council, who were empowered to investigate and act at the last regular meeting, it will be purchased by the city.

$43,000 NEEDED TO RELIEVE CONDITIONS

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 9.—Voters of Westminster school district go to the polls tomorrow between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. to vote on the subject of the two school bond issues which are proposed by school officials to relieve the present congested conditions in the two schools of the district. Serving on the election board are Mrs. Mae Finley, inspector, Mrs. Nellie Parr and Mrs. Marie Nelson, judges.

With the total issues involved amounting to $43,000 the voters have the two issues upon which to decide, one for $22,000 for the erection of five class rooms and a kindergarten department, the second for $21,000 for an auditorium building.

The school at present does not have an auditorium, the makeshift of throwing two classrooms together for any assemblage being used.

28 pupils, or approximately one half the number of pupils possible to accomodate in one school room school within the month, adding to the housing problem, while at has had to be divided to accomodate the four teachers who have charge of the 135 Mexican children of the district.

The present set-up of plans would include the moving of the present kindergarten building from Westminster school to be used as class rooms if the class rooms bonds carry, thus relieving the pressure at both schools.

TEACHER SELECTED C. OF C. PRESIDENT

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 9.—William Fraser of Monroe street, Midway City, teacher in Huntington Beach high school, was elected president of Midway City chamber of commerce at Tuesday evening's annual meeting which was largely attended. Russ Keltner, local merchant, was made vice president of the chamber; B. L. Kirkham for the twelfth time became secretary and W. E. Moore was elected treasurer. Nine directors were named including, Ed L. Hensley, outgoing president who has served for the past two years; William Fraser, Russ Keltner, B. L. Kirkham, W. E. Hone, Fred Harris, W. L. Birdwell, Robert Keller, and Loyal Dickason.

William Fraser, Russ Keltner and Fred Harris will act as representatives of the associated chamber of commerce while W. L. Birdwell and Hensley were appointed as representatives of the new West Orange County Associated chamber of commerce which was organized recently and which the local chamber voted to sponsor at this meeting. The Association included the territory west of the Santa Ana river and south of 101 Highway.

India Topic Of Church Meet

BALBOA, Feb. 9.—A program on the new and old India was presented at the meeting of the Standard Bearers of Christ Church by the Sea Tuesday evening at the home of Norma Kesley, 110 East Bay avenue, Balboa. The hostess portrayed the old fashioned girl, "Ranabel," and Beverly Chowell, the girl of new India, Nur Jushuan. News items were by Carol Miller and Catherine Ensign.

Devotions were by the group leader, Mrs. Harry Worley. Recitation of the Standard Bearers pledge completed the opening ceremonies. An expression of thanks was voted Mrs. John Legg for a gift subscription to the Woman's Missionary magazine.

Twelve members were in attendance. Refreshments were served. Betty Crocker of 1526 Ocean Front will be hostess for the March 14 meeting.

Postpone Meeting Of Garden Club

COSTA MESA, Feb. 9.—The meeting of the Costa Mesa Garden Club, scheduled for Tuesday at the home of Mrs. E. H. Rehme on Tustin avenue was postponed until February 14 because of other community activities.

A noon covered dish luncheon, brief business session and entertainment will comprise the day's program. The occasion will also mark the first meeting in charge of the new president, Mrs. Raymond Hill.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS RAP ELECTION, CALL FOR ANOTHER

Due to complaint of a group of Santa Ana high school seniors that the senior class election held Tuesday was not conducted according to proper Parliamentary procedure, a new election will be held next Tuesday, according to announcement of school officials today.

The complaint was entered by those who said they believed the election this week was "too rushed," no advance notice of the election given "and that proper methods of conducting the election were not used."

Bulletin Posted

A bulletin was posted yesterday at the high school to clarify issues that have arisen as a result of the Tuesday election. The candidates to be voted on next week are Jack Sullivan and Howard Rapp for president; Charles Pride, Bill Low and Bob Pollard, vice president, and Herbert Scott, Lawrence Bemus, Doris Cox, Anne Bell and Jacqueline Bradford, secretary-treasurer.

The bulletin, signed by Lynn H. Crawford, principal; Robert S. Farrar, senior class adviser, and Wayne Piper, chairman, declares in part:

"Need For Election"

"The type of election held Tuesday was selected because there is an urgent need that senior officers of your graduating semester be launched promptly. There was no desire on the part of the chairman or the adviser to be arbitrary, to 'railroad' the election, or to favor any service club, organization or individual. Any errors in parliamentary procedure were quite unintentional."

The adviser stated that his only desire is that genuine leaders be nominated. "The reason for this is obvious," he said. "The success of senior activities is in direct proportion to the quality of the officers elected." He declared constructive criticism is welcomed at all times. Tuesday's election was officially declared void by Principal Crawford and Adviser Farrar and new rules were set up for conduct of the new election. All nominees will be introduced at next Tuesday's assembly and a majority vote will be necessary to elect a candidate.

Judge's Sign Is Basis Of Battle

The little blue-and-white sign on Newport boulevard at Costa Mesa, which has an arrow pointing the way to Justice Donald Dodge's office, yesterday was the battleground in a clash of authority between the state authorities and the Orange county supervisors.

The state said the sign was advertising and ordered it removed. The supervisors said the sign was directional to the public, and ordered it kept where it is.

It's the state's next move. Visions of the state militia marching upon Costa Mesa were not seriously entertained at the courthouse, however.

Plan Rites For Mine Victim

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Feb. 9.—(UP)—The body of Ben Whipple, 23, killed in a cave-in at the Crown King mine, was brought here today in an ambulance that took nearly eight hours to drive 60 miles out of the mountains.

Lester Rufner, driver of the ambulance, said he drove the vehicle down the mountains in a snow storm of blizzard proportions, stopping from time to time when he was unable to make headway.

Mine officials said Whipple died almost instantly when timber braces on the 500 foot level of the mine gave way.

86 Homeless In Juneau Blaze

JUNEAU, Alaska, Feb. 9.—(UP)—A $200,000 fire today left 86 persons homeless and ruined most of Juneau's drug and medical supplies.

The fire destroyed the five-story Goldstein building, a combination business and residential building housing numerous private apartments, the Juneau Medical clinic, radio station KINY and the city's largest grocery store.

Hampered by freezing weather, 125 CC enrollees and firemen fought the fire in a successful attempt to keep it from spreading to other buildings in the downtown area.

REPORT REVEALS GAIN BY P.-T. A.

Meeting at the Lowell school yesterday, members of the Santa Ana P.-T. A. council, heard an encouraging report of increasing membership in P.-T. A. groups of the city, the membership now totaling 1636. Mrs. Dean Smiley reported that 100 pairs of shoes have been half-soled for children in the schools, the work having been donated by the Dan-Dee shop of which Bill Kurossky is owner.

Survey Completed

Mrs. Frank Corey, health chairman, stated that the dental survey which has been in progress in the elementary schools has been completed and a similar survey will be started in the junior high schools. The results of the survey were tabulated and sent to the board of education. The council is working toward a county dental clinic and dentists are to donate work on specified days. Fullerton has been operating a successful dental clinic for some time, it was stated.

The tabulating committee, with Mrs. Floyd Gibson, as chairman presented a list of candidates for election for the coming year. The election is to be held next month. Ather members of the committee were Mesdames C. W. Eggleston, O. V. Barton, Dale Elliott and Edwin Childs.

List of Candidates

The list of candidates presented is as follows: President, Mrs. James Givens; first vice president, Mrs. C. H. Hoiles; second vice president, Mrs. R. D. Smiley; third vice president, Mrs. R. G. Bond; fourth vice president, Mrs. Leslie Eckles; fifth vice president, Mrs. Victor Hupp and Mrs. O. V. Barton. Election will be held March 7 at the Edison school.

Founders' day will be observed February 24 at the Community house of the First Christian church with a luncheon at 12:30 p. m.

Benefit Dinner Is Planned

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 9.—Ebell club ways and means committee members are sponsoring a benefit dinner and evening of bridge Friday night at the clubhouse. Card play will follow the dinner hour set for 5:30 o'clock. Both contract and auction bridge and Chinese checkers will be played. A number of prizes for each have been sent to the club by down town department stores.

Mrs. O. W. Richard heads the committee in charge assisted by Mrs. E. I. Moore, Mrs. Heinz Kaiser, Mrs. Vernon Orr, Mrs. Martha C. Hall, Mrs. Sam Kinsfather, Mrs. C. F. Watts, Mrs. Leslie Freeman, Mrs. S. A. Meyer and Mrs. O. B. Addison.

FOUNDERS HONORED AT P.-T. A. MEETING

COSTA MESA, Feb. 9.—Founders' Day was obesrved with extensive ceremonies at the meeting of the Costa Mesa Elementary School P.-T. A. Tuesday afternoon at the schoolhouse. The newer things in children's books and the various values of reading were discussed by Mrs. Harvey Doeskin, Santa Ana librarian. Recommended were the old favorites, 'Winnie the Pooh," and "Peterkin Papers," with stories of animals, poetry, geography and lessons in etiquitte. The speaker read excerpts from each type of book.

Musical and dramatic program by students of the Lindbergh school included the dramatization of six well known proverbs, and the Indian Corn Planting Song. Teachers in charge were Mrs. Nellie Long, Miss Dorothijane Swinson and Miss Dorothy Cheek.

Past presidents of the Mesa organization were guests of honor, Mrs. John Webster, Mrs. N. O. Mellott, Mrs. L. R. Daughenbaugh and Mrs. S. H. Davidson who served in that capacity receiving corsage bouquets of pastel sweet peas. The founders' day cake decorated with yellow roses and bearing 42 lighted candles was displayed by hospitality chairman, Mrs. W. C. Nickell. Significance of the cake was explained by Mrs. Henry Abrams in a tribute to the founders of the organization, Phoebe Hearst and Alice Birney.

Reports made included those for January welfare, Mrs. Pilley; Scout sponsoring committee, Mrs. George Healey, and adult education, Mrs. Lee Trine. Winner in the past month P.-T. A. attendance contest was Mrs. Clara McNally's eighth grade. Mrs. Arthus Worden, in charge of the contest, announced attendance at a March 13 high school assembly as the reward. Named as the nominating committee were Mrs. Delford Hatch, Mrs. Glenn Cramer and Mrs. Lee Trine. New officers will be elected in March and installed the following month. March 9 and 10 with a children's matinee March 9 were announced as dates for the spring festival, "The Wedding of the Flowers,' in which 75 primary youngsters are to participate as a P.-T. A. benefit. Mrs. Alice Owens will direct the production. Mrs. W. C. Nickell and Mrs. George Beasley were hostesses.

S. A. AID FOR CHILE ASKED

Received from President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a statement giving additional information about the catastrophe in Chile, was directed today to Dr. John Wehrly, chairman of the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross, together with an appeal for support from Orange county chapters.

"The effects of the catastrophe which has over-taken the people of Chile hourly become more serious," the President said in his appeal to Americans to continue to back the Red Cross financialy. "The need for hospital supplies, food and clothing is imperative. Perhaps greater than all else is the need for prompt and practical help that may further strengthen the magnificent morals shown by a people afflicted by an appalling calamity.

Local Office Opened

"It is desirable not only to make the best effort we can to help our friends and neighbors who are in distress, but to make this effort in the most effective way," he continued. "In accordance with their traditional practice, the American people will surely wish to give such assistance as they can to people of other lands who are in distress, particularly when, as in the present case, those suffering from disaster are residents of an American republic bound to the people of the United States by close ties of understanding and friendship. The Chilean disaster merits prompt and generous response from the American public." Harry L. Hanson, treasurer of the Santa Ana chapter, is receiving funds at the First National bank.

HOOVER PARENTS IN ANNUAL OBSERVANCE

Founders' day was observed by the Hoover P.-T. A. at a recent evening meeting in the school auditorium, when Mrs. W. R. Kline gave a short history of the P.-T. A. and lighted two tapers in honor of the founders—Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and Mrs. Alice Birney, after which a collection was taken to add to the student loan fund.

Mrs. A. C. Honer, president, presided over the business meeting at which time the following nominating committee was elected; Mrs. W. K. Hillyard, Mrs. J. M. Spears, Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland, Mrs. John Kinyon and Miss Isabel Lindsay, principal.

Forum Discussion

Mrs. J. J. Vernon, member of the program committee, introduced Russell Crouse who sang a group of tenor solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Crouse. Mrs. Vernon then presented Kenneth Morrison who conducted a forum, discussing the subject, "Vocational Guidance for Boys and Girls." He was assisted by Fred Forgy, who spoke for the legal profession; Dr. H. G. Hoffman, discussing the requirements for the practice of medicine; Postmaster Frank Harwood, who discussed civil service, and Robert Horn, who represented the teaching profession.

The Santa Ana Mothersingers sang a group of songs under the direction of Lorene Croddy Graves. The Mothersingers were dressed in Colonial costumes. The meeting adjourned to the library where refreshments were served by Mrs. S. W. Reinhaus and her committee of mothers including Mrs. Frank Harwood, Mrs. W. K. Hillyard, Mrs. A. C. Honer, Mrs. R. W. Hull, Mrs. Leon Lauderbach and Mrs. Deane Smiley.

Diamond P.-T. A. Observes Event

Founder's day was observed by members of the Diamond P.-T.A. this week, with an appropriate play being presented by four members, Mesdames Lloyd Patterson, Hayward Patterson, James Blackwell and Dale Pickering.

Past Presidents honored were Mesdames Eugene Griset, Walter Ward, Wilson Selvidge, James Blackwell and Alfred Culver. Each was presented with a corsage.

Piano numbers were presented by Mrs. Sam Roberts and trumpet selections by Ronald Blackwell. Iris Barbee, 3, gave the address of welcome. The birthday cake was brought into the room by Kenneth Willeford and Wanda Miller, who were dressed in Colonial costume. Mrs. Claude Dunkin, president, presided at the meeting.

It is estimated that the price of a parachute starts at $300.

There's Good Health In This Dish

Baked liver, with an accompaniment of potatoes, carrots and onions, makes a meal which is rich in food elements. A green salad and whole wheat rolls complete the hearty, wholesome and very appetizing meal. This is a pleasant variation of serving liver to your family.

OVER THE TRANSOM

No doubt a graduate of the latest in social schools for thieves was the person who last Sunday night robbed John oHrman's fish market at 110 McFadden place, Newport Beach. Instead of carelessly breaking in, the pillager carefully unlock the back door and just as carefully locked it again when he left. A number of cooked lobsters of unestimated value were stolen and approximately 50 pennies taken from the cash register.

Just an old "stick in the mud" was the car which Anaheim officers were driving Sunday night night chasing thieves who had stolen a car from Andrew C. Hoffman of 1100 North Los Angeles street. Service of a tow car was necessary to move the police auto, while a police broadcast "chased" the thieves.

Maternally speaking yesterday, "Snow White," a coal black cat presented her co-workers at the McCoy Drug store at Fourth and Broadway with four equally black kittens. In an "Irish Sweepstakes," pools on the number of Snow White's contemplated progeny were won by Charles Neer, Santa Ana police officer and two feminine residents of the city. Popularity of the pools increased with each addition to the family with Snow White's high point record a double set of quints; while preceding that a set of sextuplets were her contribution to Santa Ana's feline population. Increasing interest, indicated with each pool by numerous personal and telephone calls to the drug store, may account for a slack in the Santa Anita season.

Crew Rescued As Steamer Sinks

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The coast guard reported today that the German steamer Glueckhauf sank off the mouth of the Humber river after hitting the submerged wreck of the Greek steamer Katani Bulgari.

The Katani Bulgari was wrecked in a collision with the American freighter Meanticut, out of New Orleans, which rescued its crew.

A Norwegian steamer rescued the crew of the Glueskhauf.

Weather Halts Plane's Flight

SEATTLE, Feb. 9. — (UP) — Snow and unfavorable weather conditions along the Pacific coast today forced postponement of the delivery flight of a second 74 passenger clipper built by the Boeing Aircraft Co., for Pan American Airways.

The plane was to have gone to Astoria, Ore., and San Francisco today en route to Baltimore, Md., for transatlantic service. The flight was delayed until tomorrow.

VARIETY OF WAYS TO SERVE LIVER URGED AS HEALTH AID

BY EMILY CONKLIN

The discovery of the value of liver in the prevention and cure of anemia is one of the most dramatic stories in medical history.

One result of that discovery has been that liver has won new respect as an important food in the normal diet both of adults and children. It has proved to be the richest source of iron and copper, minerals which are essential to the building of rich red blood.

By serving liver frequently, the wise homemaker assures the members of her household of an adequate supply of these necessary food elements. This is especially important in families where there are children. Liver served at least once a week is an excellent safeguard against any tendency to anemia.

Vary Ways of Serving?

Liver is not hard to cook and it may be served in a variety of delicious ways. Tender, young liver may be broiled, when sliced thin, or it may be fried in deep fat. Or liver may be ground and served in a meat loaf, or as patties, or in stuffings. A favorite way is to braise it, giving it long, slow cooking in moist heat.

It is not necessary to scald or parboil liver before cooking it, unless it is to be ground. Raw liver is difficult to grind.

Variety in ways of serving liver will increase its popularity in your household. And serving it often is one of the wisest things you can do, if you are interested in feeding your family for health, as of course you are.

Baked Liver with Vegetables

2 pounds liver
Salt and pepper
Bacon strips or salt pork
½ cup water
6 medium sized onions
6 carrots
½ green pepper

Buy as chunky a piece of liver as possible, beef, pork, lamb or calf's. Wash thoroughly, trim and season with salt and pepper. Lay strips of bacon or salt pork over the top. Place in a large baking dish, add water, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 1½ hours. Add the vegetables and continue cooking for another hour.

Liver Loaf

1½ pounds liver
4 slices bacon
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup milk
½ cup catsup
1 teaspoon powdered sage
2 teaspoons salt
2 wheat biscuits
¾ cup cornmeal
3 well-beaten eggs
½ teaspoon pepper

Scald liver, run through the food grinder with the bacon. Add the crumbled wheat biscuits, eggs, milk, cornmeal, salt, pepper, sage and catsup. Mix thoroughly. Place in a loaf pan lined with bacon strips. Cover with more bacon. Place in moderate oven (350 F.) and bake for 1 hour.

FEBRUARY 25 DESIGNATED AS WIND-UP DAY FOR SEAL SALES

February 25 has been designated as seal sale wind-up day, according to the announcement of Dr. Margarete D. Baker, first vice president of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association.

"The purpose is to speed payment for the Christmas seals sent out last November," Dr. Baker said. "There are still 8,343 letters unaccounted for in Orange county and we feel that they have been mislaid or forgotten.

Seals In Drawers

"To aid the committee we are setting aside one day by which we hope those who have neglected to acknowledge the letters will make returns for them. We know that some seals are reposing in desk drawers, forgotten temporarily. It is easy to mislay the tiny seals. Christmas seals that are not paid for do not fight tuberculosis.

"Many of those unable to buy seals at all this year have returned them with courteous little notes of explanation, in which they expressed their interest and good will. Seven thousand, five hundred and twenty-nine people have sent money in the amount of $9042.62, some retaining their full allotment of seals, others keeping as many as they could afford. The committee hopes to reach this year's goal of $10,000.

Names On File

"A complete name file is kept of every person to whom seals were sent with the number enclosed or returned. In this way the committee knows exactly who has responded. In Santa Ana $3214.78 has been received toward this district's quota of $3500. The association urges that those who have not already done so act, as they are more than eager to wind up this year's business and to know what funds are available for health and anti-tuberculosis work. Either make returns to county headquarters, 112 West Fifth street, Santa Ana, or contact your district chairman, Dr. R. Morgan, 221 South Main."

Reveal Profit Made By Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr.., today made public a letter to Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., R., Mass., revealing that the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund has made a net profit of $12,000,000.

Morgenthau told his press conference that the profit is now the highest it has ever been. He emphasized that none of it was earned by speculation.

He reiterated his view that when the stabilization fund is to be liquidated it should be used to retire government debt.

Lodge had asked Morgenthau to confirm a statement made by Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., that the stabilization fund profit approximated $12,000,000.

NEW LAKE IN DESERT BASIN

Water from the Colorado river, after being lifted nearly 600 feet up the sides of two mountains, was creating a new lake yesterday in a land-locked desert basin on the line of the 392-mile Metropolitan aqueduct.

Water 102 Feet Deep

Reports received in the office of F. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan Water district, stated that water is being pumped into the Copper Basin reservoir at the rate of 270,000 gallons per minute and that the floor of the age-old, barren valley was already submerged below 5000 acre feet of aqueduct water. The report stated that water was 102 feet deep back of the Copper Basin dam.

Located six miles west of the Colorado river, the Copper Basin reservoir is the second of a series of Metropolitan reservoirs, and is being filled by water pumped through the Gene pumping plant, the second of five giant plants which will lift aqueduct water a total height of 1600 feet.

New Plant Underway

Initial operation of the far eastern end of the huge aqueduct, which crosses the entire state of California, was started on January 7, 1939, when the Intake pumping plant began drawing Colorado river water from the lake behind Parker dam and lifted it 291 feet into the Gene basin reservoir. Operation of the second pumping plant was started a few days ago and aqueduct water is now being lifted an additional 303 feet and spilled into the Copper Basin reservoir.

H. S. Annual Sale Sets New Record

The high school year book faculty advisor, William Elliott, announced that the Aeriel pre-sale, which began January 18 and lasted two and a half weeks, ending this Friday, set a higher record for selling subscriptions to the annual than any previous pre-sale. Howard Rapp, senior business manager of the Ariel, announced that about 365 copies were purchased during the pre-sale. The members of the business staff who had charge of the sale were senior business manager, Howard Rapp; assistant senior business manager, John Geddes; junior business manager, Bob Davy; sophomore business manager, Francis Geddes.

Blame Speed For Train Wreck

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today blamed excessive speed for a Western Pacific railroad derailment near Oroville, Calif., last Nov. 30 in which four persons were injured.

The ICC's formal report also said a broken driving spring may have caused the engine to list and contributed to the accident.

"The distance the derailed engine, tender and first two cars travelled and the manner in which they stopped, and the distance the rear six cars of the train traveled around and beyond the curve involved, with the front pair of wheels of the lead truck of the forward car derailed, indicated that the accident was caused by excessive speed in view of the existing curvature and elevation coupled with the possibility of the engine listing to the left due to a broken driving spring," the report said.

Prisoner Enjoys Brief Freedom

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—When E. P. Hitchcock is released from the Oregon state penitentiary Feb. 18 after serving two years on a forgery conviction at Portland, he will be out from behind the bars only long enough for a trip to Folsom Prison, Calif.

Gov. Culbert L. Olson today requested extradition of Hitchcock on grounds he violated a parole from Folsom by committing another crime. Hitchcock was convicted on a forgery count in San Diego in January, 1933, serving 34 months of a seven-year sentence before he was paroled.

McKINLEY GROUP MEETS

The executive board of the McKinley P.-T. A. will meet next Tuesday at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. William Kredel, 1043 West Fourth street. Mrs. Dale Elliott will be co-hostess. All members of the board are urged to be present as plans for the Founder's day program February 21 will be discussed.

Assert Marine Admits Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Donald Mulkey, 37-year-old former San Diego marine, was arrested today on a drunk charge and police said he confessed he murdered Ruth Muir, Riverside welfare worker, at La Jolla in 1936.

Detective Lieutenant R. E. Munn said Mulkey was held on suspicion of murder until police questioned him further regarding the Muir and other unsolved slayings near San Diego.

Miss Muir, middle-aged Y. W. C. A. worker, was found beaten to death and criminally attacked near a "lovers' bench" on the La Jolla beach Sept. 1, 1936.

IT'S A HIT! The NEW Firestone CHAMPION TIRE

AB JENKINS
World's Safest Driver
Ab Jenkins, holder of 87 world records for safety, speed and endurance, who has driven more than a million and a half miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires without an accident, says, "On the speedway or on the highway, I insist upon the extra safety of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires on my cars."

CAR OWNERS everywhere are acclaiming the extra blowout protection and non-skid safety of the new Firestone Champion Tire. And automobile manufacturers, knowing its outstanding performance, have adopted it for their new 1939 models. On every hand you hear, "It's the most effective tire we have ever had on wet pavement and in mud and snow!" It's the hit of 1939!

The Firestone Champion Tire is a completely new achievement in safety engineering and the result of a new and revolutionary means of locking greater safety into the cord body of a tire. This is accomplished first by the use of a new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to give greater strength. And then the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping, which provides amazingly greater strength—and greater strength means greater safety.

The new Safety-Lock cord construction gives the added strength that makes possible the use of the new thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip Tread, which provides remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design which has more than three thousand sharp-edged angles that grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and to assure a safe stop.

Come in today and equip your car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

Citrus Report Hits Economic Conditions In 1938

•news behind the news

By PAUL MALLON — World Copyright, 1939.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. — Accepted root of the Virginia judge trouble is Joe Keenan, officially Assistant Attorney General and unofficially the President's lobbyist and strong arm political man in congress. He accepted Judge Roberts and found the President of like mind. Keenan's test for candidates to judicial office is first and last whether they are New Dealers. If they have fallen arches or political halitosis, these are secondary considerations—particularly if the senators holding their noses happen not to be New Dealers.

Washington politicos cannot understand the public reaction to the senate's defeat of Judge Roberts. The story being generally accepted is that the senate stuck together 72 to 9 against the President, because it has the inner cameraderie of a rich men's club. This is Mr. Roosevelt's implied version and it is true; but this is also true in the senatorial mind: if a President can make an appointment for political purposes, a senate may reject it for the same reason.

Both sides know there are many judges in Virginia exceptionally competent and not identified with either side. Some non-factional Virginians suggest State Circuit Judge A. C. Buchanan is one. Every lawyer in his circuit endorsed him for the vacant position, so did the bar associations of three other state circuits, and 15 to 20 other counties, the lieutenant governor and others.

If one side is wrong in this dispute, then both certainly are. Some day federal judges may be appointed solely on merit, rather than upon political affiliation. Then a sort of civil service promotion system will apply to judgeships, but apparently neither the President nor the senate is in a mood for that yet.

Senator Glass, strong mite from Virginia, has long privately been threatening to subpoena Charlie McCarthy and Lady Astor in this light drawing room farce which Mr. Roosevelt is acting out with the senate.

Mr. Roosevelt, master farceur, neglected in recounting his correspondence with the possibly unreconstructed but certainly admired rebel, Mr. Glass, to note that he (Mr. Roosevelt) considered these two far-flung witnesses as within his jurisdiction of subpoena in the controversy. Lady Astor is an ex-Virginian now in remote England in a position somewhat similar to that which Mr. Ickes has questionably used as spritely spokesman for the United States. It is possible also that Mr. McCarthy is of Virginia pine heritage, but there the connection ends.

However, this British "spokeswoman" and American splinter were mentioned by Mr. Roosevelt in his correspondence with Glass. The President said he had a right to consult them in the matter of his appointments, as well as advising and consenting with the senate, meaning there were no limitations to his outer consultations.

As TVA friends tell it, the Commonwealth and South maestro, Wendell Willkie, first wanted $107 millions for his properties with which TVA planned devastating competition. They consider the $78.6 millions price a victory. The difference they claim represented values they considered fictitious. They give credit for the settlement to the TVA decision of the supreme court a few days earlier.

Next deal, they expect, will come with the Alabama Power company.

All business sources, private and governmental, consider the deal as the harbinger of a different attitude between business and government.

All of a sudden President Tapp and Vice President Wilcox of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation decided they had to return to private business. Explanations have been scarce. None except the aforesaid usual one has been made public even semi-officially.

Fact is they were their own bosses until recently, when the agricultural department was reorganized. Then they were put under a bureau chief. Until then, they had reported only to Secretary Wallace. The change did not work out very well for executives of their individual abilities and experience.

Mr. Roosevelt's heat and botherment about the inaccuracies of the press learned Early was unaware fretting about the inaccuracies of the White House.

Monday all the papers announced the President had not yet acted upon the relief bill.

Tuesday all said it had been signed the previous Saturday by the President.

If anyone goes to the guillotine for this, it will be the President's publicity secretary, Steve Early. He gave the information to the press in both cases.

The press, while perturbed, is apparently not going to issue a statement that it was "a deliberate and malicious lie."

Generally understanding of the failures of human nature, the pres learned Early was unaware on Monday that the President had acted the previous Saturday. Early did not find out about it until Tuesday when the President was ready to make the announcement.

Unless these White House inaccuracies cease, however, the White House section of the press may take action against its leading traducer.

'WORKING' COST "ON UP-GRADE"

"Illustrative of the unsatisfactory economic conditions throughout the nation last year," A. J. Theis, manager of the Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual Citrus association reported today that the 717.9 cars of fruit handled by his association in 1938 returned $89,259.98 less than 432.5 cars returned in 1937.

These figures were presented at the annual meeting yesterday of the members of the association in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church in Tustin. The business sessions followed a banquet served to 250 growers and their guests by the ladies of the church.

Finances "Excellent"

The report presented by Theis and that presented by Wyckoff Hoxie, president of the association, said the financial condition of the house was excellent.

"All properties are paid for and there are no outstanding notes or other indebtedness.

"While returns were low, packing costs likewise were low," Manager Theis reported. "They were two and nine-tenths cents less per packed box than they were the year before. This was due largely to the new equipment and modern facilities for handling citrus fruits installed before the valencia season started last year."

Operation Costs Rise

The reports also declared that the Mutual Orange Distributors, the selling organization with which the Santa Ana-Tustin association is affiliated, were able to lower selling costs so there was a refund of three cents a packed box made at the end of the season.

Refunds to the amount of $66,177.30 were made to the growers by the association during the year. Theis stated that all revolving funds have been returned to the growers up to and including the year 1935.

"Not only were returns low this year, but operation costs were higher. Materials have gone up; labor is higher; and taxes, including social security and unemployment insurance, have added considerably to the cost of doing business. In social security and unemployment insurance alone, the association paid out $3,338.17. This is a direct charge against the growers and does not represent the amount levied against the employes.

Pro-Rate Irregularities

President Hoxie, in his report, recounted the many factors that have contributed to decreased revenue from citrus fruits.

"Among them," he said, "were wide-spread unemployment, lower buying power, restrictions and inequalities of the pro-rate, rapidly mounting taxation, heavy production, injudicious advertising of alleged surpluses, high freight rates, cartage and handling charges in the east, uneconomic methods of auction selling. Over these factors, it is obvious that the individual packing association has no control."

Many of the points mentioned by President Hoxie and Manager Theis were amplified and explained by officials of the Mutual Orange Distributors who were present.

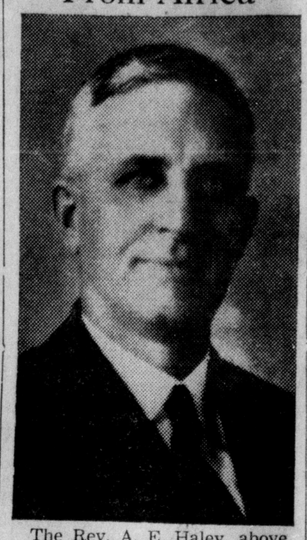

Bruce W. McDaniel, general manager of the MOD contended that "the antiquated distribution system should be modernized and streamlined so the fruit would pass more directly from growers to consumers, thereby eliminating many unnecessary costs, some of which are now assessed to the grower and others assessed to the consumer."

Other Speakers

J. A. Steward, MOD sales manager, likewise explained the operation of the pro-rate and outlined the prospects for better prices this coming season. A. E. Isham, manager of the MOD field department, spoke on the cooperative movement, the tax situation and labor legislation. H. L. Thomason, growers service department, made some suggestions on cultural practices that might ultimately reduce production costs per unit.

Other speakers from the MOD were E. J. Brickell, manager of the MOD supply department and A. L. Chandler, manager of the fertilizer departments and the savings they were making the growers and packing associations.

From Africa

The Rev. A. E. Haley, above, now conducting special services each evening at the Free Methodist church in Santa Ana, shows pictures and tells the children a story of the jungles in Africa, where he spent more than 30 years. He is the father of Mrs. F. E. Benton, wife of the pastor.

Children Flock To Hear Stories About Africa

An opportunity for Santa Ana children to hear interesting stories of the African jungle, illustrated by slides, is being presented each evening at the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter street, where the Rev. A. E. Haley, visitor to California, is conducting special meetings for two weeks.

The Rev. Mr. Haley, father of Mrs. F. E. Benton, the pastor's wife, spent more than 30 years in the jungles of the Dark Continent.

Public Invited

During the preliminaries of each evening's service, he shows the African pictures and tells stories of that country. The general public is invited to hear his messages.

Parallel meetings are conducted for the children each afternoon at 3:30 by Miss Florence Hilborn, youth evangelist from Los Angeles. The first children's meeting was held Tuesday.

'WHO KNOWS BIG ORANGE?' IS QUESTION NOW FOR RANCHERS

The question, "Who knows the Big Apple?" was changed today to "Who knows the Big Orange?"

The reasons are as fololws: J. W. McCormac, 112 Church street, issued a challenge to every orange grower in the county to produce an orange to "beat" his, a navel 13½ inches in circumference and weighing one and one-quarter pounds.

Yesterday, G. B. Stebbins, 216 East Pomona, brought to The Register office a navel orange measuring 16¼ inches around and weighing two pounds, two ounces. The McCormac orange was grown at the McCormac Fallbrook ranch—outside of the county—the Stebbins orange, at the Stebbins place.

Shortly after Stebbins' arrival at the office, E. E. Bruce, 806 South Sycamore, appeared at the office to challenge McCormac. He brought in two oranges, one 14 inches in circumference, the other, 14½ inches, one weighing one pound, four and one-half ounces, the other, one pound, five and one-half ounces.

The Bruce oranges, navels, were grown on the Bruce place. It looks like the "Big Apple" is taking a "back seat" to the "Big Orange" in Orange county, Stebbins and Bruce declared.

ELABORATE AVIATION DINNER PLANNED BY JUNIOR CHAMBER

Plans for one of the outstanding events of the coming year are under way today as members of the aviation committee of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce prepared for a special aviation dinner.

Fifty leaders in the field of aviation are scheduled to be guests at the banquet, according to Dale Deckert, chairman of the committee. Deckert is being assisted by Arno Finster, Leroy Burns, Dooley Jeffery and Eddie Lane. One more member of the chamber will be added to the committee to make a group of five.

Notables Invited

Invitations have been sent to some of the top-notch fliers and designing engineers and favorable response has been received. The exact time and place for the affair has not been decided.

Members of service clubs of the city will receive a special invitation to the affair and the Santa Ana Lions club has indicated a willingness to fore-go the regular meeting of the organization to attend the aviation dinner.

'HOW U. S. STANDS' THEME OF SPEECH

Is the British Empire cracking up? Will the United States fight for England? What are the British doing in Palestine?

These are some of the questions Dr. Fred W. Ingvoldstad, world traveler and lecturer, will discuss and answer tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Willard auditorium in connection with the Adult Education department of Santa Ana schools.

Questions, Answers

"That Dr. Ingvoldstad is well-qualified to present the answers to such questions is evidenced by his record," according to W. W. Wieman, principal of the vocational evening high school. "The public is welcome to attend and there will be no admission charge." Dr. Ingvoldstad, who was heard by more than 400 persons last week, will present further discussions February 17 and 24.

NEW DAIRY BARN

WINTERSBURG, Feb. 9.—C. J. Bergner who has a term lease on the Fox Dairy ranch, south of Wintersburg, is erecting a new dairy barn and milk house on the ranch. The dairy barn is of 12 stanchon capacity and both it and the milk house are to be of the most complete and modern type.

It is expected that the budget to be offered for 1939 will include $180,000,000 for the Air Corps.

Doctors Attend Fullerton Meet

FULLERTON, Feb. 9.—Approximately 75 medical doctors, osteopaths, dentists and optometrists met Monday night at Bit o' Scandia cafe in Fullerton, to hear Dr. H. Clifford Loos, M. D., of the Ross-Loos clinic in Los Angeles, speak on the subject of Socialized Medicine. This clinic now has 65 doctors on its staff, and has over 60,000 subscribers to its group medical insurance plan.

Dr. Loos said that compulsory medical insurance plans had been used in Denmark and other European nations, but he seemed to favor a voluntary form on socialized medicine for Americans as being more certain of success.

Civil Service Exams Planned

Announcement of several civil service examinations was made today by Frank Cannon, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of examiners, post office building.

The positions include the following: consultant in employe-employer relations, $5600 year; mediator, and principal, senior, and associate mediators, $3200 to $5600; industrial economist, $3800; senior grade, $4600 year, and principal grade, $5600; associate industrial economist, $3200; assistant grade, $2600; agronomist, $3800; associate pathologist, $3200. Full information regarding the vacancies may be obtained from Cannon.

WALNUT GROUP MEETS FRIDAY

Walnut growers of Southern California will convene tomorrow at their 21st annual spring institute. The meeting this year will be at the Chino High School auditorium, Chino, and will start at 9:30 a. m., Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg announced today.

The program is well-rounded and promises much interest to local growers. L. D. Batchelor, well-known walnut authority and Director of the Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside, will preside in the morning. J. A. Smiley, Orange, chairman of the Edible Nuts Department of the California Farm Bureau, will be the afternoon chairman. The program includes:

Topics Prepared

"Walnut Husk Fly and Red Spider Control"—Dr. A. M. Boyce, Citrus Experiment Station, Riverside.

"Farm Management Methods for Walnut Growers"—C. C. Anderson, Director of California Walnut Growers Association.

"Economic Trends in the Walnut Industry"—John B. Schneider, Economist, College of Agriculture, Berkeley; questions and discussion; and lunch.

Afternoon Agenda

"Grower-Consumer Sales Campaign"—R. D. Doe, Vice-President, Safeway Stores, Inc., Oakland.

"The Current Walnut Marketing Situation"—Carlyle Thorpe, general manager, California Walnut Growers Association; questions and discussion.

These institute programs have played an important part in the walnut industry of California, according to Wahlberg, who pointed out that they are all held cooperatively by the farm bureau and the agricultural extension service.

PAY IN OUTFALL AREAS MAPPED

In paying for maintenance of the joint outfall sewer district line in 1939, members of the district will pay in proportion to the total amount of sewerage flow in each member's area during 1938, so far as Santa Ana is concerned.

That was Santa Ana's decision today following a meeting of the joint outfall sewer district board of directors in Anaheim last Thursday. All other district members also must approve the 1939 cost proportioning.

How It's Divided

Records show 2,200,723,754 gallons of sewerage ran through the joint outfall line in 1938.

The cost, therefore, if all district members act favorably as did Santa Ana, will be apportioned as follows: Santa Ana, 38.87 per cent; Fullerton, 20.79; Anaheim, 17.73; Orange, 12.59; La Habra, 3.92; Garden Grove, 2.22; Placentia, 2.02, and Buena Park, 1.86. City Auditor Lloyd Banks has been instructed to set aside the necessary funds to pay for the Santa Ana portion.

$300 Collected In Fullerton

FULLERTON, Feb. 9. — Over $300 has already been collected in the annual infantile paralysis drive being conducted in Fullerton which already surpasses last year's total.

Fullerton Fox theater alone brought in $130, Harry May, secretary of chamber of commerce, said Wednesday. Toma Kightlinger, president of the Junior Ebell club of Fullerton, is general chairman of the drive.

Book Reviewed At Club Meet

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Feb. 9.—The series of P.-T. A. sponsored book reviews held Tuesday mornings at the high school was continued with the meeting this week. Thirty-two were in attendance. Two more meetings of the group will be held under the direction of Mrs. R. P. Meairs of Midway City.

Scheduled on the program of the past Tuesday were an article "A Parable for Mothers," Temple Bailey; from the December P.-T. A. magazine and reprinted from Good Housekeeping, completed "The Return to Religion," and Henry Link's "Rediscovery of Man," and Howard Link's "My Son, My Son," from which Mrs. Everett Rea read parts.

The program for next week will include "All This and Heaven, Too," Rachael Fields; and an article on emotional maturity from Morgan's book, "The Normal Mind."

Worry of FALSE TEETH
Slipping or Irritating

The annoyance and embarrassment caused by a loose or wabbly dental plate are a constant source of worry. Loose plates often irritate tender gum tissues. Thousands sprinkle their plates with FASTEETH. It gives them a wonderful sense of security and added comfort. FASTEETH holds false teeth firmer, and being alkaline (non-acid) checks gum soreness and irritation due to the chafing of a loose plate or to excessive acid mouth. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS — WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Young Business Women Will Join in Conference

Much interest is being manifestedt among Wrycende Maegdenu members in plans for the mid-winter conference of Young Business Women scheduled foro February 18 and 19, in Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside. Miss Leone Baxtert, Wrycende Maegdenu president, today outlined the program for the two days, and expressed the opinion that several of her club members would be in attendance.

"Personality Principle in Christianity and Democracy" is the conference theme, and will be developed especially in the address which Mrs. Elan J. Anderson will present at the Saturday evening banquet. This will take place at 7 o'clock andw will be followed by more informal party features.

Formal opening of the conference will be from 3 to 4:30 o'clock that afternoon, when registration will be followed by a tea. The interval from 4 to 6 o'clock will be given over to discussion groups, when subjects consiidered will include Migratory Labor, Co-operatives, Public Affairs, Participation and Workers' Education.

Sunday morning the delegates and guests will meet at 9 o'clock for worship service. From 9:45 to 11 o'clock, they will be led in general discussion by Mrs. Anderson, and this will be followed by reports from national and area councils. Luncheon at 1 o'clock will be followed by installation of new officers at 2 o'clock. The conference will close with a conducted tour of Mission Inn.

Reservations for the event must be made through Miss Baxter not later than Saturday, February 11.

Housewarming Planned By Carpenters Auxiliary

Tuesday night's meeting of Carpenters' auxiliary was especially interesting to the large attendance of members, for it was the first one held in the room set aside for their use in the new quarters of the Carpenters' Union at 1423 West Fourth street.

A housewarming party was one of the principal features planned during the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Esther Crabtree, auxiliary president. This housewarming will be a valentine event on Tuesday evening, February 14, with covered dish dinner at 6:30 o'clock. All members of the Carpenters' local and their families are invited to take part, and are asked to bring their own table service in addition to contributions to the menu. Card play will follow with prizes for high and low scores.

Later in the business meeting, came discussion of the auxiliary's next covered dish luncheon, an event of Friday, February 24 when members will meet at noon with Mrs. O. W. Benner, 621 South Sycamore street.

Club Supper Party

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cress and their young son Stanley were joined by members of Les Copains club recently for a pleasant afternoon and evening in their home, 826 South Garnsey street.

At the close of a session of tripoli, supper was served at a lace-spread table centered with hyacinths and red carnations. Napkins and other features were in valentine motif. Travel movies were shown and bridge was played later in the evening.

Charming Anaheim Girl Weds at Home Rites Of Quiet Beauty

Combining the charm of an earlier generatio with that of modern wedding rites, was the filmy chiffon frock which Miss Priscilla Ann Jones of Anaheim, wore Tuesday when she became the bride of Edward George Hill of Los Angeles, at noon-day rites in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Jones, on Coronado road in the neighboring city.

For this wedding dress of graceful lines and design, was that which her mother wore as a bride 26 years ago. Furthermore, when Mr. Jones escorted his daughter to the improvised floral altar arranged in the home, there to give her in marriage, he wore the suit which he had first worn as a bridegroom. With her quaintly lovely costume, Miss Jones carried bride roses with a shower of white hyacinths.

There were no attendants other than little Miss Eleanor Baldwin, flower girl, who wore a dainty pastel frock, and Tommy Grant, the bride's young cousin, who was ring bearer. Adding interest to the ceremony was the fact that it was conducted by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Howard Strickland, pastor of Pomona First M. E. church, South.

Musical numbers included "At "Dawning" and "The Road of Life" sung by Miss Margaret Gemmell of Huntington Beach, and the violin solo, "Angel's Serenade," played by Lester Jones, brother of the bride. Mrs. George Baldwin of Los Angeles was at the piano.

Some thirty guests were present for the rites, and offered felicitations during the reception hour and the wedding breakfast served. Mrs. Jones received in a frock of wine velvet with which she wore gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Hill, parents of the bridegroom, also were in the receiving line, Mrs. Hill gowned in black crepe with gardenia corsage. Mrs. A. A. Jones of this city, paternal grandmother of the bride, added another note of the past by wearing the pretty locket which she had worn as a bride 56 years ago. The new Mrs. Hill's maternal grandfather, George E. Hughes of Blue Springs, Mo., was also present.

When Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for their honeymoon in San Diego and nearby points, the bride wore a three-piece tailored suit in powder blue with suez hat and blouse. They will make their home in Los Angeles where Mr. Hill is manager of the shipping department for Ule Brothers' Paint company. He is a graduate of Los Angeles High school and Junior college. His bride completed a course at Angeles Temple Bible school after graduation from Fullerton High school.

County Medical, Dental Auxiliaries Entertained

Holding a joint meeting Tuesday afternoon, 40 members of Orange County Medical Auxiliary and County Dental Auxiliary shared the hospitality of the charming home of Mrs. John Wehrly, 819 Spurgeon street.

Since all details of the party were in keeping with a Colonial motif suggested by February as Washington's birthday month, it seemed especially appropriate that the party should have its setting in the Wehrly home, definitely of Colonial architecture and appointments. The hostess, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Lucien Wehrly, who is president of the Dental Auxiliary, and Mrs. A. C. Robbins were attired in costumes eloquent of the George Washington era.

On the official hostess committee with Mrs. John Wehrly were Mesdames A. C. Robbins, J. B. Price, Newell Moore, John McAuley, F. E. Coulter and Milo Tedstrom, all of the Medical auxiliary. Mrs. Hiram Currey, conducted a short meeting of Medical Auxiliary and Mrs. John L. Wehrly was in charge of business matters for the Dental group.

Miss Anita Shepardson of Fullerton was speaker of the afternoon, giving an informative talk on "News from the Orient." She told of her experiences last year when she made a goodwill tour of China and Japan.

Mrs. H. G. Howe and Mrs. Wendell Olson of Fullerton poured tea, presiding at a table centered with white stocks, blue larkspur and red ranunculuses. Other decorations included an arrangement of flowering quince in the reception hall, and an exquisite bouquet of pink camellias and white blossoms.

Publisher's Statement

The publisher of The Register has come to believe that it is to the best interest for all concerned not to run names promiscuously on the Society Page of all guests attending clubs and parties. It is unfair to be continuously carrying the names of some special groups and not carrying the names of every person who attends a party. And to carry the names of every person who attends parties, would be quite expensive.

The reason for the change is a desire on the part of the publisher to attempt to give the greatest possible number of readers the kind of paper that will entertain and be helpful with the least possible cost to the reader. With the mounting costs of operation, every cost must be considered. During the prosperous days, when waste could be permitted, habits were established which must be eliminated when general economic conditions begin to "pinch". And it seems, on second thought, that people in the final analysis, do not want to pay to be told the list of those whom they do not know, who attended some bridge or social party. When the space is utilized with this type of items, other items that interest many more people must be eliminated.

Of course, the newspaper wants the name of every person who has done something of importance or has been honored and is delighted to publish these. When, however, the name of every person attending every bridge party is run, it over-emphasizes the unimportant and detracts from the important things of the community and the nation. It is the opinion of the publisher that names of those attending an announcement party; all taking part in a wedding; the hosts, prize winners and out-of-town guests at parties and clubs, are interesting and news to the readers. And it will be the effort of the Society Department to get more of these over the territory served by The Register, rather than less.

We are quite sure the readers as a whole, after they get accustomed to this new policy, will find The Register more interesting than ever.

Prominent Families Figure In Charming Home Wedding

Prominent families of the community figured in a wedding yesterday afternoon in the home of pioneer Santa Anans, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smiley, 2800 North Flower street, when their granddaughter, Miss Elma May Smiley exchanged vows with Hilton Edward Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cannon, 161 North Center street, Orange. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley, North Euclid avenue, Garden Grove.

The bridegroom's father, A. H. Cannon played the Wedding Marches as well as accompaniment for Donald Krueger of Orange who sang "Because" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." Dr. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of Garden Grove First Methodist church officiated at the four o'clock rites.

Springtime Mood

Expressing spring in bridal motif, the peach blossoms, pink snapdragons and white stocks arranged throughout the room were lovely in the light of tapers in candlebra. A background of palms and quantities of the exquisite flowers were massed at one corner of the room where the nuptials took place. A group of eight charming attendants descended the stairway with garlands of smilax and orange blossoms, forming an aisle through which the bride walked to the improvised altar. The girls were attired in taffeta frocks with gardenias in their hair. In the group were the Misses Frances Mary Sherwin of Santa Ana, Miss Barbara Jean Smith of Brea and Mrs. Betty Johnson of Garden Grove, in peach; Miss Jane Smiley of Orange, in green; the bride's sister, Miss Janet Smiley, in yellow; Mrs. Ethel Chaffee Trickey of Santa Barbara, in gold; Miss Ellen Jane Jordan, Garden Grove, in rose and Miss Donita Jordan of Garden Grove, in teel blue.

Lovely Costume

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a charming picture in her white satin gown fashioned with high neckline and long, closely-fitting sleeves. Fastened with orange blossoms, her floor length veil was the same which had been worn 18 years ago by her aunt, Mrs. L. J. Sherwin of Santa Ana. She carried Angeles roses and sweet peas tied with white satin ribbon. Miss Louise Smiley, her sister's honor matron, was in turquoise blue marquisette with a bouquet of gold snapdragons and yellow ranunculuses. Joseph Paino of Orange was Mr. Cannon's best man.

One hundred guests were present for the wedding and the reception which followed. Mrs. Andrew Smiley wore a formal gown of wine taffeta with ranunculuses and Mrs. A. H. Cannon chose black worn with carnations. After the bride had cut the first slice of her prettily-decorated wedding cake, the process was completed by her grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Smiley. This interesting little ceremony took place at a table made attractive with hyacinths, maidenhair fern and tall white tapers in crystal candelabra. Pouring tea were Mrs. D. S. Smiley of Orange, and Mrs. R. E. Paine of Whittier, cousin and aunt of the bride.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Cannon left for their honeymoon trip to Death Valley and Boulder Dam, the bride was wearing a black tailored suit with white blouse, and black and white accessories. The couple will reside at 287 North Olive street, Orange, where Mr. Cannon is employed at Watson's Drug store. Also he is engaged in special work at the Dental laboratory in Anaheim. He attended Fullerton Junior college following graduation from Orange Union High school. The bride, too attended Fullerton Junior college following her graduation from Garden Grove High school.

Convention Delegate Honored at Party

When L. W. Hypes leaves tomorrow on the special California train for the national convention of Coca-Cola company in Atlanta, Ga., he will have plenty of handkerchiefs to see him through the trip. For a shower of handkerchiefs formed one of the pleasant features of a farewell surprise at which Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bear and Mrs. Elsie Blake entertained early in the week in the Bear home, 1046 West Bishop street.

Some two dozen or more employees of the Coco Cola company took part in the enjoyable evening with its varied games program. The gift shower was given a valentine aspect, with all the packages collected in a big valentine bax, placed before the guest of honor during a brief interval when all the lights were turned out.

As conclusion to their hospitality, Mrs. Bear and Mrs. Blake arranged tables on a valentine theme for serving a chili bean supper.

Hospitality is Shown Newcomer to City

Cordially welcoming Mrs. Horace Jones to her own circle of friends, Mrs. Fred Anderson was recent hostess at a dessert bridge party which found pleasant setting in her home, 1512 Louise street. Mr. and Mrs. Jones came to Santa Ana recently from Los Angeles, and are living on North Broadway.

Friends sufficient to form three tables of bridge were invited to share the enjoyable afternoon, which Mrs. Anderson opened with a dessert course. Valentine place cards which later served for recording bridge scores, added a gay color note to the linen-spread tables, each of which had its slim crystal vase of vivid red and white sweet peas. Similiar sweet pea clusters and many red roses formed a valentine background.

Mrs. C. B. Church and Mrs. A. J. McKerley assisted in serving the ice cream rounds, each of which had a red heart center, and white iced cake on which small scarlet hearts were scattered. In subsequent bridge, prize winning scores were made by Mrs. J. R. Stephens and Mrs. Ray Taylor.

Honoree at Shower Given Pretty Layette Gifts

Two friends of long standing figured in a pretty party given Tuesday night when Miss Fern Anderson entertained with a layette shower in honor of her former schoolmate, Mrs. Ruby Holeman (Doris Hossfield.) The home of the hostess' parents, the V. J. Andersons, 930 South Main street was scene of the event.

Since the majority of the 16 guests were old friends, they enjoyed an informal evening of conversation while playing Chinese checkers and other games. Mrs. Holeman was showered with a variety of lovely gifts.

Nut roll ice cream of stork design was served with angle-food squares frosted in pink with white flower ornaments, or in white with pink decorations. Simulating a tiny fountain was the table centerpiece of a crystal figure surrounded by sweet peas. Assisting Miss Anderson in serving and in carrying out other party plans was her mother.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gisler and daughter Eleanor, left yesterday for their home in Oxnard after a few days' Southland visit. They came to take part in the surprise celebration Sunday of the 79th birthday anniversary of Samuel Gisler, 715 South Ross street.

Ebell Members to Honor Husbands at Program Monday Night

Husbands of Ebell society members will be given the opportunity to hear Mrs. Jack Vallely in one of her interesting programs next Monday night when the club will hold its opening February meeting at 8 o'clock in the clubhouse.

In addition to Mrs. Vallely's program of book reviews and current events, will be several numbers by Santa Ana American Legion Auxiliary quartet. In the group are Irma Huffman May (Mrs. Arthur May), Josephine Lykke (Mrs. Andrew Lykke), La Verne Van Wyk (Mrs. Charles Van Wyk) and Zalo Maag (Mrs. Charles Maag.) Accompanying the quartet at the piano will be the director, Miss Ruth Armstrong.

In combining one of the comunity' soutstanding musical groups with one of the club's most popular program features, Ebell society members feel that they are presenting entertainment which will highlight club events of the season. Members are reminded that their husbands are to be special guests.

Heading the list of books for February review are Anderson's words, "How can you tell an American when it comes down to cases? It isn't that he's black or white; it isn't that he works with tools, it's only that it takes away his appetite to live by a book of rules."

The list includes "Days of Our Years" by Pierre Van Passen; "Lafayette", W. E. Woodward; "Queen Victoria's Daughters", E. F. Benson; "Tales of a Wayword Inn," Frank Case, "The Literary Life and the Hell with It", Whit Burnett; "Safe Conduct", Margaret Fishback; "Oscar Wilde", Boris Brasol; "Oscar Wilde," Leslie and Sewell Stokes; "Knickerbocker Holiday" Maxwell Anderson; "F. O. B. Detroit", Wessel Smitter; "Yoke of Stars", Frances Frost; "Song of Years", Bess Streeter Aldrich; "To Remember at Midnight", Michael Foster; "Burro Alley", Edwin Corle.

Pleasant Dinner Event

The nine officers of the lodge and their wives were present to enjoy the tempting dinner menu served buffet style to the accompaniment of valentine appointments. Radio pinochle and Chinese checkers were played during the evening, and prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Flynn, Buster Wells and Mrs. Louis Cock.

Surprise Affair Marks Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Edward Rogers' birthday was given a surprise celebration Tuesday night when Mr. Rogers entertained with a pleasant affair in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Parsons, 606 East Second street.

Twelve guests shared the evening, during which bridge was played. The honoree received a set of rock crystal goblets and sherbets with matching candlesticks from her husband. These table appointments were chosen for the new home which Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have built on South Van Ness avenue.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.—Settin' Around (Republic)—The picture, "Man of Conquest," now nearing completion in this biggest of independent studios, is aptly titled and aptly themed. It deals with the life of Sam Huston, who risked everything on one bold flirtation with Dame Fortune. And that's exactly what Republic is doing in throwing overboard its policy of producing cheap entertainment for a quick-pay market, and gambling a cool million in the hope of gaining "major" standing.

If "Man of Conquest" clicks, Republic moves up for a breath of that rarefied atmosphere that has been the exclusive property of "Big Seven." If the picture flops, then Republic must be content to fall back to its old formula and its old second-rate position. No matter what the result may be, it's a dramatic bid for recognition.

Movie fans, limited to the drama they see on the screen, miss the background drama of Hollywood, which is every bit as exciting. The picture "game" is like a huge roulette wheel. Fortunes are made—and lost—in a day, a week, or a month. And with the fortunes of the principal players, the prospects of thousands of movie workmen grow brighter or fade, for every producer has his coterie of favorite actors, directors and henchmen. When you see "Man of Conquest," you'll merely see a picture, good or bad as the case may be. The informed Hollywoodite, seeing it, is aware of a great deal more drama, for he sees the fate of every one who made it or can be influenced by its public reception.

CHATTER ABOUT REPUBLIC IDOLS: The only western star in pictures who never uses a riding double is Roy Rogers—no in-the-saddle stunt fazes him. That pearl handled six-gun and silver-studded belt Gene Autry wears is enough to make any twelve-year-old boy fairly drool. Funniest sight in weeks: rotund Smiley Burnette shuttling about the lot on a diminutive motor scooter. Gail Patrick could compete with a Greek statue if it were a question of beauty—or if it were a question of temperature. At 62, Bill Farnum would still be my choice in a contest to pick the screen's handsomest man. Actor who best personifies sheer, unadulterated villany. Noah Beery. There's a swaggering dash about Richard Dix that none of our young hopefuls can quite emulate.

On the "Man of Conquest" set, Edward Ellis, as Andrew Jackson, lay dead, surrounded by a circle of awed, respectful mourners. For fifteen minutes before the cameras whirred, Director Nichols had been pleading first with this actor, then that, to get them into the death-chamber mood. And his efforts seemed successful for the scene had great solemnity as it unfolded. But in this business it doesn't pay to count your scenes before they're fully hatched. Midway through the take, every man in the scene began to quake and quiver. Faces were crimson with the effort to force back a laugh. Wearily perched squarely, obtrusively and sedately on the very tip of the "dead man's nose." Still worse, the nose had wiggled.

I suppose this incident means less to you than to me—for you haven't spent twenty years on the Hollywood sidelines, listening to outmoded stars deliver soapbox haranges on the "decline of the acting art." Today, on the "Mexicali Rose" set, I was chatting with William Farnum, one of yesterday's greatest. "What is the most significant change in pictures in the past twenty years?" I asked. "That's very easy to answer," said Farnum frankly. "The one great improvement is the average quality of the acting. These kids, today, make the old timers look like novices."

* * *

Best laugh on the Republic lot concerns the producer of the Gene Autry horse operas. The other day, with a new picture "in the can," he took his cost sheet to the front office and proudly called attention to the fact that he had stayed within his budget—"in the black" he said, pointing to the column of figures. "Then how come your last entry is in red ink?" demanded the big boss, skeptically. "That?" said the producer—"well, you see I ran out of black ink. If I'd bought a bottle I'd have been in the red!"

* * *

Smiley Burnette, having gained some fifty pounds in the past year, has just gone on a diet—and he's not too happy about it. "The thing I can't understand is why the doc makes me give up eating breakfast. That can't do me much good because breakfast is my lightest meal. I never eat much more than a stack of hot cakes, fruit, ham and eggs, and cereal!"

THE MIXING BOWL
By ANN MEREDITH

It is almost unbelievable that clams can flavor a meat loaf acceptably . . . but it is true just the same.

Clams cooked with canned corn is another fine way to use this canned fish. I suggest combining the clams and juice with canned corn, heating the two items before adding 2 egg yolks beaten with ¼ cup cream and 3 tablespoons flour. Fold in stiffly whipped whites and bake in a shallow casserole.

Still another corn and clam combination is done this way: Combine the two with mashed potatoes (drain away excess liquid before mixing with potatoes). Form into balls or cakes, roll in crumbs and pan-fry or put in frying basket and plunge into deep frying fat to brown.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Date Loaf Cake

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
¾ teaspoon soda dissolved in the juice of 1 orange, grated rind added to batter
2 cups cake flour sifted twice with
1 teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sweet milk mixed with
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup unchopped walnut meats
1½ cups sliced dates.

Cream butter and sugar, add unbeaten egg yolks and whip well. Add dissolved soda and whip in mixing batter, adding nuts and again. Alternate flour and milk dates with flour. Fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in a loaf tin, allowing 50 minutes in a medium slow oven.

Icing this cake is tantamount to gilding the lily. If it reaches the stale state, slice, steam and serve with hot lemon sauce as a pudding dessert.

Shrimp Salad

1 cup cut macaroni, cooked and well rinsed in hot water
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup finely sliced celery
1 bunch green onions, chopped fine
Dash of celery seed and paprika
Salt and pepper
Mayonnaise.

Rinse the can of shrimp in hot water and remove the black vein in back of each shrimp before dicing.

Have cooked macaroni and eggs well chilled before combining with shrimp and other ingredients. Dilute ¼ cup thick mayonnaise with a little buttermilk, pour over salad ingredients and mix, using two forks. Line a salad bowl with lettuce, pile salad in bowl and garnish top with additional mayonnaise, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Kingdom Builders Honor Birthday Celebrants

February birthday celebrants were honored Tuesday night during a meeting of Spurgeon Memorial Kingdom Builders class in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Onie Sanders, 811 East First street.

Mrs. Nat Travis, Elmer Everett and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Shostag were in the honored group. Mrs. Carl du Rall had baked a pretty birthday cake which was served with other cakes provided by Mrs. Everett and Mrs. Paul Fisher. Fruit jello topped with whipped cream and coffee were features of the refreshments.

Twenty-two members shared the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders. Games were played during the informal evening.

Nominees Are Named

Coincident with announcement made to Santa Ana clubwomen of the list of nominees for office in the California federation of Women's clubs, was news of the sudden death of Mrs. George H. Hall of Ojai, chairman of the state nominating board. Mrs. Hall's passing resulted from a heart attack immediately following her return to her Ojai home from a meeting of her nominating committee in Berkeley.

May, 3, 4 and 5 are the dates for the annual convention of the California federation in Oakland, at which the list of nominees will be presented for voting. Mrs. Thomas H. Richards of Chico is the committee's choice for president. On the ticket with her are Mrs. I. H. Tielman of Selma, vice-president; Mrs. John Stearns Thayer of Los Angeles, vice-president-at-large; Mrs. J. E. Taylor of Oakley, secretary; Mrs. John Stewart of Hemet, treasurer; Mrs. Harold P. Dyer of San Francisco, auditor.

Mrs. Richards is serving the present administration as chairman of American citizenship and Mrs. Stewart as chairman of federation extension. The other candidates are district presidents; Mrs. Tielman of San Joaquin Valley, Mrs. Thayer of Los Angeles, Mrs. Taylor of Alameda, and Mrs. Dyer of San Francisco.

Mayflower Club Meets With Mrs. Shidler

Mrs. V. C. Shidler and Mrs. A. T. Perkins observed a valentine motif in decorative details for a meeting of Mayflower club at which they were hostesses Tuesday afternoon in Mrs. Shidler's home, 1129 South Garnsey street.

Cards were played following a short business meeting. Plans were made to meet March 7 at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Carl Fisher, 405 East Washington avenue. It was reported that two members of the club are ill, Mrs. W. G. Pagenkopp following an operation which she underwent several days ago in Santa Ana valley hospital, and Mrs. Fannie Cunningham, who has been in poor health for some time.

Mrs. Shidler and Mrs. Perkins served refreshments on individual trays. Centering the dining room table was the club's housewarming gift to the Shidlers, white pottery flower containers with matching candlesticks.

OUR IDEA OF NEWS

On the Society Page today, we are explaining to the readers a little change in policy as to what is news. We believe that a newspaper, or any business enterprise, should take the customers into its confidence and explain why certain changes are made. The customers, in the first place, are entitled to know because they are the real bosses of any successful institution. And for a concern to change a policy, without telling the customers, is certainly anything but fair.

We believe, if a business concern is fair with its customers and takes them into its confidence, the customers, in turn, will be fair to the institution. One of the reasons why people have become so skeptical—and justly so—is they have been lied to so often that naturally self-preservation makes them skeptical. But sooner or later, these people begin to know whom to believe and whom not to believe. If any business concern is trying to serve its customers, the manager need not hesitate, and in fact we believe it is good business, to explain to his customers what kind of a service he is trying to render.

AN EXPLANATION THAT DOES NOT EXPLAIN

Under the "Clearing House," in today's issue, Senator Harry Westover has an article attempting to explain why he introduced the so-called "Santa Claus Bill." He says that most of the bills are introduced into the legislature because they are requested by certain groups.

We would like to know from Senator Westover whether he believes it is good policy for Senators to so "pussyfoot" that they will introduce any bill that any special group might want presented?

We would ask the Senator if the legislators should not be frank enough and honest enough and sincere enough to refuse to introduce a bill in which they do not believe?

We would ask the Senator if it is the purpose of the Senators to introduce anything that anybody wants to present in order to get advertising and not offend anybody?

We would ask the Senator if this is not a rather expensive habit, to require the printing for so many bills and detract from the attention of the committees of the legislature on important matters in order to satisfy some special constituent?

It would seem only reasonable to expect a Senator, or a legislator, not to be introducing bills promiscuously, with the sole purpose of trying to get more votes to be re-elected.

The columns are open, Mr. Westover, to talk on the subject and answer these questions.

STAYING AT HOME

At least that's a fair deduction from the 1938 figures on fatal accidents compiled by the National Safety Council. They show that while 32,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents, 32,500 were killed by accidents in their own homes.

For the first time in 10 years the home was more deadly than traffic, for while concentrated traffic safety drives were cutting the traffic toll by 7640, a reduction of 19 per cent, fatal home accidents increased two per cent.

The safety prevention work of the National Safety Council and other agencies proved them a real national asset in the year just passed. For they helped the United States to cut its accident death toll by 10,200 for the year. Further, 700,000 fewer persons were disabled by injuries in 1938 than in 1937.

Sentiment aside, there is a tremendous economic gain for the country in thus cheating death of what he has come to regard as his legitimate prey.

But the toll of accidental death still is a terrible one, and the encouraging results of the 1938 safety campaigns should stimulate everyone to seek even better results this year.

STATE GOVERNMENT'S APPROPRIATION BILL

The apologists for the large increase in government expenditures contend that every government previously had increased the appropriation so the present Governor is justified in increasing the appropriation.

If we reason from our mistakes, we can justify any action, and, because the Republicans were creating jobs and wasting wealth and passing a lot of bad, extravagant, and character-destroying legislation, is no excuse for continuing to do it.

Now, when the prices of farm products are as low as they are and the man who is not on the government payroll is having such a tough time, there is no excuse for increasing the budget. Let the legislators repeal a lot of the laws which "freeze" certain funds, or introduce initiatives to have them repealed. The people of California will pay a very severe penalty unless they awaken and repeal some of the laws and initiatives passed under former administrations. We cannot continue to increase the amount that goes to the state when the income of its citizens is getting less and less.

CAPITAL DOESN'T DO IT; PROFIT DOES IT

(Saturday Evening Post)

H. H. Franklin, of Syracuse, founder of the moorcar company that bore his name, and of the diecasting industry, read Blessings of Bigness on this page recently and wrote us.

"You ask why," he said, "it is possible to sell, at ever-decreasing prices, the modern automobile and other products of daily use. The question is very much to the point, but more important, more basic, is the answer to the question: How is development, manufacture and distribution brought to the point of bigness?

"Basically capital, as such, does not do it. Big business does not do it. Capital would have nothing to do with the automobile, the telephone, and the like, in their infancy. Not until they had demonstrated a permanent demand was capital or big business attracted. A little money is obtained here, a little there, but rarely, if ever, from big money. The inventors and promoters reach success by the profit route, by putting back their profits into development and growth. This was true of the Franklin Company and of the die-casting business. It is true of virtually all business.

"In all the discussion and political agitation of the profit system, so far as I know, this basic factor in progress is overlooked. It also is overlooked, I think, in the current patent investigation. The patent system enables the inventor to progress to the point of attention.

"Henry Ford spurned capital. Under our present laws and under the course our country is taking, the Henry Ford success never can be repeated, nor any similar industrial achievement. How can new developments come along if profit cannot be retained, if business cannot make growth out of itself?"

REJECTED

(New York Times)

Last Summer President Roosevelt appointed Floyd H. Roberts as a Federal District Judge for Virginia. It was a recess appointment. In the words of Mr. Glass the other day, the nomination was "utterly and personally offensive" to the two Virginia Senators. They had sent to Mr. Roosevelt the names of two other candidates. He was aware of "the courtesy of the Senate." Nominations not acceptable to the Senators of the State from which the nominees come are almost certain to be rejected. The qualifications of the nominees are scarcely considered. Mr. Glass has said that Mr. Roberts "has had no experience," but that was a mere side issue. Governor Price and Representative Flannagan of Virginia, Democrats bitterly opposed to the two Virginia Senators, were the sponsors of Mr. Roberts.

It would have been easy for the President to have selected a person fitted for the post and not obnoxious to Mr. Glass and Mr. Byrd. He was willing to face a test of strength. In anticipation of it he promised to write "an interesting letter." He could scarcely have foreseen, however, the disastrous rebuff that he got yesterday. The Senate turned down the nomination by a vote of 8 to 1. While partisan feeling may have had its part in the comparative solidarity of the vote by which the Senate defended a custom against which strong argument can be made, and which at times has resulted in the confirmation of judges of doubtful caliber, in the present case Mr. Roosevelt is clearly the author of his own difficulty. He went out of his way to make a gesture of disapproval of the Virginia Senators, and on that issue a large majority of his own party deserted him. It must be added regretfully that some of his other appointments to judicial office seem to have been made primarily for political considerations.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

"IN THE NAME OF HUMAN DECENCY"

Press dispatches quote President Roosevelt as saying that the $150,000,000 should be restored for the WPA "in the name of human decency."

This phrase is a good phrase and I am glad to discuss it.

"In the name of human decency," why did the Administration spend so much money before the election, if he is interested in the suffering of humanity?

"In the name of human decency," how does he expect these men to ever be returned to private employment if they keep taking the tools from private employment to pay these men for producing practically no wealth?

"In the name of human decency," why does he advocate bills that require slow and inefficient men to be paid more than they can produce in private enterprise and, thus, throw them in idleness?

"In the name of human decency" why does he not protect people when they want to work and are interferred with by sit-down strikers?

"In the name of human decency," why does he not tell the people the real truth as to why there is unemployment, instead of misrepresenting the facts. Practically every person in the United States, who does not have a government job or wants it, knows why there is unemployment. But these people who are self-appointed humanists and have never demonstrated their humanism, but insist on others doing things that they themselves cannot do, are the real cause of the people of this country getting poorer and poorer.

"In the name of human decency," why does he not look at the future and see the untold suffering that is bound to result by more and more centralization of power and the confiscation of private initiative by inefficient politicians?

These holier-than-thou humanists, who are so sympathetic for those people out of work, will be responsible, if this thing continues, for real poverty and real suffering. The policies of the Republican and Democratic parties, if continued, will bring about the same condition that is happening now in Spain and Mexico and has happened in Germany and Italy.

"In the name of human decency" why do Republicans and Democrats not permit free enterprise to function sufficiently so that every man who wants to work can have a selection of jobs? If the thing continues, there will be only one employer—and that will be the government. That means serfdom, poverty, misery, loss of character and morale.

SURPRISING INTEREST IN THE CONSTITUTION

In President Roosevelt's letter to Judge Roberts, he says, "the rejection of your nomination will have a good effect on the citizenship and the thinking of the whole nation in that it will tend to create a greater interest in the Constitution of our country, a greater interest in its preservation in accordance with the intention of the gentlemen who wrote it."

If that is not irony! When Roosevelt has done as much as any man who ever lived, to help wreck the principles which the founders of the Constitution had in mind. The founders of the Constitution tried to protect the minority against the majority. The founders of the Constitution believed there were certain inalienable rights with which the majority had no right to interfere, but if the encroaching policies on the inalienable rights of the individual of the present administration are carried out, it eventually will mean that we will not even have the right to worship as we see fit.

Even now, we do not have a right to pray uncontrolled as men like Franklin, Emerson and Thoreau believed was to pray—that is, "to work is to pray."

But Roosevelt has had laws enacted which prevented people from praying by working as they believed to their advantage. And laws like these are about as far removed from the ideas of the framers of the Constitution as Harry Bridges' ideas are from the ideas of Benjamin Franklin.

During the January session of the Legislature, I introduced what is known as the "Santa Claus" Bill. You have commented in your columns concerning this Bill.

I believe that in controversial matters you are more than willing to present to your readers both sides of the controversy. This Bill has caused a lot of discussion, probably because of a misunderstanding of what it was intended to do. In fairness to your readers and to myself, I believe that you should publish the enclosed statement. I am rather satisfied that the majority of the people of this county would favor the Bill if they understood it.

Enclosed Statement

Upon my return from Sacramento, I found that undue emphasis had been placed upon a certain bill, which I saw fit to introduce in the Legislature during the January session. The bill is commonly known as the "Santa Claus" Bill. I have been asked by various parties to explain the Bill.

Most of the bills introduced in the Legislature are introduced because requested by certain groups. People are generally only interested in certain kinds of legislation and make an effort to have introduced in the Legislature, bills to further that legislation.

There has been considerable agitation in this state, relative to the restriction of liquor advertisements and some have gone so far as to propose legislation prohibiting any sort of liquor advertising. During the 1937 session of the Legislature, a bill was introduced which prohibited the use of the human figure in liquor advertisements. The bill was defeated because it was opposed by the liquor interests. However, during the past two years, sentiment against promiscuous liquor advertisements has grown to such an extent that the liquor industry, at the present time, is more or less receptive to a restricted advertising campaign.

Several groups approached me relative to the introduction of a bill prohibiting the use of the figure of Santa Claus in liquor advertisements. My response was that I thought if the figure Santa Claus was to be prohibited in any industry that it should also be prohibited in all. Consequently, when the bill was drawn up, it prohibited the use of the figure of Santa Claus in all commercial advertisements. However, the bill is primarily directed against the use of the figure of Santa Claus for the sale of intoxicating liquor.

Fellow Citizens: It is a pleasure to say that our Local Unions enjoy most pleasant relations with the employers of this county. We have not had a serious dispute in years. We are usually able to iron out our differences in joint conferences, without resorting to the field of strife. This is the enlightened method for handling the employer-employee relationship.

We seek to have the members of the A. F. of L. be not only good craftsmen in their particular line of work, but also good citizens of our County as well. We are always interested in civic progress and betterment. Measures for the common good and advancement of our community never fail to receive our active support.

During the life of our organization many revolutionary changes have come to pass. We have sought to meet and absorb each chance, not only for the best interests of our membership but of the public as a whole. Our pioneering members, many of whom we still have with us have seen sweeping changes in employer-employee relationship during the years of our existence.

Just as the conference table is replacing the field of open combet between nations, so is cooperation and cordial feeling taking the place of hostility with which the employers and a large portion of the public once regarded Organized Labor as a whole.

When workers earn wages they spend them for the products of industry. And all groups of our citizens are benefited by their purchases, as goods move from factories to retail stores, from retail stores to consumers. And thus business, as well as employment is stimulated throughout the process. The interest of one is the concern of all. This has long been the motto of our Unions, and we feel that it is equally as good a slogan for the general citizenship of our county.

SECOND PRIZE ESSAY

(Editor's Note: The following is the second prize article in the Junior group as to "What Is A Reasonable Profit.")

* * *

A Reasonable Profit

What is a reasonable profit? Anyone who stopped to think a moment would probably reply, "Well, that's rather hard to say." And indeed it is hard to say, for there are many things to take into consideration. First we must understand what is meant by profit. Most business men consider it as that amount left over after all costs of the business have been paid. This remaining amount is the compensation of the enterpriser (1) for his part in production. Most enterprisers carry on their businesses in the hope of gaining some reward in the form of profits.

Then, before we can realize what might be considered a fair profit, we must understand what and whom the profit of a business rewards. First, profits must compensate the enterprisers—owners and managers—for the amount of capital they have risked in their business and for their work of supervising and managing that business. The reward of profits, however, goes farther than this. Each enterpriser has a great responsibility in guiding his business and making decisions for the future. These decisions naturally entail a great deal of uninsurable risk and threat of loss that must be borne by him. He can be said to capitalize his prevision of the future. Naturally he stands to lose as well as to gain. It is obviously unfair to critize a man for making large profits now if he is threatened with future losses or has lost money in the past. A profit must also be considered to some as probably a reward for more efficient and less wasteful production or for some special service rendered. Perhaps a company has made more money through the discovery of a new device or through eliminating waste or through possibly an excellent bit of foresight in its prevision of future demand; profit rewards the company later for the skill or initiative of its directors or promoters. This element of guidance and initiative to some extent even holds true for stockholders, who by their investments direct business from less productive to more productive services.

True profits, it would seem then, are rewards for services rendered, and that enterpriser who renders the greatest possible service or adds to the maximum degree of usefulness to goods tends to forge ahead, for the profits gained by pure chance are inclined to disappear under corresponding losses—also a result of chance. There is one type of profit, however, that seems to be unreasonable, and that is profit gained by unscrupulous or monopolistic practices. If an enterpriser gains profit by falsely advertising his product, or cheating the consumer, or trying to get some form of monopoly or illegal device in order to artificially raise the prices of his product, then any profit he makes is unreasonable. A profit of thousands of dollars made by a man through operating his business efficiently and exercising good foresight is justified; even a small profit if it is made by unethical and dishonest means is certainly not.

We must also consider that if a man appears to be making unusually high profits in a certain field, he will invite competition by others, who will then tend to lower the amount he makes by their competition. In fact, some economists say that under perfect and stable conditions of competition pure profit actually tends to disappear, although the incentive to get it remains and consequently stimulates enterprise.

Thus we might say that the reasonableness of a profit depends not so much on the amount, but more, perhaps, on the method of obtaining it. A man's profit, whatever it is, is fair if it is made by serving the needs of others more fully under a system of honest competition.

(1) Usually considered as the ultimate owners of a business who make the final decisions and assume the final responsibility of management.

Early Discovery of Neuritis Best Assurance of Recovery

Aside from the pain, the chief symptoms of neuritis are those associated with either loss of motion because the nerves which cause the muscles to act are paralyzed,, or loss of sensation because the nerves which transmit sensation to the brain are paralyzed.

If the cause of neuritis is found early, the patient recovers frequently without any permanent damage. If, however, the cause runs on for a long time, the damage may be so serious that complete recovery does not occur.

* * *

In cases in which inflammation or destruction of the nerve extends to those parts of the body concerned with breathing or with the action of the heart. neuritis may cause death. There is also the great danger that failure of the tissues to act in a normal manner may result in secondary disturbances like bronchitis, pneumonia or tuberculosis affecting a lung which does not act properly. Another danger is secondary inflammation of the kidneys in cases of poisoning by metals.

The indication that the condition is recovering is the disappearance of pain or of excessive sensibility, the return of sensation where sensation has been lost and the return of motor power. The return of motor power comes first in the muscles which were affected least. Muscles which were first paralyzed are usually last to recover.

It is well to have the attention of a competent orthopedic specialist who will see to it that the paralyzed tissues are regularly exercised and that they are held in suitable position during the time when the paralysis in the muscles is present.

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—John Flynn has a piece in Harper's called "The Social Security Reserve Swindle" from which it would appear that this country's only hope lies in the possibility of being wrong. He gives little comfort on that score, for he is one of those tip-of-the-tongue, I'm-glad-you-asked-me writers who can carry in his head a string of figures as long as the score-by-innings, and he never steps back. He is an economic Anthony Comstock, forever on the prowl for obscenity in the field of his interest and yelling, "Officer, arrest that man!" He can fuss big.

John is saying that, in the first place, a government insurance plan needs no great reserve because a government can put the bite on the citizens for the necessary money as it goes along. If it puts a great big lump into dead storage that is not so good, because the money ought to be on the loose among the people, buying shoes for the baby and all like that. If it invests in property or industry, then pretty soon private industry is paying taxes to finance cut-throat rivals in which the government is a partner. And if it invests the money in its own bonds at 3 per cent and spends both principal and interest for current expenses the money is gone and the bonds are strictly Peruvian

That is what they are doing with the reserve. Employe and employer pay their money into a kitty, but instead of saving it for them the treasury grabs it as fast as it comes in, dropping in its I. O. U.'s, and spends it off on quoddies and rest cures for tired cabineteers. It pays the reserve 3 per cent on these touches, but that interest money, too, is then lifted out and spent and replaced in the reserve for further I. O. U.'s.

"Al lthis time," says John, "the government will pay interest on the reserve. To pay this interest it will have to impose additional taxes. By 1942 it will have to raise taxes for interest of $84,000,000. By 1950 almost $500,000,000.

John calls this a fraud because the people were given to believe that the benefits would be paid out of the tax on the payroll and wage of American industry and labor. They didn't understand they would be double-taxed to provide spending money for the government, and he puts the finger on this reserve thing as an international gyp never intended as a reserve at all but as a sucker to which the treasury might peddle vast quantities of bonds which there is no intention to redeem.

Harper's costs 40 cents, which is more than most people can afford to pay for good news, much less for bad, so I houe John will warm over his piece for the 3 cent trade. He writes, for all that I can detect to the contrary, a very high-learned type of knowing on this kind of thing, but does it in a language that can be understood by my friend George Spelvin, the average American, known earlier, in the phrase of the late Bill Shepherd, as the milkman in Omaha.

If Mr. Spelvin and the milkman are being swindled out of their social security contributions and losing wages, too, as employers cut payrolls and replace men with machines to reduce their social security taxes, all in a pretense of creating a reserve which is spent as fast as it comes in, why, men, that there is stealing! If John is right, then the social security embodies and conceals an income tax on a lot of people whom Congress, in its wisdom and pity, expressly exempted from the regular income tax on the ground that it would be a shame to take their money.

There has been other writing and talk to this effect, but it is a free topic and Mr. Flynn is the first to picturize a pyramiding deficit which isn't carried on the regular books at all but on the cuff and falsely represented as a reserve.

It recalls a story they tell in Louisville of Henry Watterson's informality about money. He used to help himself out of the cash drawer, which was always out of balance because he wouldn't bother to drop in chits. So they called him on that, and the next time he hit the till for poker money Marse Henry put in a little memorandum which said, tersely, "Took it all. Henry Watterson."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON— In order to get full perspective regarding Roosevelt's recent press conference on international policy, it is necessary to go back to his message of January 4 and its effect on the Fascist-Nazi nations of Europe.

In Berlin and Rome that speech fell like a pall. German and Italian foreign office officials went around in a blue funk. To them the Roosevelt message to Congress meant that the United States would supply material to France and Britan in case of war.

This was exactly the reaction President Roosevelt intended. For, beginning around Christmas, he had become convinced that war was sure to break in Europe this spring and that there was only one possible chance of heading it off, namely by indicating to the Rome-Berlin axis that it would have to reckon with the raw material and munitions strength of the United States.

Roosevelt's idea, in other words, was that nations make war only when they can see immediate victory. With a long drawn out war in sight they think twice.

Today military strategists admit that any immediate European war would result in victory for Italy and Germany unless their opponents could get the material support of the United States, in which case the conflict probably would settle down to a long stalemate. Roosevelt's cheif aim, therefore, has been to try to head off war by making the risk too great for Hitler and Mussolini.

Nazi Press

Immediate effects after January 4th appeared to be good. Rome and Berlin both were scared. Then the Nazi-Fascist controlled press go to work. They played up the anti-Semitic angle, claimed that Roosevelt had become the tool of Jewish bankers in New York, was pitching the USA into war at the behest of the Jews. Naturally the Nazis knew these reports would be cabled back to the American press.

Nazi papers headlined all the speeches of Representative Ham Fish, also of Senator Reynolds of North Carolina, who visited Berlin last summer. These eminent statesmen were played up to the German people as representative of the great American masses; Roosevelt as the tyrant.

Later Senators Clark, Nye and Hiram Johnson became the great heroes of the Nazi-Fascist papers. This press play was partly for the purpose of making the German and Italian people believe they had nothing to worry about from the United States, partly for the effect upon the American public through reprints in the American press.

Roosevelt Trapped

He has now put himself into the position of appearing to have contradicted himself on American foreign policy within one month. On January 4 he indicated that the United States would give material help to European democracies; on February 3 he said the United States had entered no alliances.

Actually the two do not conflict, but the impression given the public is conflicting. Also the President was on the defensive. Certainly the hallelujahs of the Nazi-Fascist press picture the President in full and complete retreat.

Real fact about last week's press conference was that Roosevelt did not lose his temper, did not scold. He was calm, collected, had prepared his words carefully in advance.

But many headlines talked of an "angry" president. Net result of the conference, in any case, was a dud. It will rank alongside the "horse and buggy" statement, made after the Supreme Court threw out the Schechter NRA case, as one of the definite press boners of Franklin Roosevelt.

Responsibility

Tip off as to who inspired last week's press conference came after all newspapermen had departed. Alone beside the President stood Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the Foreign Relations committee.

"Was that what you wanted?" asked the President.

"That was just right," replied the Senator. "Nobody in Congress can now say a word."

War Talk

Most damaging of all reports to have leaked from Roosevelt's conference with the Senate Military Affairs committee last week was the remark attributed to the President that "America's new frontier is now on the Rhine."

This was widely quoted not only in the United States, but abroad. And at the historic press conference which followed, the President remarked: "I would like to know the boob who got off that one."

Here is the inside on the "boob" who got it off.

Republican members of the Senate Military Affairs committee were being interviewed by the press. After they had outlined the President's remarks, one of the newspapermen observed: "That means that our new frontier is on the Rhine, doesn't it?"

There was no dissent from this, and the story was put on the wires to newspaper, indicating that the remark had come from the President, himself.

NOTE—While several Republican Senators did a lot of talking after their supposedly confidential conference with the President, one of his critics who did not talk was Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri. Clark came back to his office, wrote in long hand a careful report of the meeting with the President, put it in a sealed envelope and said nothing to anyone.

State Department Expose'

Claude Bowers, Ambassador to Spain, has written some great books in his day, but the most historic has never been published. It is his confidential story of the Spanish revolution and the part which the United States played—or failed to play—in the tragedy of Spain.

Ambassador Bowers has completed the manuscript but it will not be published until he resigns from the diplomatic service. When that time comes his book will cause international reverberations. It will expose the fascist clique in the State Department and how it watched the death throes of the Spanish Republic.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

The Ominous 1940-1941

By WALTER E. SPAHR

Professor of Economics, New York University

Why should conservatives look forward with pleasure to the prospects of being returned to power in 1940? It is reported that Mr. Berle, wishes to withdraw as Assistant Secretary of State, so that he can think—particularly about how to meet the coming business recession or collapse which he believes will occur in 1941. It is also reported that Chancellor Hitler is urging Premier Mussolini to avoid war until 1940. It is also being said that President Roosevelt has adopted the Fascist method of maintaining an apparent and temporary prosperity by engaging in war preparations which will either come to an end in 1940, through the defeat of the New Dealers, or will lose its effectiveness about that time in any event.

Should there be a change of government in 1940, and should these ominous forecasts fail to materialize, a new administration will, under the most favorable circumstances, be faced with a very unhealthy situation. But should these forecasts regarding a collapse and perhaps a war in 1940 or 1941 prove accurate, then the situation for a new administration will, of course, be much more aggravating.

It would be an excellent thing if a way could be devised by which a party in power could be made to stew in its own juice. The common methods of changing governments rarely make this possible.

It is important to realize that New Dealers came in after recovery had started in July, 1932, and that the collapse of the banking system in the spring of 1933 was clearly due to the studied efforts of the incoming administration, through non-cooperation with the outgoing administration, and through sabotaging schemes, to precipitate the worst possible situation so that the outgoing administration would get the blame and the incoming administration the glory.

As one of Mr. Roosevelt's advisers said: "They (the New Dealers) were fully aware of the bank situation and that it would undoubtedly collapse in a few days, which would place the responsibility in the lap of President Hoover." When President Hoover was informed of this scheme, he wrote to a friend that "When I consider this statement of ———'s in connection with the recommendations that we have made to the incoming administration, I can say emphatically that he breathes with infamous politics devoid of every atom of patriotism. Mr. ——— would project millions of people into hideous losses for a Roman holiday."

That was precisely what happened. A Roman holiday was arranged, and it was carried out with great gusto. After the closing of the banks, it began with the President's inaugural address which dealt with the indictment of "the money changers" and opened the gates to a flood of class hatred. The game worked. The public swallowed it hook, line and sinker. Michelson was brought in to conduct a smearing campaign, which also worked.

But there were good reasons why the people should have been misled. Like many economists, I, too, was misled, even though as an economist I was trying to follow the situation closely. It was only at a much later date, when I was able to see official documents and to interview persons directly involved in the principal episodes of this period, that I was able to get the facts in the case.

It was not long after the election of November, 1932, that disturbing facts began to reveal themselves. Although Mr. Roosevelt, just prior to the election had vigorously asserted his intention to maintain a sound currency and to guard what he called the gold covenant in the government's securities, he would not reaffirm his position on money at any time after his election. Both he and the Democrats in Congress refused to cooperate with Mr. Hoover. Practically everything they did destroyed confidence and increased the runs on the banks. All these transactions comprise a rather long ist. They constitute a disgraceful chapter in our political history. It will probably require a long time for the essential facts to reach the American people. In my next article I propose to list some of the more important of these amazing facts.

SERIAL STORY

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Dick had once dated Susie as a jest. Now she recalls the day sorrowfully, wishes she might have been beautiful just for him.

CHAPTER IV

SUSIE went to bed, but not to sleep. Her thoughts still pursued the well-worn path of memory. She had bought an evening dress for Dick's party, bright blue, moire taffeta on the outside, definitely sateen underneath. It was long and extremely backless and sported two red velvet poppies on the bosom. She bought high-heeled red sandals. Actually they made her feet appear pretty and small but they hurt terribly.

On the day of the party she had her hair done, marcelled into a frizz, the bangs swirling from left to right. The frizz made her hair shorter than ever, it left a straight fringe on her chubby neck. She had her nails manicured, very pink, very shiny. She bought bath powder and a brilliant shade of lipstick.

By Saturday night Susie was in a dither. It took her two hours to dress. She dropped everything, upset everything. The thin silk hose were a bit short when she carefully pulled them over her well-rounded knees. The tight, backless brassiere snapped off its one hook when she leaned over and she had to undress. The dress was more snug than she had thought it in the shop, but the long skirt was beautifully slenderizing.

Susie's mirror said unflattering things concerning bright blue with her sallow skin. She airily denied the accusation and put on more rouge. Her mouth, cherry red to the far corners, was enormous. This, too, she refused to admit. It was no night for faultfinding.

Over the festive gown she wore her spring coat, the swagger style. Noticing its dimensions one of the waitresses had said, "Susie's coat must have been made by Omar the Tentmaker." Susie was sorry she had no evening wrap, but a budget could only be stretched so far.

* * *

NEVER would Susie forget the moment when Dick arrived. Nothing that happened afterward could quite blur the rapture of that moment. Waiting in the lower hall, tense with anticipation, she had opened the door for him. Had he looked horrified for a split second? Surely not. Smiling, he removed his hat. Oh, the cleanness of him, the breathtaking smoothness of his hair, the splendor of his evening clothes, the whole perfection of him.

Susie always remembered what he said. "Lady, the carriage waits." She had giggled hysterically.

The carriage was a roadster, long and low and swanky. Susie tripped on her long dress and literally fell into the seat. The top was down and the night air blew some of the frizz out of her hair, leaving dismally unmanageable strands. On the drive to the fraternity house she laughed too much, talked too much, was jumpy as a toy balloon. All at once Susie was stricken with fear. What went on at a fraternity dance? She hadn't an idea. Exhilaration dissolved and with it went confidence.

"I've never been to a nice party," she said to Dick. "Maybe I shouldn't have come."

He took her to the dressing room and, as she entered, the chatter ceased. Girls everywhere in slim satins, soft chiffons, their heads coifed smoothly, their eyebrows daintily arched. Some of the girls turned their backs as Susie uncertainly took off the spring coat. She heard a suppressed snicker. Several of the more kindly inclined said, "Hello, Susie," and she stammered an answer. Then the girls left Susie alone, she heard the ripple of their laughter on the stairs.

Nervously powdering her nose she stopped, aghast at what she saw in the long mirror, squat bulk, overhanging eyegrows, the bulging fatness of her back. Frantically she fussed with her hair while panic seized her. She couldn't go down—she couldn't—.

* * *

AFTER that the party was a series of vague impressions, young men whom she had served with waffles being ostentatiously polite, girls who ignored her, dress too tight, shoes too tight, Dick always there. From 9:30 until one Susie danced with Dick, stumbling, losing the step, coming up with a jolt against his smoothly moving feet."

At twelve she had said, "Take me home, Dick."

He looked at his wrist watch. "Just a little longer, Susie." There was a white line of fatigue around Dick's young mouth. He smiled gallantly. At one they were served with tiny sandwiches and huge black olives, sherbert and coffee. The girls were presented with favors, little silver compacts with the Delta Phi emblem embossed on one side. Susie was delighted with the trinket.

At two, descending the stairs, again enfolded in the spring coat, she saw one of the older boys talking to Dick in a low tone. Distinctly she heard the words "kiss her" and Dick's angry exclamation. Bewildered, she saw Dick tear the pledge pin from his vest. The older boy backed away, refusing the pin, laughing, saying, "Okay—you don't need to get sore." None of it made sense to Susie.

Sitting comfortably in the roadster beside a strangely preoccupied escort, Susie pondered over the incident in the hall. Obviously the upper classman had not wanted Dick to kiss her. Her blood pounded furiously at the thought. And Dick had been angry at the interference. Tremblingly, Susie waited.

At last she glanced at him from under her heavy brows. "Why didn't he want you to kiss me?" she asked, rather ingeniously for one unversed in subleties.

What Susie had answered still lay like a scorching coal in her heart after four years. She had said, "Well—if you want to and—and if I don't care—." Unkissed, hungry for love, flaming with it—.

* * *

DICK stopped the car at Susie's shabby rooming house. "Look," he said, "I don't like fellows who kiss every girl they take out. I think it's common and not very complimentary to the girl."

"I've never been kissed," she said wistfully. It wasn't like Susie to be forward. Something outside herself, or perhaps within herself, wanted to be kissed. The still, crisp night, the star bitten sky, Dick's clean, honest mouth, the urge of youth—she leaned heavily against him.

Dick still hesitated. "Would it make you feel better about tonight if I kissed you?" he asked. She gazed at him, not understanding. "If you knew I'd never take you out again would you want me to kiss you?"

Susie raised her lips and he kissed her. It was a quick, reluctant kiss, but in that instant, Susie's lonely, thwarted heart gave itself into Dick's keeping without thought of consequences, without question. Little wings of ecstacy beat in her heart, the cool night whispered, life had suddenly become mysterious and sweet. Love had come to stay with Susie.

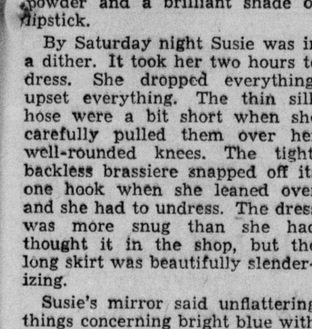

"Thank you," she said softly.

He came in for a waffle the next day, but by that time Susie had learned the bitter truth. Her hurt was so deep and so wide that the bud of love might have been nipped had Dick been anyone except himself.

(To Be Continued)

MENTAL ILLNESS

"If you had a child who defied you, who made life miserable for everybody in the household, from oldest to youngest, what would you do with her? All through her school life she bedeviled the teachers, fought with her schoolmates, and annoyed her brothers and sisters. She gets along with nobody. She manages to get a job, one after the other, because she is good-looking, has fine manners when she wants to use them, and is a good secretary. But she never keeps a job long because she soon finds that somebody is putting thing over on her. Always someone is putting something over on her, and she won't stand for it. We are torn apart by this young woman. What can we do?"

One does what one can do. It is not possible to put a daughter out of the house, but surely, when a young woman can work and support herself, she ought to have that responsibility put squarely upon her own shoulders. If this daughter knew that there were no family, no comfortable bed, no good dinner waiting for her, maybe she would behave better.

If not, wouldn't it be a good idea to have the doctor see her? One could insist upon that. Such people have to have some authority rule them. Why not at this time for this purpose? She cannot be mentally healthy. Her behavior says plainly that she is uncertain of herself and of her relationship to everybody else. This calls for expert medical care, and the sooner the better.

Such patients are difficult because they think they are not ill. To them illness is a matter of the body only. As long as they can stand up and move about, eat their meals and go to sleep when they are ready, they are healthy. But their behavior tells another story. No healthy mind dwells on its grievances, manufacturing new ones when old ones are removed. No healthy mind remains at war with the family and community for long periods.

The treatment for such behavior ought to begin early, as soon as it shows itself. When a child persistently sets himself against his family, his associates and his environment in general, and the usual disciplines fail, it is time to call for help. It is idle to feel disgraced by the necessity for calling in a physician for mental illness. There is no more disgrace in such a condition than in a case of indigestion. And it is often no more serious than that.

Many kinds of mental illness are curable, if taken in hand early. Young people, who behave as this daughter does, usually begin to show their failing in the early teens. That is the time for treatment. It is unwise to allow such marked behavior to go on year after year, steadily growing worse.

Sometimes this is the behavior of a badly spoiled child, a jealous child. Sometimes it is the behavior of a mentally sick child. It is well, in any case, to do what you can to help the child live more comfortably and successfully. What you do depends upon what you can do. But do something. Don't let the thing go on and on indefinitely without making an effort to check it one way or another.

Mr. Patri has prepared a new booklet (No. 303) entitled, "Eating," in which he explains the art of serving food to chilren and offers solutions to the problems involved. Address your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, The Bell Library, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

ORANGE LIONS TO VISIT SEAL BEACH

ORANGE, Feb. 9.—Local Lions were given an invitation Wednesday noon to be present at Seal Beach, February 15, when the newly instituted Lions club of that city will receive its charter. The club is the second Lions club to be organized within the county in the past year.

JJ. C. Felts, president of the new Seal Beach club, was present at the Orange meeting, and delivered the invitation. With him was Harold Essert, one of the members. Reservations are to be made by Monday. The meeting place is located at 208 Main street, in a new building. Between 400 and 500 persons are expected to be present. Ladies are invited. This is the first service club that Seal Beach has had, it was announced. The meeting will combine the charter event, and the monthly Lions' county council meeting.

Gilbert Serr was program chairman. President Martell Thompson presided, and appointed Elwood Case and Loren Housley as captains of teams in an attendance contest.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.— (UP)— Sotcks lost most of yesterday's gains in a slightly more active session today. Bonds also were lethargic but prices held better than stocks and a sizeable list, including most of the governments, made gains.

London home stocks held well after a fairly good start, but international issues eased below American parities late in the day.

Declines in the share market which ranged to 2 points were attributed to apprehension over the Spanish Civil war. Cautious traders lightened their lines notably in the steel issues, and some short selling was done whenever leading stocks permitted such operation.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(UP)— Wheat prices declined about a cent on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Moderate liquidation was encouraged by bene ficial precipitation in the winter wheat belt.

At the close wheat was off 1⅛ to 1¼ cents, corn off 1⅛ to 1⅝ cents and oats ⅛ to ¼ cent lower.

Corn prices dropped about a cent. Selling was influenced by the decline in wheat nad a lower Buenos Aires market Export demand was flat. Receipts here included 70 cars of corn and seven cars of wheat.

ORANGE COUNTY GARDENS AND HOMES

Orange County Gardening

By Mrs. H. Cardoza Sloan, Corona Del Mar

Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

On Wednesday of this week, a day of nippy winter weather, I had the pleasure of driving with two garden-loving friends to visit a couple nurseries. At one of these we went out to look at shrubs grown in the fields. We travelled in one of the cars belonging to the nursery, an ancient, rackety, but most efficient Ford, which rattled us hilariously up the rain-washed, eroded and rutted field road to the top of a little hill.

Trees dotted the hillsides along the road, and beneath them the ground was like velvet with the tender green of young grass. This drive was so different from the unconventional nursery visit that it gave quite a sense of adventure, which was deepened when we reached the flattened hilltop, where the shrubs grew in thrifty rows. Beyond were fields of narcissus and stock in full bloom, and above, the bluest of skies piled with snowy cloud masses. There is always a feeling of exhilaration in standing upon a hilltop, especially upon a day of rain-washed, wind-swept, sun-sweet beauty, and I shall long hold that delightful hour in memory.

Shapely Shrubs

And there was the added pleasure of finding the shrubs my friends were seeking in such sturdy growth and excellent condition. Row after row of shapely shrubs, green and lusty in the sunshine. Particularly do I recall the ruddy foliage of the escallonias, the autumn color and gorgeous berry trusses of nandinae against the sun, and the rows of young Chinese photinias, their leaves so green and glossy and the new foliage rosy tinted as a flower.

But at night, when, as in my go-to-sleep custom, I let my mind dwell tranquilly upon whatsoever of beauty the day has brought, what flashed before my inner vision, dimming even the brilliance of the nandina berries, was a bench of little potted celosias in bloom in one of the nursery greenhouses. You never say anything so cute in floral line in our life. At least, I never have. You know the celosias, the cockscombs of old gardens.

These were "nana" or dwarf types. All the dwarf varieties I have ever read about grew from 8 to 12 inches tall, but these were already blooming in small pots, the little plants only three or four inches high. Some were crested, with miniature combs, some were plumed. They were in color, deep crimson, rose, pink, creamy pink, and delicate shades of salmon, yellow, orange and scarlet. They were the most entrancing little things imaginable.

Why not try some celosia for your summer garden? There are both dwarf and tall types (tall ones 2 ft., sometimes more). And there are the Cristata, or crested type, the Plumose, or plume type, and celosia childsii, called the "Chinese wool-flower", which has great balls of silky wool at the tip of foot and a half branches. In the Cristata type "Royal Velvet" is new. We mentioned it a few weeks ago. It has a large center cockscomb and smaller heads on long stemmed side branches. The color is rich carmine, and the foliage bronzy-green with reddish margins.

Sow in Late Spring

Sow the seeds of celosia in late spring after the weather warms up. The plumed types like a rich soil. The cockscombs will do well in a lighter soil. But all of the celosia will improve with a fair measure of fertilizer and moisture.

We saw at this nursery two things of interest that were new to us. One was a vine covering a post and lattice wall. It looks like fronds of one of the holly ferns growing on a vine; ovate, lance-like foliage of somewhat leathery texture and deep green color. Semele androgyna. I never heard of it before. Bailey says it will climb over trees, 50 to 60 feet. The one we saw was an old specimen growing in the ground, and not out of bounds as to size. broom" (the thought of a "climb-broom" (the though of a "climbing butcher" is arresting) and belongs to the asparagus tribe of the liliaceae, the lily family, being first cousin to our common vining "asparagus fern."

The other plant of special interest was also a vine, a cross between a Fatsia and a Hedera, bearing the name of "Fatshedera lizei." Hedera is the ivy, you know, and this plant possesses the climbing characterictics of the ivy, while the leaf resembles the fatsia side of the family. The Chinese rice paper plant is a fatsia. If you are familiar with that, you will have some idea of the general shape of the leaf. The leaf of Fatshedera is smaller, beautifully shaped, smooth, glossy green. I bought one for my lath garden as it grows well in lath-house conditions, and think it will make a very handsome post climber.

Evergreen Shrubs

Reference was made above to the young plants of the Chinese photinia. This makes one of the finest of evergreen shrubs. The leaves are dark green, large and shining. Sometimes in winter a few leaves will turn a brilliant red, striking against their deep green fellows. In spring the bush is almost a solid mass of white flowers, borne in large heads. In winter time these become red berries. Here in California it grows about 8 to 10 feet, though in its native home it attains to 20 feet. A decidedly handsome shrub which should be more used.

Photonia serrulata is its botanical name. The "photonia" comes from a Greek word meaning "shining," referring to the shining leaves, while the species name refers to the serrated edges of the leaves. Our native "California Holly" is a photonia, photonia arbutifolia. ("Toyon" is the name by which we used to know it.)

The Nandina, which we saw running across the field in ribbons of glowing color, is a favorite in Southern California, having many attractive features. Nandina domestica grows about 5 feet tall, erect and graceful, foliage prettily cut and beautifully colored, being bronzy red when young, dark green during its maturity, changing to coppery reds in winter. In winter also the white flowers of spring, borne in large panicles, become brilliant red berries.

Nandina will grow in partial shade, or in full sun if given plenty of water. If, after a time, some of the growth becomes old and scraggly, cut this back to the ground, which will encourage new shoots. You will get no berries if you have only one plant. And the nandina is most effective, anyway, when grown in a group or border.

It belongs to the same family as the barberries, and in seeing the berries with the sun shining through them the other day I was reminded of the lovely translucency of the wild barberry berries in New England when seen against the light.

Take it all in all, a trip to a nursery has seldom given me so much pleasure as this of a wintry afternoon.

CHICKEN WIRE USED IN PLACE OF FERTILIZER

Fantastic as it sounds, an amateur gardener, Col. Edward P. Bailey, 560 Old Mill Road, San Marino, is substituting chicken wire for fertilizer in his gardening operations with amazing results.

The idea is not original with Col. Bailey who copied it from agriculturists in India where it has been used extensively turning heretofore barren land into productive areas.

The chicken wire is placed as bracelets around the bases of trees or shrubs with startling effect. In India a recent addition to the method has been to charge water used to irrigate the plants with an electric spark.

Although Col. Bailey has been in extensive communication with authorities in India and has numerous case histories of the results of the experiments, thus far he has confined his own experiments to using the wire alone, merely circling the bases of trees and shrubs with wire. He intends to further the scope of his experiments this spring.

Was Skeptical

At first Col. Bailey was skeptical of obtaining more than usual growth by the means described but he decided to try the experiment. He states the trees and shrubs on which he experimented showed greater improvement than ever had been obtained with fertilizers.

A kadota fig tree, a persimmon tree, and a young walnut tree, all in the process of fruiting, were the first upon which the experiment was tried. In telling of the results Colonel Bailey said:

Banner Crop

"The fig tree immediately showed that the story was no pipe dream, the tree produced a banner crop of fruit much larger in size than ever before and was still attempting to perform that function when the leaves were dropping off, quite a new departure for it. The persimmon tree, which always prior to jacketing had the faculty of shedding its fruit in a green stage so that a large percentage of the crop was lost, immediately stopped this shedding of immature fruit. The fruit was much larger in size and better in flavor than ever before."

"The walnut tree had, for some reason, developed an ailment, similar to what is known as wither-tip in citrus trees, but after jacketing evidenced a new energy in growth of new and virile foliage, with no sign of wither-tip."

Mrs. Bailey, upon seeing the results of these experiments, tried similar ones with a rose bush that had been dilatory and also with an avocado tree, and in both instances was more than satisfied with the results.

"Research, both by experimentation and examination of results tried in India, convince me that this simple means of getting the greatest value from plants and shrubs without use of fertilizers opens the possibility of a new era for all garden lovers," Colonel Bailey stated.

Instructions Given

"Instructions for trying this novel method are as simple as the method itself. All that is necessary is to take a strip of one-inch mesh chicken wire, one foot wide, and circle the tree or plant so that the wire bracelet is touching the trunk all the way around. The wire should be partially buried in the ground so that six inches are under ground and six inches above ground. The bracelet should not be applied too tightly. While this is the approved method, results have been obtained by merely making wire bracelets and fastening them to limbs of the tree. No electric wire need be attached. The wire mesh attracts electricity from the air.

"The electric ionic activity that the bracelet transmits to the tree from the ground and air energizes to a better culture than does fertilizer. Owing to this improved metabolism, the absorption and assimilation in the plant becomes healthier and harder, the energizing helps naturally in the elimination of cell toxins of the plant which would otherwise adversely affect growth.

"The information I have gathered further conveys the fact that the trees and plants show every evidence of a new vitality that renders them more capable of standing up against the extreme cold, attacks of disease and pests, in addition to bearing a better grade of fruit."

Colonel Bailey invited interested persons to see the results he has obtained. He said an appointment could be made by telephone. Colonel Bailey is a member of the International Adventurers, Legion of Frontiersmen, F. R. G. S., Australia, and Explorers club, New York.

Through The Garden Gate

with MARAH ADAMS

If—after Alice had nibbled the right side of the cake to make her but a few inches high—she had wandered away from Wonderland down South Broadway in Santa Ana, she would have discovered a garden just her size!

* * *

The minature bit of landscaping is in the wide and sunny glassed-in , porch of the Joseph P. Smith home, 120 South Broadway, and was planned by Mrs. Smith. The garden is about 18 inches wide and runs across the front of the porch, facing east. A small picket fence with square posts and flat square tops slightly larger than the posts, is painted white. The fence is approximately nine inches at its greatest height, with pickets of varied lengths.

* * *

Glass shelves are ready to hold small pots at each side of the fenced enclosure. Above it are hung a number of crystal and pottery jars in raffia holders, filled with wandering-jew. The garden has just been started. Underneath are shelves for garden magazines.

* * *

For a number of years the glassed-in porch at the Smith home has been one of the favorite gathering places for the family. Now it will be a pleasanter place than ever. Mrs. Smith is planning a background of greenery, ferns, lilies and other plants for the new garden.

* * *

The bench and shelves underneath as well as the fence and the decorations were evolved from materials around the house. A number of attractive figurines from the living room mantle have been selected to carry out a landscape plan. The actual work on the garden, says Mrs. Smith was done by her husband, in odd moments left over from being a city councilman and real estate dealer.

* * *

H. D. Niblack, 702 West Second street, likes minature gardens, too. Mr. Niblack is spending the winter around the yard on a tour of inspection. One little garden is fenced with a square of tiny pickets, another is round and is at the foot of a pole on which are mounted 12 small windmills which certainly were "going to town" yesterday in the strong, cold wind.

* * *

Fond of birds, Mr. Niblack has provided a number of baths for them. One is humming bird size, two are big enough to accomodate visiting robins, blackbirds or mockingbirds, and still another is placed on the ground for birds that like to hop into their bath and not fly up to it. A dripping faucet supplies this bath which is trimmed with scallop shells, with running water.

* * *

On one low fence there are wooden cutouts of a squirrel and a black cat. The cat is one of the few cats that ever have entered the yard, fenced with fine mesh wire against them. This is a protective measure for the birds that come in flocks in the summer to enjoy the baths.

A kind fellow-worker on THE REGISTER clipped a quotation from "The Wheelbarrow" put out by the Orange County Rotary clubs with Ralph Smedley, Toastmaster No. 1 and Y.M.C.A. secretary, as editor.

* * *

"IF YOU WISH TO BE HAPPY FOR AN HOUR, GET DRUNK; IF YOU WISH TO BE HAPPY FOR THREE DAYS, GET MARRIED; IF YOU WISH TO BE HAPPY FOR EIGHT DAYS, KILL YOUR PIG AND EAT IT; BUT IF YOU WISH TO BE HAPPY FOREVER, BECOME A GARDENER."

* * *

Don't be in a hurry to cut back any shrubs or plants that may have been frozen. Consult your local nurseryman before applying the pruning shears. The desire to live is strong in plants and they often survive with proper care, after they may seem to be beyond help.

* * *

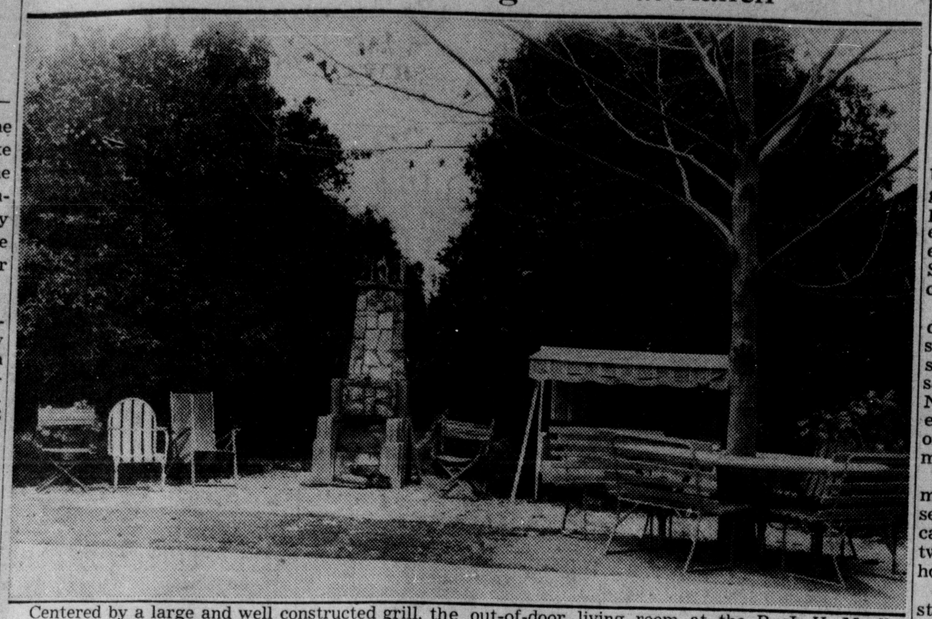

"The largest camellia in Southern California is one on Telegraph road nea Santa Fe Springs. It is 25 feet high and the trunk is nine inches in diameter. The plant is quite bushy as a great many suckers has grown up around it, but for all that, it is said to be worth seeing when in bloom.

Read an interesting thing the other day. A young boy caught a mockingbird and placed it in a cage. Later he was delighted to see that the captive's mother was bringing it food. However, when the boy woke the next morning and went to see the young mockingbird, he found it dead in the bottom of its cage. Consulting a famous bird authority, he was told that mother mockingbird often bring their captive young poison berries, as they think the fledglings better off dead than captive. It is related that the boy never again captured a wild bird.

Out Of Door Living Room at Ranch

Centered by a large and well constructed grill, the out-of-door living room at the R. J. V. Mueller ranch on South Tustin street, offers pleasant hospitality on many occasions for groups of guests. Nearly all of the construction work was done by the family and rocks for the grill were brought from Pomona. The circular table is built around an European sycamore. At the right of table is a lath house established last year and holding 120 tuberous begonias bearing gorgeous blooms until late this fall. Mr. Muellar heads the membership committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau and Mrs. Mueller is chairman of the Foothill Farm center home department. Both are very interested in gardening.

GARDENS AT BEACH DESCRIBED WITH AID OF NURSERY RHYMES

BY CAROL BATTELLE

"Mary, Mary, quite contrary . . ." wouldn't have had such a difficult dispositio nif she had tried to grow a gardena in the Newport Harbor district. The beauty and clearness of color given the flowers of the surrounding communities by the salt air would have ensured calm and charm enough for her most preverse moments.

No landscape is complete without the shady beauty of many trees and in the harbor area Monterey, Canary Island or Torrey pines, cypress, evergreen acacia, and the eucalyptus with its "Jack in the Beanstalk," rate of growth, are especially adaptable. If you own a home with an enclosed patio you may grow your own bananas, for trees of the tropical type will do well in protected places.

"Mother may I go out to swim," runs the old nursery rhyme, and while "darling daughter" was warned not to go near the water, a number of plants despite the destructive efforts of salt and sun will thrive near the ocean as the children of the Old Woman in the Shoe, and with a minimum of care. In the group are hibiscus, myporum, eugenia, coprosmos, and the many varieties of pittosporum. A minimum of two feet of top soil is necessary for their satisfactory growth on sand lots.

Ferdinand could take time off from performing for Walt Disney to simply sit and smell the flowers especially if his preference were for roses for many beautiful ones are grown in the harbor area. The largest amount of air circulation possible is their prime requisite for healthy growth. Adding bright notes to the color scheme are the many hibiscus and bougainvillia plants, stocks, snapdragons, petunias and zinnias enough to satisfy even Ferdinand's passion for posies.

The absence of lawns on many of the sand lots is the one touch of greenery lacking in the harbor area garden bouquet where flowers figure so largely in minds of home owners that even the streets of one section, Corona del Mar, bear floral designations. Necessity of continued watering and fertilizing and addition of top soil make the task of trimming a sand lot lawn one of extended and extensive work. A number of cactus gardens, which require little care presenting a beauty of the desert country, yet curbing the curious with persistent pricks, are noted about the harbor.

If "Jack and Jill" went up the hill to Newport Heights and Costa Mesa, much the same gardening conditions would prevail with the exception that further inland plants are subjected to a little more frost than those near the water. Gardening enthusiasm of the Mesa area included activities of commercial florists, among them the tropic "bird of paradise" flower grown by Fred W. Opp.

Outstanding activities of the area include the annual lawn and garden contest sponsored by the chamber of commerce. The Costa Mesa Garden club under the new president, Mrs. Raymond Hill is beginning its eighth year of activities which include the sponsorship annually of a large flower show. Mrs. R. S. Erbe directs the active garden section of the Friday Afternoon club. Members of the group are to present the next program on February 17 at a meeting of the general membership. The famous Ross Triangle gardens are among the attractive spots of the community.

The feminine equivalent of the nursery rhyme "Man in our town and he was wonderous wise," is found in Mrs. H. Cardoza Sloan of Corona del Mar, a Register contributor, and noted for her gardening activities and fund of knowledge on kindred topics. Members of the Newport Ebell garden section refuse to emulate "Little Jack Horner" for there is no sitting in the corner in their program of club activities which include field trips and programs with many interesting speakers. Mrs. Winifred Young is chairman of the group.

In addition to the beauty of tree, shrub and flower, the practicality of growing junior's spinach hasn't been forgotten, for numerous small vegetable gardens are also in evidence about the harbor area, and even without too much detective work, Peter Rabbit may even find his fairy story field of turnips an actuality in the practical side of harbor gardens.

Planting Calendar

FEBRUARY

Vegetables—Seeds of artichoke, asparagus, beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, egg plant, endive, kale, kohl rabi, lettuce, mustard, onions, onion sets, parsely, parsnips, peas, peppers, pottoes, radish, rhubarb, salsify, spinach, (summer) squash, Swiss chard, tomatoes, turnips.

Flowers — sow seeds in open ground: abronia, acroclinium, African daisy, alyssum, amaranthus anagallis, anchusa, arabis, arctotis, bartonia, browallia, calendula, calliopsis, candytuft, centurea, cheiranthus, clarkia, early flowering cosmos, California poppy, cynoglosum, dahlia, godetia, gypsophilia, hunnemannia, ice plant, larkspur, letosiphon, linaria, linum, lupines, migonette, nasturtium, nemophilia, nigella, Australian pea vine, phlox, poppies, ricinus, scabiosa, schizanthus, sweet peas, veniuium, Virginia stocks, wildflower mixture. Sow in seed flats: agathea, ageratum, alonsoa, aquilegia, asters, begonia, bellis perennis, calcalia, coreopsis, dahlia, delphinium, dianthus, digitalis, gaillardia, geum, hollyhock, impatiens, lobelia, myosotis, pentstemon, petunia, platycodon, salvia, shasta daisy, statice, stocks, thunbergia, verbenas, viola cornuta.

A PROMISE
By Billie Adams

Lying in my palm.
Unassuming midget,
How can you be so calm?
Don't you know Spring's coming,
With it's gifts for you?
Days athrill with sunshine,
Nights with freshening dew?
Don't you feel excited,
Just a tiny mite
Thinking of your debut
In your gown of white?
Surely as I hold you,
A still small voice replies—
"I'm God's unborn promise
Of Beauty, in disguise."

TREATED SAND REPLACES SOIL

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(UP)—Use of sand instead of soil in growing greenhouse plants has proved extremely successful in experiments conducted at Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, especially in reducing cost and saving labor.

Dr. A. A. Dunlap, who conducted the experiments, demonstrated that more and better seedlings were obtained by the sand culture method. Gabriel Nuttile, who assisted Dr. Dunlap, enumerated several advantages of this culture over the soil method.

Sand is cheaper, he said, and may be used over a period of several years, while soil, in most cases, must be renewed every two or three years in the greenhouse.

Sand can be washed to insure sterilization, while soil usually carried certain diseases which attack seedlings and larger plants. Weeds, he added, do not thrive in sand but beds of soil need weeding.

Sand lacks nutrients required for plant growth. These essential "vitamins" must be added with the water. In an experiment with chrysanthemums, a pipe method was used whereby every week or 10 days water and a nutrient was allowed to flow through the pipe's stop-cocks.

The chrysanthemums flowered successfully and were said to be better than those grown in soil at the same time.

Greenhouse men in this neighborhood were observing the experiments with great interest, the experimenters reported, and some of them already were using sand to a limited extent.

Bald Mountain Mystery Solved

RALEIGH, N. C.—(UP)—The mystery of North Carolina's bald mountains apparently has been solved at last.

The balds, found in all parts of the state at altitudes ranging from 2600 to 6000 feet, have given rise to numerous theories as there are no typical conditions to explain their presence in midst of equal and higher peaks covered with timber.

Until recently scientists believed that soil on the balds were deficient in some element necessary for hardy plants at high altitudes. Another popular theory had been that continued burning off of the mountain tops by Indians caused the balds.

But Dr. W. A. Gates, of Louisiana State University, now contends that the bald effect is caused by wasps.

The Louisiana professor made the discovery on Wine Sap Bald and Wayah Bald in Western North Carolina when he found them undergoing a "haircut."

Around the remaining fringe of trees on these mountains he said he discovered "incredible numbers of wasps."
